Local Chamber of Commerce In Plan

Will Urge Mayor to Seek Appropriation for Erection of Signs

Newton, as a city, would become predominant and its various sub-divisions secondary under a plan which the Chamber of Commerce is recommending to Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood for consideration, Wilfred Chagnon, president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce announced today.

"Newton," stated Mr. Chagnon, "is a growing and expanding city with a population today in excess of 84,000 residents, yet because of its many sections with separate identities, is not receiving the full benefit of its importance among the ranking cities of Massachusetts."

"It must be obvious that Newton cannot, and will not, attain the prominence which it rightfully deserves as a city until we who are a part of it, begin an educational program within our own area to bring this result about."

"With its many sections, all with their own particular identity, yet all an integral part of the City of Newton, too many of our citizens and businessmen have been disposed to refer to their location as Chestnut Hill, Auburndale, Newton Centre, Waban, Oak Hill, Nonantum, and so on, with never a reference that they are first and last located in the City of Newton. As a result, non-residents, not knowing the real facts, are not sufficiently aware that Newton is one of the largest cities in area and in population in this State and that its future growth is assured," emphasized Mr. Chagnon.

"I believe," he continued, "that we in Newton, whether residents or businessmen, should stress Newton first, and the section of the city where we are located, secondly, so that within a short time it will become evident to all that Newton is a large city with an ever increasing population and thus it will take its rightful place among the leading cities of this Commonwealth."

"Consequently, the Newton Chamber of Commerce is recommending that the Mayor seek an appropriation for the erection of signs which will bring the name of Newton to the forefront of the city's identity."

Rabbi Klausner to Speak Here Feb. 13

Meeting Dedicated to the Jewish National Fund

Rabbi Abraham J. Klausner of Temple Israel, leader of the Jewish community of Boston, will be guest speaker at the Newton Hadassah meeting next Wednesday, at Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre. He will speak on "National Smallness and Spiritual Greatness."

This meeting is dedicated to the Jewish National Fund, of which Mrs. Frank Breznick is chairman for Newton. Participation in J. N. F., the land-buying arm of the Jewish people, is the responsibility of each member.

Miss Marilyn Trombly, radio songstress, will entertain with a program called, "Songs for Your Pleasure." Coffee will be served at 12:30 o'clock. Mrs. Leon Kowal will preside, and Mr. Frank Breznick, Mrs. Harold Abrams and Mrs. Maxfield Cross will be hostesses of the day. All are urged to attend this meeting and to bring their friends.

Says Garbage Complaints to Be Corrected

Some of the Criticism Is Not Justified Says Commissioner Young

Street Commissioner Harold F. Young, in a statement issued this week, has given assurance that difficulties resulting from a change in the garbage collection contractor are being overcome and he asks that the public refrain from making complaints until the matter is fully ironed out.

Following is Commissioner Young's statement relative to the matter:

"On December 31, 1951 the three year garbage collection contract held by John J. Jablonski expired. Early in December advertised bids were solicited and six bids were received for a contract to run for a period of three and one-half years from January 1, 1952. These bids ran from a low of $80,000 per year, submitted by the A. J. Pierce Corporation of Hyde Park to a high of $112,000 per year. The bid submitted by Mr. Jablonski, previous holder of the contract was $91,998.90 per year. Before the awarding of the contract to the low bidder an investigation was made as to their experience and qualifications."

"The A. J. Pierce Corporation started work on January 1, 1952. A Foreman-Inspector of the Street Department was delegated to assist the Pierce Company and its employees, particularly in planning routes and providing information regarding Newton's 300 miles of streets. Naturally it must be expected that employees, entirely unfamiliar with the City, could not at first give as efficient service as crews with three years of service, until they learned the routes and particularly the location of garbage containers at the various homes on these routes."

"The Street Department has received, since the first of January, more than would be considered a normal number of complaints. A day by day analysis of these complaints shows that the great majority are caused by collectors missing homes here and there on their routes. Where some of the Pierce employees have been continually careless, they have been discharged and new men substituted. The daily number of complaints has been materially reduced in the past two weeks and continued improvement may be expected."

N-W Hospital Elects Chas. Cutler Pres.

Succeeds Edw. B. Gray Who Resigned

Annual Meeting Tuesday Hears of Progress Made in Past Year

Charles M. Cutler of West Newton was elected President of Newton-Wellesley Hospital at the Annual meeting held at the hospital Tuesday evening. Mr. Cutler replaces Edward B. Gray of West Newton who retired after serving a two-year presidency. Other officers elected were Donald P. Perry of West Newton, 1st Vice President; Marshall G. Bolster of Wellesley, 2nd Vice President; Richard P. Chapman of Wellesley, Treasurer, and C. Raymond Cabot of Newtonville, Clerk. Messrs. Chapman and Cabot were re-elected Treasurer and Clerk respectively. The following new Trustees were also elected: Messrs. Hugh Munro and G. Herbert March of Waban; Harold A. Bishop of Wellesley; Riley J. Hampton of Newtonville, and Endicott Smith of Chestnut Hill.

Accomplishments and facts mentioned by chairmen of the various committees, Mr. Gray, and Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, Director, highlighted the favorable 1951 financial picture which found the hospital living within its planned budget, an increase of 7.05% in the number of patient admissions to the hospital over that of the preceding year, a further reduction in the average length of stay per patient, including obstetrical cases, from 9.1 days per stay in 1950 to 8.7 days in 1951, and the great contribution of over 750 volunteers who gave more than 40,000 hours of volunteer work during the past year.

Stressed also was the pilot course for male Red Cross Nurses Aides which was pioneered at the hospital and approved by the American Red Cross, and the renovation of the School of Nursing via funds contributed to the Building Fund by the Nurses Alumnae Association of the hospital. Dr. Hamilton expressed the vital part that the typical suburban hospital plays in the life of the community and gave his impressions as to what role hospitals will play in the years ahead as they work closely with the members of the medical profession and community health departments to provide better health care.

Heart Fund Campaign Opens With $15,000 Quota for Newton

Wendell R. Freeman, Chairman of Newton Drive, Urges Support to Aid Research Endeavors

Opening of the Newton 1952 Heart Fund Campaign to raise $15,000 started last Friday and will continue through February 20, Wendell R. Freeman, chairman of the local Heart Drive, has announced. Heart Week will be observed February 10 through the 16th, and February 10 will be Heart Sunday.

Newton police have already distributed plastic collection boxes in the shape of hearts to business places and the boxes bear the slogan for this year's campaign, "New Hope for Hearts."

Of the $15,000 the drive hopes to collect, 60 percent will go to the Newton Fund, 25 percent to the American Heart Association, and 15 percent to the Massachusetts Heart Association.

Chairman Freeman stated this week that at least 10,000 people in the United States have heart disease. "It would be impossible," he continued, "for any organization to support a program which gave direct financial aid to even a portion of these people. That is the reason that the Massachusetts Heart Association..."

Warren Junior High Planning To Observe 25th Anniversary

Carl Penny Appointed Chairman of Committee to Arrange for Suitable Celebration Next Fall

Paul C. Scarborough, principal of the Levi F. Warren Junior High School in West Newton, announces the appointment of a committee to formulate plans for the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the opening of the school in September, 1927. Carl Penny, administrative assistant at Warren, has been appointed chairman of the committee, with Miss Mary J. Cleveland, assistant principal of the school, as assistant chairman.

The committee is composed of representatives from the present faculty and the ex-faculty, the parent-teachers' association, and the student body. Faculty members serving on the committee are Ralph Acker, Francis Tower, Miss Ethel Green, Miss Gertrude Hasty, Miss Geraldine Mann, Miss Pearl Meurling, Miss Esther Pepin, and Miss Marion Wheeler. Three former faculty members who have consented to serve are Mrs. Eveline Mooney, a retired teacher; Kenneth LaFlamme, now principal of the Carr School in Newton; and Henry Ottoson, now principal of the West Junior High School in Arlington.

Mrs. Arthur Gregorian, Richard Dolby and Ernest Seyfarth will represent the P.T.A. Pupil members of the committee are Donald Lane, School Community president; Robert Lee, Junior III Class president; Peggy Booth of Jr. III; Ann Barrs of Junior II, and Jonathan Kelley of Jr. I. The Warren Junior High School has grown from a school with 23 teachers and a part-time secretary to one with 39 teachers and two full-time secretaries, in addition to the principal and assistant principal. Seven of the original faculty members are still teaching in the school. Activities of the school community made it necessary long ago to increase the custodial staff from 4 to 5, while the cafeteria staff

Proposal Would Levy Head Tax On All Over 20

Muther Believes It Would Encourage All To Be Aware of Taxation

A proposal to levy a head tax on all Massachusetts residents over 20 years of age equal to 10 per cent of the local tax rate, was proposed by Lorenze F. Muther, Jr., executive secretary of the Newton Taxpayers' Association at a hearing held at the State House last Thursday.

Muther said the bill was designed to emphasize the responsibility of all inhabitants of the communities of the Commonwealth for its fiscal and governmental well being by using a tax device which "is direct but not onerous," to permit municipalities to develop an existing source of revenue without establishment of new taxes; and to put an "arbitrary, pointless and relatively unprofitable tax" to a more constructive use.

He estimated his proposal, even in a community with a high tax rate, would be a high percentage of the total tax bill.

Dr. Louise Ames to Speak Here Tonight

Dr. Louise Bates Ames, Director of Research at the Gesell Institute at New Haven, will speak on "Why Children Act That Way." The lecture will be held at the Warren Junior High School in West Newton, tonight (Thursday) at eight o'clock.

The Gesell Institute of Child Development originated at Yale in 1911 when Dr. Gesell posed the question "just what is normal behavior?" He began a series of tests which have become world famous as the answer to this question.

Dr. Ames, as Director of Research at the Institute, has many interesting facts to tell parents as a result of the tests of the behavior of children from infancy to the mid teens.

There is no charge for the lecture which is sponsored by The Newton Council of P.T.A.'s, the Community Council, the Teachers' Federation, and the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Aldermen Sustain Mayor's Veto On Pay Issue by 18 to 1 Vote

This Despite Fact That Some Members Have Not Changed Their Opinion on Formula

At its session Monday night the Board of Aldermen upheld Mayor Lockwood's veto granting a seven per cent cost of living adjustment. The vote on the veto order was 18 to 1.

The mayor had recommended a $312 increase to each of the 1200 employees and had vetoed the Board's seven per cent increase as "failing to accomplish" the purpose of his recommendation.

It was apparent that some members of the Board had not changed their opinions on the formula to be used in granting the raises, and are inclined to feel that the raises should be handled on a percentage basis.

Chairman Earle D. Wood of the Finance Committee contended that there were certain advantages to the consideration of both plans at the same time, which is at the time of the budget, since both raises and cost of living adjustments may be made retroactive to the first of the year.

Alderman Kenneth E. Prior insisted that the cost of living adjustment should be handled apart from wage increases and stated that since the cost of living has affected employees in the lower brackets as much as the higher paid employees, the adjustment should be the same for all, with $312 as a basis for action.

Mayor Cites Revenue Loss To Newton

$14,000,000 Loss Here To Increase Small Home Owners Burden

Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood announced today that it was his "own considered conclusion that, rather than have the $14,000,000 loss in valuation through elimination of the personal property tax in Newton, and the corresponding placing of this burden on real estate, the government of the City of Newton should forthwith seek emergency legislation from the General Court to amend Chapter 640 of the Acts of 1951 by a single vote rendering the practice of assessing personal property permissive by the vote of a town, or in the case of cities, by a majority of the council."

In reaching this conclusion, Mayor Lockwood in a carefully prepared statement, points out that the loss of this personal property tax revenue will in-

Jewelry Course to Be Presented Here

Beginners Can Learn Art Of Making Fine Pieces

Everyone loves handmade jewelry, but most people feel that they lack the ability to create these interesting pieces.

If you can read a rule and handle a pair of pliers, the Newton Recreation Department has news for you. An interesting course for beginners, eager to fashion with sterling and other metals, will begin Wednesday evening, February 13.

Pins, earrings, tie clips, brooches, bracelets and necklaces are popular items, but as one progresses he or she will undoubtedly wish to design rings, belts and other interesting subjects.

Emphasis is stressed upon the member being part of a recreational group, where all are gathered together for a period of relaxation and fun, while pursuing adventure in a newly formed hobby.

In addition to jewelry work, there is still an opportunity to devote part of one's time to the creation of bowls, trays and fascinating novelties.

A small fee is charged for the course of twelve evenings, but all of the equipment is at your disposal thereby relieving you of the necessity for purchasing expensive tools.

Call the Newton Recreation Department BI 4-4700 for further particulars. The enrollment is limited and applicants will be accepted in order of enrollment.

Boy Scout Week

Boy Scout Week which started yesterday (Wednesday) and will continue through February 12, marks the 42nd anniversary of the incorporation of the Boy Scouts of America, and will witness the launching of a three year program known as "Forward on Liberty's Team."

It is a program in which the Movement's 2,900,000 boys and leaders, including those in Newton, unite in a practical program that seeks to build a sound citizenship for the future. Scouting's challenge today is training more youths in character, in qualities of leadership, and unselfish service. "Forward on Liberty's Team" recognizes the need for making the concept of Liberty and participating citizenship more deeply appreciated.

Since 1910, more than 19,000,000 American boys and men have been identified with the Boy Scouts of America. Today more than 735,000 adults serve the Movement as trained volunteer leaders.

ON POLITICS

GOP to Select Slate at June Convention

Republican House Leader Charles Gibbons is putting an interesting proposition to the men who intend to seek the G.O.P. nomination for Governor. He is asking that they abide by the decision of the unofficial Republican State convention to be held in June and drop out of the race unless they receive the convention's endorsement.

In this way, Gibbons points out, it would be possible to avoid a costly and damaging primary fight such as occurred in 1950, when the Republicans spent almost all their money on the battle among themselves and had little left to finance the campaign against Governor Dever.

Prospective candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor at the present time are Gibbons, State Senator Sumner G. Whittier of Everett, President Samuel P. Sears of the Massachusetts Bar Association, General Daniel Needham and former State Treasurer Laurence Curtis.

Needham might well prove to be the dark-horse among the group. It was generally considered that he was the strongest candidate in the 1950 G.O.P. gubernatorial field, but he started late, found that many Republicans who might have supported him were already committed to other contenders and never was really able to push his own drive into high gear.

Gibbons may have hurt his own chance of being selected to carry the G.O.P. standard next fall by his stand for Senator Taft when virtually all the top party leaders in Massachusetts are pumping for General Eisenhower. Gibbons and former Attorney General Clarence A. Barnes are the only State-wide Republican figures who have declared for Taft.

The master plan of Republican strategy for 1952, which was mapped out last year, calls for the party chieftains to sit down and select not only a candidate for Governor but an entire State ticket prior to the State convention and then seek to sell it to the convention delegates.

The idea is to pick a slate that would have both geographical balance and representation of the various racial groups and try to unite the entire party behind it in an all-out battle for a political comeback in the State.

So far not much progress has been accomplished in that direction. The Republican hierarchy headed by National Committeeman Sinclair Weeks has not been able to decide upon a prospective candidate for Governor let alone block out the pattern for an entire ticket. Weeks has sounded out several Republican Congressmen on the possibility of running for Governor but has found that those he has questioned are not interested in giving up their seats on Capitol Hill for the gamble that would be involved in a bid for the Governorship, with the political odds probably against them.

So concerned is the Republican high command over the coming State election that even Leverett Saltonstall has been asked if he would be willing to run again for Governor, the idea being that if General Eisenhower is the nominee for President, a State ticket headed by Senators Lodge and Saltonstall would pack a good deal of vote-getting power. Saltonstall, however, doesn't want to relinquish his place in the Senate even though it would be worked out, in the event of his election as Governor, for him to name someone to hold the Senate spot until 1954 when his present term expires.

Congressman Christian A. Herter would be the next choice of the G.O.P. brass, but because of his tremendous interest in international affairs and his experience with foreign problems, Herter also desires to remain in Washington. Congressman Bates and Heseltine are reluctant to surrender their congressional posts.

That leaves Weeks and the other G.O.P. king-makers about where they started, and unless they come up with a prospective ticket pretty soon, they may find it impossible to prevent a primary fight, and certainly they will not be able to stop a hot convention battle.

The convention the Republicans will hold in June will be an unofficial one for Governor Dever vetoed the bill which would have authorized the G.O.P. to convene for the purpose of making official endorsements.

Gibbons has pointed out that the unofficial convention could accomplish the same thing as a formal convention if all the candidates get together and agree that they will go along with the convention choices, will run only if they are selected and otherwise will retire from the field and endorse the candidates named by the convention.

In the meantime, Gibbons is working to line up the men he believes will be delegates to the June conclave. His contacts and friendship in the House will give him a pretty good start. The Taft forces are friendly to him though that might injure him with the Eisenhower camp. He may prove a formidable contender if a free-for-all fight develops at the convention.

Valentine Motif At Candy Cupboard

Visitors to Shoppers' World in Framingham are being thrilled at the colorful Valentine decorations in the Candy Cupboard Shop on the Lower Level. Few people realize that the planning of this unusual store, as well as the "follow through" on seasonal displays, is the work of one of America's foremost designers, Miss Elinore Lemaire of New York. Recognized nationally for her work on huge operations like Nieman-Marcus of Dallas, Texas and Burdine's of Florida, she has nevertheless introduced into one of America's smallest shops a gay carnival spirit that is a delight to behold.

Fire Apparatus Models Shown At the Jackson Homestead

Of interest to old and young alike was the exhibit of early fire apparatus and equipment shown at the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington st., Newton, last Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The property of Lt. Lawrence M. Clark of the Newton Fire Department, this collection included scale models of a steamer of the Amoskeag type such as was used in Newton in 1871 or before; a horse wagon, a chemical engine, and a five-foot ladder truck. These items have been constructed by Lt. Clark himself out of wood and a variety of metals and are complete in all details.

In addition, smaller hand tubs were shown as well as a number of other objects such as fire buckets, belts, helmets and badges. There were also pictures of horse-drawn apparatus.

Lt. Clark's collection has been on display in many stores, banks and stations in Boston and other cities of New England and New York. It seemed particularly fitting that it should be used as the first advertised loan exhibit at the Jackson Homestead. The Homestead is becoming a recognized center of resources and activities based on the City of Newton, and Lt. Clark obtained much of his source material from the history of the Newton Fire Department.

Among the groups meeting at the Homestead in February for tours or historical programs will be the Auburndale Garden Club and the antique committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club, Cub Scouts and church groups.

Mrs. Bernard D. Forbes, chairman, was assisted in serving the luncheon by Mrs. William H. Brackett, Mrs. Willis E. Pattison and Mrs. Willard W. Rice.

Spotlight on the Newtons

By RALPH and TUNNI COOLIDGE

When you read a newspaper column, do the words inspire or arouse your imagination? Do they make you want to know the writer? Bill Schofield's column affects folks that way, so here we are ringing his doorbell at 146 Crafts st., Newtonville. Want to come along?

It's a dreary day as we stand on the porch of the immense gray house. The door opens and a serious, quiet man in a comfortable red-checked jacket and slacks, invites us to his cheery fireside.

His face seems somber until the questions begin. Then the penetration fades from his eyes; they seem to glow, now. He clasps his hands and leans forward over newspapers that are spread on the table. What is a typical day in the life of a columnist? He relaxes now, this is his element, his world.

His day starts slowly, a coffee perhaps and a slim excuse for breakfast. He stops in at the press, checks mail, appointments and phone calls. There's a "lead" on a story. Johnny Galvin, who handles publicity for Mass. Citizens Taxpayers, phoned.

The daring Dublin players are staying at a home of a friend in Ware, having a tough time in a strange country. Did they come here without guarantees? So did the handful of people who set foot on our rocky coast a few hundred years ago. Wasn't it 1620? The Dublin players obviously are made of the same "stern stuff." We like that kind of spirit in America. The new John Hancock stage recently re-sounded with their excellent acting. They're presenting 3 plays in Clinton, Thursday night, Feb. 7. Bill Schofield make a note to check into the story.

He phones the Army public information officer for an interview. There's a story on National Guards.

He wades through the mail, answers phone calls and has a session with his typewriter on his current series of articles, the trucking industries contribution to highway safety. "I write when the information is fresh in my mind," Bill tells us. His writing attests to his statement; it's dramatic, alive.

We just finished reading his, "All-night run on a Diesel Rig" and feel that we need a scalding cup of coffee as we climb out of the big diesel's cab, after the long

(the time). The Coast Guard had received no warning of the storm. At Misquamicut Beach, giant waves crashed over 400 houses. Bill was on his way to town. As he passed a barn, it whirled into the air and disappeared into the blackness of the storm. He found a ham operator and got out the story of the hurricane. A Maryland "ham" picked it up. AP in Baltimore sent it on to Montreal, and the story was relayed to Boston. His paper had been washed out of Providence, but went to Press in Boston. Not a single edition was missed!

When the hurricane had subsided, 118 corpses lay in the local high school.

Bill is listed in the American Catholic Who's Who, 1952-53. He was born William Greenough Schofield, in Providence, R. I. It was at Cranston High School, there, that his interest in writing first flickered the flame of inspiration. He graduated from Brown University, class of '31.

His first writing experience was with the New Orleans Tribune. From there he went to the Providence News Tribune. He was associated with the Cape Cod Tribune and 1897 found him on active duty with the U. S. Navy from 1942 to 1945, he served as Lt. Commander. He is now in the reserves. In case anyone doesn't know, he is now with the Boston Traveler.

In 1942, his first book, "Ashes in the Wilderness" was published. Other books are, "The Cat in the Convey," "Pay-off in Black," and "The Deer Cry."

He has been married 17 years to the former Blanche Mary Hughes. They have 3 children.

What does a writing career mean to Bill Schofield? "Writing isn't just a job from 9 to 5; it's 24 hours of interest, adventure. I think writing is the most exciting career there is, it's a way of life."

OPEN FRIDAY EVENINGS 6:30 TO 8:30 P.M.

MRS. HELEN V. DOYLE of Brighton, tests the hand radio transmitter-receiver, developed by Raytheon Manufacturing Company for the U. S. Signal Corps.

AN/PRC-6 Demonstrated Fri. At Raytheon Manufacturing Co

The Raytheon Manufacturing Company held a AN/PRC-6 demonstration for the press last Friday, Feb. 1, at their Brighton division, 75 No. Beacon street.

Representing the company for the demonstration of the new compact hand radio transmitter-receiver, were: C. F. Adams Jr., president; Mr. D. R. Hull, vice president and general manager of the Equipment Division; G. S. Humphrey, assistant manager, Equipment Division; Ernest F. Leathan, assistant to president; G. E. M. Bertram, assistant vice president and division manager of special products; Norman Krim, vice president of Rec. Tube Division; Riley Hampton, editor of Raytheon News and Jack L. Hobby, public relations director.

Largely developed by Raytheon with the Signal Corps Engineering Laboratories in 1948, the new AN/PRC-6 was the first communications equipment to utilize tiny subminiature tubes on a mass production basis. It is a complete one-package transmitter, receiver, battery power source and antenna, designed for a specific, highly essential purpose; to link front-line troops with other men and other units.

There were "Handie-talkies" in World War II, but the new model demonstrated last Friday officially designated the AN/PRC-6, has a number of outstanding advantages over its predecessor. With most of its metal parts built of magnesium and aluminum, the unit weighs but 6½ pounds, including a 3½ pound battery — only half as heavy as the former 11-pound model.

The tiny set can be held comfortably in the palm of the hand when it is taken out of its case. It uses FM and can be adjusted in the field to any one of 44 frequencies. It can be used over distances greater than the World War II model. In the roughest terrain it can operate effectively up to one mile, and has a normal range of one to three miles, depending on terrain conditions. The old handie-talkies, Raytheon engineers pointed out, had a reliable range of less than one mile.

The unit is rugged enough to withstand submersion indefinitely in water as deep as three feet, and to operate in temperatures from minus 40 degrees Fahrenheit to plus 131 degrees. During the demonstration, at Raytheon's Special Products Plant at Brighton, in suburban Boston, sets were actually plunged into a tank of water to demonstrate their resistance to submersion, and later played in a huge refrigerator where they underwent extreme low temperature tests.

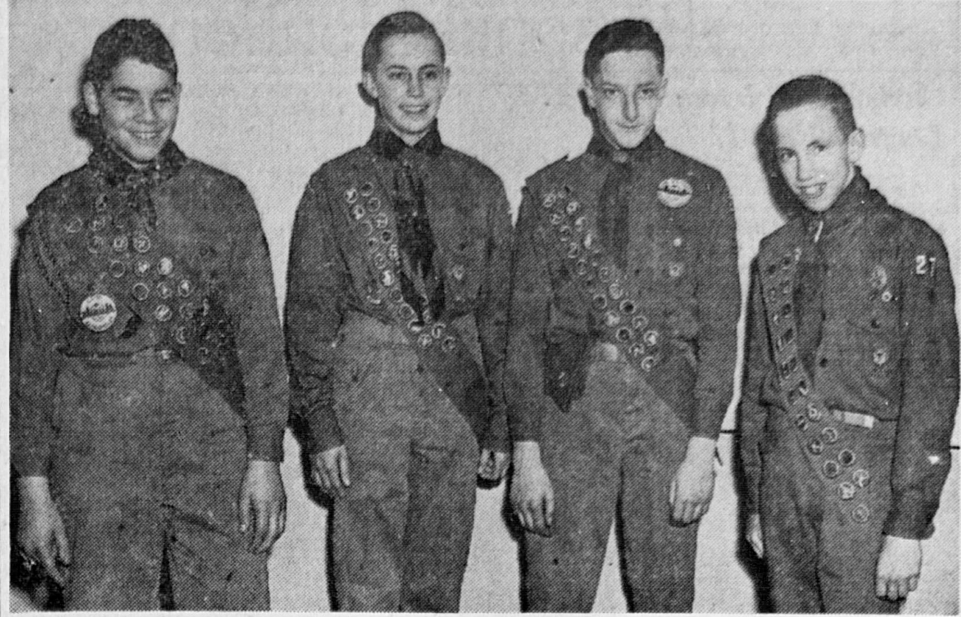

The subminiature tubes used in the equipment are produced by Raytheon at its Receiving Tube Division plants located at Newton and Quincy, Mass. These tubes, which made possible the development and production of the new hand communications unit, are so tiny that operators must use microscopes in assembling them, it was revealed.

To Hold Cooking School at Meeting

Next Wednesday evening, the regular meeting of the Oak Hill Park Woman's Club will be held at the Memorial School. At 8:00 p. m., the Boston Edison Company Cooking School will present a demonstration giving helpful ideas for preparing economical and appetizing meals. All food will be given away after the demonstration.

Following the Cooking School will be a business meeting and a food sale. Refreshments will be served by the hostess for the evening, Mrs. John P. Birtwell, and her committee.

Four Eagle Awards Highlight Norumbega Court of Honor

Highlighting the mid-winter Norumbega Council Court of Honor, held last Friday evening at the Warren Junior High School in Newton, was the creation of four new Eagle Scouts and the presentation of the largest number of Life Scout awards in the history of the Council.

Norumbega Council holds three Courts of Honor each year, under the auspices of the Advancement Committee, to present advancement and other awards to Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts.

The Scouts receiving the Eagle Scout distinction from Council President Richard E. McKown were: Paul A. Brown, a Bruce McFarland, Robert C. Hohman and Donald Mordecai. Brown, a member of Oak Hill's Troop 27, is a student at Weeks Junior High School where he is a member of the junior cabinet. The son of Dr. and Mrs. Morton G. Brown, he was a Den Chief and at present is a Patrol leader in his Troop. His father has been a merit badge counselor for some years and his mother is affiliated with the Girl Scouts.

McFarland, also of Troop 27, is an assistant Patrol Leader and a Nobscot Guide; he had participated with distinction in five Camporees. His father, Alex J. McFarland, is an active Council committeeman. Mrs. McFarland is a Girl Scout Leader.

Hohman, a student at Newton High School and a member of Newton Highlands Troop 4B, assists with the Scout aquatic program at the Newton Y.M.C.A. His father, Harry Hohman, is a former Scout and an active Scouter. Mrs. Hohman has been a Den Mother.

Mordecai, Troop 17 Newton Centre, is a student at Weeks Junior High School. Parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mordecai, are proud of the fact young Donald is the third of their sons to attain Eagle rank. Mr. Mordecai is a member of the Council Executive Board and chairman of the Camp Quinapoxet Committee. Mrs. Mordecai was also a Den Mother.

Emergency Service Rating awards were given Frank J. Smith, Jr., Newton Highlands Explorer Post 4 and William Coutts of Newton Explorer Post 11. The award is made to Explorer Scouts who demonstrate proficiency in the various emergency skills.

Camporee Awards

In the cabin camping class at the Winter Camporee, tie awards for first place went to the Tiger Patrol of Troop 27 and the Flaming Arrow Patrol of Wellesley Hills Troop 83. Scouts of the Tiger Patrol were: David Bourne, Bruce McFarland, Elmer Bartells, Sam Senior and Stan Hamilton. First place in the tent camping class was awarded to the White Eagle Patrol of Troop 4B whose members were: Edwin Cruise, Alfred Taylor, Allan Cail and William Lowry.

The winner in the Explorer camping group was a New Newton Explorer Post 7 Crew comprised of: Jack Farrington, Don Derry, Dan Donovan and Mike Donovan.

Other advancement awards to Newton Scouts went to 14 Life Scouts, 15 Star Scouts, 29 First Class Scouts and 91 Second Class Scouts. These were:

Life Scouts: Victor Anapolle of Troop 27; Richard J. Cushing of Troop 10; Herbert F. Cedergreen and Ricky Rosbeck of Troop 14; Frank Smith Jr. and William VanNote of Explorer Post 4; Richard Luntz of Troop 19; Merrill Berman of Troop 25; Matthew Cohen of Explorer Post 17; Robert P. David of Troop 16; Richard Marquis and Wallace Palmer of Troop 100; Edson de Castro of Troop 7; and Robert A. Everett of Troop 24.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON, FEBRUARY 17

at 3:00 O'clock

The Public Is Cordially Invited

Christian Science Lecture Feb. 17

The solving of individual and collective problems through the understanding and application of God's spiritual laws will be the topic of a public lecture on Christian Science to be delivered in Newtonville, Sunday afternoon, February 17, by Grace Jane Noee of Chicago.

A member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mrs. Noee will speak under auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, in the church edifice, 391 Walnut street, at 3 o'clock. Her subject will be "Christian Science: Its Premise and Its Practice."

Mrs. Noee withdrew from business life in 1927 to devote herself to the practice of Christian Science healing. Prior to that time, she was head of a large food brokerage business in Chicago.

During her business career, she served as the first President of the Altruism Club, an international organization of professional and executive business women.

Feb. 10 Date for Mid-Winter Picnic

A mid-winter indoor church school picnic will be held from 5 to 7 o'clock Sunday evening, February 10, in the West Newton Unitarian Church parish house. All grades of the church school will participate, from nursery class through the high school discussion group and Jaynes League. Parents and guests are invited to see an exhibition of class projects and activities and join in group games.

Each family will bring its own picnic lunch, with ice cream, coffee and cocoa to be served by the picnic committee.

Mrs. David N. Hume is directing a short play, "Moses," to be presented by members of the fifth and sixth grades.

Following the picnic supper, church school students will see a trained dog demonstration by Ralph L. Angier, 315 Franklin street, Newton, who will show the friendship, developed from kindness and mutual respect, between a poodle and her teacher. A moving picture, "How to Train Your Dog," made by the Gaines Research Kennels, will follow.

For the parents there will be a discussion of this year's expanded program and the aims and methods of the West Newton Unitarian Church School. There will be opportunity for the parents to get better acquainted with the teachers, the courses and the why's and what's of the two-hour church school session, initiated this year as an experiment to replace the traditional one-hour of Sunday School.

Mrs. L. Fabian Bachrach Jr. is chairman of the religious education committee which held its monthly meeting Monday evening.

Many Newton Parents and Teachers to Attend A.S.C.D. Conference in Boston Next Week

Next week from February 10 to 14, approximately 50 Newton teachers, supervisors and principals and parents will be participating in a national educational conference in Boston. The occasion is the National Conference of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development and the theme, "Growing Up in an Anxious Age." This association, numbering some 6,000 members, is one of the affiliated organizations of the National Educational Association. The Boston conference with its headquarters in the Hotel Statler is expected to attract approximately 2,000 delegates from all over the United States.

Many staff members of the Newton Public Schools have been active in planning and arranging the conference. Dr. J. Bernard Everett, Director of the Division of Instruction, has served as General Chairman for the conference. Wilson Colvin, of the Weeks Junior High School, has served as chairman of the Orientation Committee with Herbert Downs, and Bettina King of Weeks, as members. Kaye Torrant, Reading Consultant, is co-chairman of the Social Hour Committee of which Anne Fahey of Mason School is a member. Elvjean Hall, Co-ordinator of Library Services, is a member of the New England School Exhibit Committee. Donald March, Supervisor of Instrumental Music, has served on the Music Committee. Mary Nugent, principal of the Davis School, is a member of the Committee on School Visitation and Excursions. Virginia Joyce and Helen McLaughlin, of Weeks Junior High School, are serving on the Recreation Committee.

The conference is unique in organization. The delegates will spend most of their time in small group discussion meetings. It is estimated that there will be approximately 60 discussion groups meeting simultaneously in seven different hotels. It is also unique in that there has been an attempt to bring into each discussion group a cross section of persons interested in and affecting the educational process.

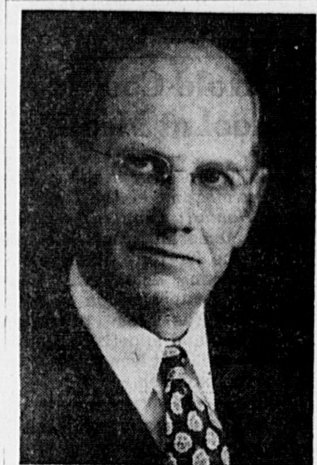

In each group there will be included teachers, prospective teachers, supervisors, principals, superintendents, psychologists, parents and other lay representatives.

A large delegation of Newton parents is planning to attend the conference and participate in the discussion groups. Already registered are the following: Mrs. Frances Backman, Mrs. Theodore Clark, Mrs. Samuel H. Epstein, Mrs. Maurice G. Evans, Mrs. Eleanor E. Heataig, Mrs. Jesse Stam, Mrs. Leon Sternfeld, Mrs. Esther B. Toher, Mrs. Thelma S. Werner, Mrs. Anne Vinculla, Mrs. Lorene Noonan, Mrs. A. B. Colyar, Mrs. George S. Alberts, Mrs. George Elbaum, Mrs. Leonard Bassett, Mrs. H. Earl Burnham, Mrs. Walter Muelder, Mrs. Robert Hoeh, Mrs. Albert Walker.

In addition to the persons serving on committees arranging for the conference and the parents already listed, the following members of the professional staff of the Newton Public Schools will participate: Helene Breivogel, Ann Caldwell, Clarence Churchill, Raymond Cook, John P. Cullen, E. Eleanor Elliott, Charlotte Forgeron, Linwood Gately, Mary Gianfranco, James Gray, Kenneth J. LaFlamme, James D. Laurits, Ralph Morse, Charles L. Peltier, William L. Phinney, James Remy, Paul C. Scarborough, Helen Thompson and Jane Wyman.

An annual feature of the conference is one afternoon devoted to school visitation. Two bus loads of delegates have been scheduled to visit the Newton School in the afternoon of Tuesday, February 12. The John Ward School in Newton Center and the New Peirce School in West Newton will remain open to welcome one bus load of visitors while the other bus load will visit Weeks Junior and the High School.

Featured speakers at the General Sessions of the Conference include Erwin Canham, Editor of the Christian Science Monitor; Harold Taylor, President of Sarah Lawrence College; and Vergil Rogers, Superintendent of Schools in Battle Creek Michigan and newly elected president of the American Association of School Administrators.

Music School Auction Committee Meets

Plans are progressing for the worthwhile Benefit Auction for the All Newton Music School, which will be held April 26.

A meeting of the auction committee and members of the Mother's Auxiliary was held at the school last week Jan. 28, to discuss further plans. The committee reported a fair return of donation cards and expressed the hope that still more parents and friends will respond to the appeal.

Mothers of music school students will contact each parent and friend of the school by telephone between now and the date of the auction. Members of this telephone committee are:

Mrs. Julian D. Anthony, Mrs. Samuel H. Back, Mrs. Rodney Blake, Mrs. Thomas F. Coppinger, Mrs. Henry Freeman, Mrs. George O. Lillegard, Mrs. Dwight P. Merrill, Mrs. Roland B. MacDonald, Mrs. Paul S. Presents $585 Check for Cabin Fund

To Mrs. Manuel C. Brackman of 126 Langdon st., Newtonville goes the deep gratitude of every Boy Scout in troop 100 of Newtonville for the money she and her committee raised at a rummage sale held recently for the cabin fund of these boys. Mrs. Brackman who was general chairman of the rummage sale is also president of the Mother's Auxiliary of the Newtonville Group. She realized as did all of the mothers of the boys in this troop the necessity of building them their own cabin at Nobscot in Sudbury, the camping area owned by the Norumbega Council B.S.A. Troop 100 was the only scouting unit in Newtonville without its own cabin at the reservation. Due to this the boys in this troop in order to get their camping experience which is fifty percent of Boy Scouting, had to borrow cabins from other Newtonville troops when their cabins were not in use. A cabin in the life of a troop is most essential not alone for the camping but it is used to pass all of the outdoor tests of the scouts such as five mile hikes, ten mile hikes, cooking in the open, pathfinding, bird study and outdoor lore.

On the 14th of March, the Newtonville Group, under the General Chairmanship of Mr. Walter B. Chase, its president, is putting on its 19th Annual Show at the Newton High School Auditorium at 8 p. m. The show which is looked forward to each year, as a gala event of the Newtonville Group will consist of five vaudeville acts, a guest speaker, and a scouting parade. A portion of the proceeds from this show will be set aside to contribute towards the Cabin of Troop 100 which they hope to start building in the spring.

The Division of University Extension of the State Department of Education announces the appointment of Edward Flaherty, 14 Thaxter rd., Newtonville, as an instructor in the course on Electrical Estimating, offered at Mass. Institute of Technology.

Valentine Day Supper Program

The Better Half Club of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, will join with the Junior Woman's Association and their husbands for a Valentine Day Spaghetti Supper, Thursday, Feb. 14 at the church. A Peter Hunt artist will entertain. All married couples are welcome.

Exhibition of Paintings At N. Highlands Library

Paintings of the surrounding countryside by Mattie L. Whittemore, West Roxbury are on exhibition at the Newton Highlands Library. Scenes of the North Shore are shown, as well as Landscapes of New Hampshire and other New England States. Among her paintings are several views of the Monadnock Region, including autumn landscapes and snow scenes.

Mrs. Whittemore is a member of several art associations, and her paintings have been exhibited in various New England galleries, including The Clearhouse Gallery, Newton, and The Copley Society of Boston, where she is represented in their current exhibition.

The paintings may be seen at the Library now. The exhibit will continue through Feb. 16.

Principal Clarke to Start Bowen School Duties Feb. 25

The appointment of Edward M. Clarke as principal of the new Bowen school which will be opened February 25, has been announced by Superintendent Harold B. Gores.

Mr. Clarke comes to Newton from Sewickley, Pa., where he was headmaster of the Sewickley Country Day School. Pupils from Nursery School through High School attended the school. Previous to his position in Sewickley, he was headmaster at the Boys' Preparatory School in Tucson, Arizona for four years. He began his teaching career in an independent preparatory school in Pomfret, Connecticut and he later became an instructor at the Country Day School in Rye, New York. For three years, beginning in 1935, he served as a teacher in the public schools of Brookline.

Mr. Clarke graduated from Amherst College in 1929 with a Bachelor's degree. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and to the Rhode Island State Honor Society. In 1936, he received his Master's degree from Teachers College, Columbia. He has done additional graduate study at Rhode Island University.

Mr. Clarke has traveled extensively abroad. During the war he served as Commanding Officer of the V5 and V12 programs in the United States Naval Reserve at Middlebury College and at Colgate, during which time he held the rank of Lt. Commander. Mr. Clarke has two children and will make his home in Newton.

To Discuss Jewish Practices and Customs

Jewish Customs and Practices will be discussed at a study group meeting of the Junior Matrons chapter, American Jewish Congress, on Monday evening, February 11, at 8:00 p.m. The group will meet at the home of Mrs. Leon Rogers, 235 Hartman road, Newton Center. Mrs. Robert Katz of Wellesley and Mrs. Leo Soltz of Newton will present the subject. A report on the Massachusetts Adoption Law will be given by Mrs. Herman Sternberg of Wellesley Hills. All members and friends are welcome.

Police Blotter

While in the basement of her home on Prentice road, Newton Centre, a housewife reported that someone entered the unlocked front door around 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and ransacked the upstairs rooms. Missing were $80 in bills from her handbag, a platinum solitaire ring with 3 1/2 carat diamond valued at $4000, and a lady's wrist watch with diamonds valued at $525. Investigation was conducted by Deputy Chief King and Inspector Halloran.

Attention Newton Street Dept.: Found was a tire belonging to a sand spreader in Newton Centre last Saturday by a Watertown man.

Not exactly chicken feed — Completely destroyed by fire was a two story, three room structure on Ashmont avenue, valued at $500 last Friday afternoon. The building was used to store chicken feed.

A Newton woman reported that someone followed her car from Lake street to Auburn and Washington streets late last Saturday night. The eight cylinder Romeo claimed his car was disabled and denied following the woman.

New twist on the Great Train Robbery — Women living on Chestnut Hill reported that two boys were placing planks across railroad tracks that run at the rear of her home.

Home on Coleman road was broken into and there is hardly any doubt as to the age group the person or persons fell into. Nothing of value was taken, but the cookie and candy jars in the dining room were ransacked. Happened between three and eight o'clock Saturday while the occupants were away.

An orange colored bomb, described as about four feet long was seen in the Charles River at the rear of the Newton Upper Falls playground last Saturday morning by a Chestnut street woman. Lt. Burke contacted Asst. Chief Murphy of the Newton Fire Dept., the state police, Dept. of Public Safety, and an expert on high explosives, Major Collins of the South Army Base. Close scrutiny revealed that the bomb was made of plastic and used for advertising purposes. The new type advertising media was fished out.

Bridge street resident called the station to report a live skunk at the rear of her house. Officer Whelan persuaded the animal to leave the premises.

Auburn street man asked police for help in extricating his small dog's head out of the gas meter's frame. Officers pried the frame open and released the canine meter reader.

Officer Kennedy found the rear door of a Newton Corner drug store unlocked and informed the manager. Insisting that he was positive the door was locked securely, the manager arrived at the store and checked the premises. Missing out of one of the cash registers was $49.50. No force was used to open the register.

Through manipulation with change of a $100 bill, a 52-year-old gentleman, calling himself Dr. Levine, fleeced the Newton-Wellesley cashier of $38 last Thursday afternoon. He is described as six feet, dark, wearing dark glasses and a blue suit, flashy tie and had a receding hairline. Sgt. Regan investigated the complaint.

Accidents Do Happen Here!

Junior Chamber Safety Drive Is Complimented

Edwin H. Wiest, Driver Education teacher at Newton High School, in a statement this week compliments the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Newton Graphic for their efforts in promoting a program to make clear to the public the meaning of the traffic signs used for preventing accidents on our highways.

In commenting on this new program for accident control, Mr. Wiest pointed out that he has noticed that people do not obey the instructions given on traffic signs.

He believes that all drivers should be conditioned to react in a positive way to the instructions of highway signs just as pupils in his own classes in Driver Education are taught to do this.

Mr. Wiest expressed the hope that drivers would profit from this program to the extent that they will no longer pass safety symbols, which are so important in the program for saving lives on our highways.

Ultra-Modern A&P Market Now Open at Four Corners

Thousands of shoppers are expected to visit the newly-opened A&P Super Market, Walnut and Beacon streets, Newton, this weekend and throughout the store's opening festival, which will extend through March 1.

The attractively designed A&P, ideally located at Four Corners, midway between Newton Center and Newton, replaces the A&P in Newton Highlands, which has been permanently closed.

Besides special departments for cosmetics, housewares and magazines, the super market has complete self-service departments for all food items. Meats, fish and poultry, dairy products, baked goods, fruits and vegetables, frozen foods, coffee and tobacco, candy and groceries will be merchandised through the self-service system.

Ninety prizes valued at more than $1,000 will be awarded lucky patrons during the festival. A television set, bicycles, electrical appliances, food baskets and other items are included in the prize list.

Company officials announced that all store visitors are eligible for the prizes. There are no purchase requirements in order to participate in the drawings. Winners need not be present when their names are called.

As an added convenience for shoppers, a conveyor system has been installed for transferring heavy bundles to the parking area. The orders will go to a pickup station alongside the building and an attendant will deliver them directly to the owner's automobile.

The latest equipment in refrigerated display cases has been installed in the new A&P. Open self-service cases for fresh meats, fish and poultry, fresh produce, frozen foods and dairy products will keep merchandise at the proper temperature at all times.

A long row of checkout stands, wide aisles, fluorescent lighting and a large staff of department heads and clerks will help simplify shopping for store patrons.

The self-service meat items will be prepared daily on the store premises. A special packaging room adjacent to the meat storage facilities will be used for cutting, trimming, weighing and price-labeling each consumer unit. A wide selection of transparently wrapped merchandise will be displayed in the open cases enabling the consumer to make purchases in keeping with menu and budget requirements.

The store will remain open

Thursdays and Fridays until 9 p.m. Other weekdays the hours will be from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

SPORTS

Orange Hoopmen Best Rindge, But Upset by Brockton, 52-50

The Newton High basketball team ran hot and cold last week, first drubbing Rindge Tech, 58-42, in a Suburban League contest, on Tuesday, but skidding badly taking a surprise 52 to 50 defeat by Brockton High in an independent game last Friday afternoon.

Against Rindge the Reggie Smith-coached club had little trouble. Bob Moss led in the scoring with 15 points, followed closely by John Kreider and Don Dunbar with 13 points apiece. The Orange set the pace early in the game and never dropped the lead.

With Kreider and Moss paving the way in the scoring, Newton jumped off to a bulging 16-6 lead at the end of the first period, and kept the ball rolling to register a 29-18 edge at the half.

Rindge pulled to within five points of Newton in the third period when it outpointed the Orange, 13-11. But the three leading scorers for the afternoon combined to maintain Newton's lead, totaling 18 points to Rindge's 11 in the last chapter.

Brockton's Late Surge Upsets Orange

The Smithmen held a slight five point edge, 50 to 45, late in the last period when the Brockton courtmen took advantage of a lapse in the Orange scoring to register the victory.

Brockton's Ralph Chesnauskas proved to be the main threat all afternoon and emerged high scorer with 18 points. Newton's Kreider and Moss, hitting double figures with 16 and 15 respectively, failed to offset the sharp-eyed shooting of the Brockton ace.

Newton led for the most part, giving up the lead occasionally during the second period. At the start of the fourth stanza the tally stood at 44-44. Baskets by Moss, Kreider and Harry Riddle came after Chesnauskas hooped a foul shot, giving the locals their 50-45 edge with six minutes to play. Then suddenly the game took on a different color, with the Orange failing to hit for the remainder of the contest.

Chesnauskas started the surge with a pushup, followed by successive baskets by DiBari and Parker Richard's winning two-point shot from the side. Fred Robinson tossed in a foul try to give Brockton its 52-50 victory. The summaries:

Plan Formation of Little Baseball League Throughout the City

The first meeting of the Little League Baseball organization for Newton was held last week at the Newton Centre playground fieldhouse.

The speakers were J. Fred McGinn, treasurer of the Arlington League; James Sumner, president of the Arlington Boys' Club and vice-president of the Little League; and Joseph "Nipper" Maher, Commissioner of the Little League Baseball for Waltham.

All spoke on the formation and success of these leagues in their respective cities.

James E. Murphy of the Newton Recreation Commission appointed the following temporary chairman: John Shaugnessy, temporary secretary and a Standing Committee consisting of George Friedman, Upper Falls; John Donahue, Upper Falls; A. Peter William, Waban; G. Kendrick Brighurst, Waban; T. Frank Copp, Newton; Michael Piantadosi, Naantum; and James Gray, representing the Newton School Department.

The next meeting will be held tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock at the Newton Centre Building Fieldhouse at which time a Little League film will be shown.

Alderman Winfield C. Anderson is in charge of publicity.

It is urged that all who are interested in helping organize a Little League in Newton to attend this meeting.

Newton Places Third in 35th State Meet

Registering first in the 50-yard dash and the high jump, won by Paul Gould and Roland Pollard, while Bob Morrison placed second in the 600-yard run, the Newton High track team finished third with 18 points in the Class A division of the 35th annual indoor State Meet last Saturday afternoon at the Boston Garden.

The Orange aggregation was one point behind Rindge Tech, second place winner with 19 points, while Boston English emerged on top of the heap in Class A with 20 7-10 points.

With a chance to cop second place depending on the final relay race, Newton lost out to Rindge and had to finish in third place. Besides taking a first in the relay, Rindge also set a new record for the relay, a time of 2:25.1. Newton's time for second was 2:25.8.

Gould helped the Newton cause in the 50-yard dash, closing fast to nip his nearest opponent by a yard. Gould had a time of 5.5. In the high jump, Pollard hit a mark of 5 ft. 11 1/3 in. to walk away with a first.

Newton's tall trackman, Bob Morrison, battled Rindge's Charles Jenkins in the 600 again, and was overtaken in the stretch

In Class "A." Newton "Y" Intruders drew with Cambridge "Y," two and one-half to two and one-half.

In Class "B." Commonwealth "Y" won by default from M.I.T. five to nothing. Newton "Y" Gamblers lost to Arlington No. 2, two to three.

as Jenkins clocked a time of 1m. 16s. Morrison's time was 1:16.3. Jenkins also ran opposite Morrison in the relay when both ran anchor for their teams. Given a slight edge in the baton hand-off, Jenkins beat the Newton star by seven seconds. The summary:

Class A
Boston English, 20 7-10; Rindge Tech., 19; Newton, 18; Medford, 15 1-5; Boston Tech., 9; Boston Latin, 5 1-5; Brookline, 4 1-5; Boston Trade, 3; Lynn English, 1 1-5; Brockton, 1; Roxbury Memorial, 1; Malden 1; Lowell, 1-5; B. C. High, Boston Commerce, Lawrence and Somerville did not score.

Newton Edges Arlington, 3-1, In Playoff Game At Arena

Scoring all its goals in the middle period, the Newton High hockey club posted its first victory in the B.B.I. League's three-game playoff series by downing Arlington High, 3 to 1, at the Boston Arena last Saturday afternoon. The Jack Hall-coached sextet will square off against third place Belmont this Saturday at the Boston Garden for the second game, winding up the last contest against Stoneham the following week.

While Stoneham continued its sweep over all comers, picking up its seventh win last week at the expense of Belmont, the Orange skaters have steadily improved over the weeks and may give the league-leaders a fight. However, in order for Newton to emerge on top of the G.B.I. heap, Stoneham has to drop its last two encounters. This does not seem likely.

The final score was a complete reverse of the first Arlington-Newton tilt, when the Spy Ponders dropped the Halls, 3-1. At just 1:03 of the second period, Thompson passed out to Paul Fitzgerald from the backboards and the latter slid the puck netward for the tally.

The second Newton lamp light went off in two moves. Thompson cleared the disc from his own backboards on a long pass to Justin McCarthy at midice. The floating puck glanced off an Arlington player's skate before McCarthy took possession and raced in alone to beat goalie Al Pitts with a forehead smash.

McCarthy's goal came at 4:06 and Arlington retaliated with its lone tally four minutes later when Don Cronin took a rebound in front of the Newton cage and slammed it past goalie Dan Coffey from about 10 feet. The rebound had pulled Coffey out of his net, and the Newton citadel was left unguarded.

Thompson completed the scoring on a solo job late in the period, firing from zero range after working the puck in front of the Arlington cage. Time was just 9:00. The summary:

Complaints—

be expected. During the week of January 26th, the total complaints were less than 1½% of the 50,000 weekly collections required under the contract.

"Many of the complaints received during the week of January 7th were not justifiable as collectors made calls but were unable to remove garbage because of frozen containers. The Contractor maintains a special truck for the handling of complaints, but much of its time has been occupied in going to locations where conditions were found which did not justify complaints, viz: a number still call daily, who, noting that their containers were full the previous afternoon, presume the same condition exists the following morning and enter a complaint, but in the meantime, collectors have called and emptied containers; much excess paper is being placed in containers and the Department has a record of several instances where, after excess paper was removed, the actual garbage consisted of a few slices of bread, or less than two quarts of mixed garbage, or two or three small lobster shells, and similar small amounts. In one instance four calls were received from a person between 9 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. (even though the person was assured at the time of the first call that his garbage would be removed that day) and when our City Inspector arrived with a collector, the total garbage, in a large container, would not fill an ordinary shoe box. These are only a few instances of unjustifiable complaints of which there have been many, and complaints of this type have made it impossible for the Contractor's special truck to fully cover all daily complaint calls."

"The attention of all is called to regulations which do not allow the placing of excess amounts of paper, bottles, cans or other articles other than garbage in containers. In such cases the contractor is not required to make collections. A great deal of confusion has been caused by the lack of cooperation on the part of many who during snow periods, have failed to have garbage containers shoveled out, so that same are visible and accessible to collectors. It should also be noted by our citizens that the collectors are not required to collect garbage from within dwellings or other structures.

"The Street Department is certain that the Contractor will shortly overcome the difficulties it has experienced and that all citizens will be provided with regular and prompt collections. However, cooperation of all is earnestly requested, so that at least complaint calls will be justifiable ones. Calls made to the Street Department office between 8:30 a. m. and 5 p. m. Mondays to Fridays inclusive, are promptly transferred to the Contractor. Saturday calls may be made to the Crafts Street Yards, LA 521 7-0249.

"In conclusion we may assure all citizens that calls submitted as above will have as prompt attention as those made to the Mayor, Members of the Board of Aldermen or the Board of Health, who when receiving such calls can only transfer them to the Street Department for action and this involves needless use of their busy hours."

sets Heart Association and its affiliated chapters place primary emphasis on support of research.

"Heart research is perhaps the most important, far-reaching and expensive part of the total program. Research opens the way to new methods of treatment. Through research, new surgical techniques and new medicines are discovered. After careful testing in the laboratory, and following controlled experimentation, these discoveries are put into use by heart specialists and general practitioners to help save lives and reduce suffering of heart patients.

"To support this program, the Heart Association is asking the citizens of Newton to give $15,000 while the State goal is $360,000 and the Nationwide quota is set at $8,000,000. During February, therefore, give in thanks, if you have been spared. Give in hope, if you have heart disease.

He said that the continued trend away from real estates as the primary form of wealth for a growing proportion of the population has produced large groups of voters who have slight direct interest in the character and cost of municipal government. Yet, he said, the principal source of tax revenue for municipalities is still real estate.

His proposal, he said, would re-emphasize the responsibility of the local inhabitant for the cost as well as for his share of the influence over the initiation and administration of local governmental policies without returning to the arbitrary limitations on the right to vote. Payment of a poll tax is no longer a pre-requisite to voting, he said.

The present poll tax levy is "a meaningless and arbitrary levy on men," he said. The cost of collecting the present poll tax makes the net return very small, he contended. His proposal, he said, would make poll tax a paying proposition, since other new revenue sources are being denied communities.

Rent payers would be added to the class of those who pay a direct tax which bears an obvious relation to the tax on property, he said, adding that he believed it is a "sound policy" to encourage rent payers to become directly aware of the cost of government.

vide better and more comprehensive patient care.

Dr. W. Robert Ohler, eminent physician and President of the Massachusetts Medical Society, reported on that organization, its goals and accomplishments and stressed ways in which that society and hospitals of the Commonwealth can and are endeavoring to work together for the benefit of the patient and the community.

In closing the meeting, Mr. Cutler praised the guidance and counsel of his able predecessors and reviewed some of their more recent accomplishments. The organization meeting of the new Board of Governors was held immediately following the conclusion of the dinner meeting.

Parking—

It was brought out at the meeting that although the area for parking purposes had been illegally black-topped, the space was necessary for parking purposes.

Voting to grant the request of Ruth Cimmerblatt for parking space on Lots 22 and 18 of Section 62, Block 4, in the rear of 816 Walnut street, Ward 6, were Aldermen Anderson, Beale, Bigelow, Cannon, Diman, Jackson, Mattson, Nolan, Prior, Rich, Scipione, Sharf, Terkelsen and Wood. Voting against were President Bauckman as well as Aldermen Bauck, Casady, Davis and TenBroeck.

Tax—

crease the tax burden of owners of real estate here by no small amount, and that the small home owner will be called upon to share the greatest proportionate burden of this less revenue.

"Too frequently," stated Mayor Lockwood, "have our citizens criticized the use of the personal property tax in Newton, with too little understanding as to the historic part this tax has taken, equitably in the tax structure and financial operations of the city. From Colonial days, Newton has always made an honest endeavor to distribute its tax levy where it could be met more fairly on an equitable basis."

Continuing, the Mayor stated: "From the earliest days, citizens who lived in modest homes, who nevertheless possessed ample means and enjoyed elaborate personal possessions, whether or not they owned or rented their homes, have paid a modest and reasonable tax on personal property. Such a tax is constitutionally sound and has wide recognition as to its wisdom and fairness."

"The outstanding weakness of Massachusetts tax practice has been the loading of taxes upon local real estate. The Legislature has never permitted its cities and towns to collect special taxes such as local income taxes, sales taxes, gasoline and admission taxes, which have been an enormous relief in other parts of the country, and approved by various states.

"On the contrary, the Massachusetts Legislature dealt a heavy blow to Newton in eliminating the personal property tax, where less than $5,000, and thrust upon the city the problem of absorbing a $14,000,000 valuation loss, which, naturally, can fall only upon real estate, with a theoretical tax rate raise of $5. "Ironically, this change will be felt, not by those paying higher personal property taxes, for they are relieved up to $5,000, but the burden falls on smaller home owners as illustrated below:

Small home owner now has average Real Estate Assessment—$5,000 at $40.00 $200.00 No Personal Assessment ($1,000 exemption) 0.00

Total Tax $200.00 Larger Home Owner now has average Real Estate Assessment—$10,000 at $40.00 $400.00 Average Personal Assessment—$1,500 at $40.00 60.00

Total Tax $460.00 If $5,000 exemption becomes law

Small home owner average Real Estate Assessment—$5,000 at $45.00 $225.00 No Personal Assessment 0.00

Total Tax $225.00 Larger Home Owner average Real Estate Assessment—$10,000 at $45.00 $450.00 No Personal Assessment 0.00

Total Tax $450.00 Small Home owner pays $25.00 more taxes. Larger Home owner pays $10.00 less taxes.

In my observation, the most complaints against the personal property tax have been made by smaller home-owners and they can read from the above illustration how they will pay larger tax the $14,000,000 loss in valuation through elimination of the personal property tax in Newton, and the corresponding placing of this burden on real estate, the government of the City of Newton should forthwith seek emergency legislation from the General Court to amend Chapter 640 of the Acts of 1951 by a single sentence rendering the practice of assessing personal property permissive by the vote of a town, or in the case of cities, by a majority of the council.

Unfortunatly, citizens frequently lack the facts, figures and experience to warrant blunt criticism of such complicated operations as municipal business, and especially tax structures and financial processes.

"Where operations have served exceedingly well over many years, people should realize that, while the factor of human handling results in something less than perfect, there is always a trend toward improvement, and that was the history in Newton.

"I have before me two biller denunciations of the personal property tax by two taxpayers, each of whom was billed $7.86 for 1951. They will each pay higher tax bills in 1952 because of the change, and both are disgruntled because they know other citizens who pay no personal property taxes, but state no names, of course.

"In Newton our Assessors hold full-time positions and engage in no personal business. Often elsewhere Assessors engage even in Real Estate and Insurance Business, with results which may be imagined. These Newton Assessors, as the months and years pass, have established an enviable record in the elimination of inequities, and even personal property taxes would trend in the direction of improved equity. Certainly no justification of their loss is shown by the figures. The same criticism, that someone pays less than he should pay, frequently motivates the complainant on real estate. Superhuman efforts toward perfection will not eliminate human complaint.

"The legislation altering the personal property tax started with a complaint who sought relief by abatement unsuccessfully, and through resentment, started and obtained the unfortunate legislation. In these tax-ridden days, many people will back any cancellation of taxes suggested. This complainant could well have afforded to pay his modest tax, but he visited the result of the action upon us for his own satisfaction.

"It is my own considered conclusion that, rather than have

Chamber of Commerce is recommending to Mayor Lockwood, that a sufficient sum of money be appropriated to erect suitable signs in various central locations throughout the city which would have printed on them in large letters, 'City of Newton', with the name of the particular section printed in smaller letters directly under it.

"We who live in Newton know," continued Mr. Chagnon, "that our city is growing constantly and steadily. We must somehow, make other people throughout the State realize this fact also. I am confident that such a plan will ultimately enable the City of Newton to rightfully enjoy the place of prominence to which it is entitled among the cities of this State and that such a plan will prove of inestimable value to the merchants and industrialists who are located here," concluded Mr. Chagnon.

Workers Here Are Given Tests for Heart Disease

Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week a considerable number of workers who will conduct that program of screening for heart conditions among residents of Newton Corner were examined at the Main Library.

Mr. Sullivan, health educator of the heart demonstration program, explained the program as to how the community can meet its heart disease problems and demonstrated the findings in other communities.

The program is under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth Backmon who is general chairman. Among the newer volunteer workers are John P. Barton, Mrs. Lester F. Hunt, Arthur Cheverie, Miss Virginia Altieri, Miss Mary McCarthy, Miss Mildred Cavanaugh, Miss Margaret Sodler, Mrs. Alfred Handley, Mrs. Lutfi Gayzagian, Mrs. William Pamera, Mrs. Henry Balos, Mrs. David Hamblen, Mrs. Morris Adler, Mrs. George Wyman, Mrs. H. L. Gerson, Mrs. Hollis Eaton, Mrs. Russell Kemp, Mrs. Evelyn Haynes, Mrs. Clifford Gungallus, Walter Forbes, Mrs. John McDonald, Mrs. Anna Fair, Mrs. Claude Booker, Dr. Bruce Galloway, Mrs. Theodore Lockwood, Mrs. Edward A. Roche, Jr., Mrs. Norman Atkinson, Mrs. Leo Davison, Mrs. John L. Snider, Mrs. William H. MacDonald, Miss Emma Menge, Miss Alice Smith, Miss Dunne, Mrs. Russell Kemp and Miss Myrta Kimball.

Mrs. Donald MacKenzie reported that she and Mrs. George E. Rawson have secured many volunteers as hostesses and typists. There is still a need for volunteers particularly as workers on canvas: the people living on their backs.

Actual canvassing of residents of the Newton Corner area will begin this week. Everyone over eighteen years of age, whether canvassed or not, can take advantage of the opportunity to be examined. The examination is free, private and confidential. It will require about ten minutes and is a privilege that should be accepted.

It is possible to have rheumatic heart disease, hypertensive heart disease, or coronary heart disease without knowing it. Doctors can prevent or delay the progress of these diseases, especially if they can treat them early. The purpose of the screening tests is to find persons who would benefit most from going to their physician for advice, diagnosis and treatment.

Medical guidance in planning the heart screening program has been provided by the Cardiac Program Committee, a group of physicians from the staff of Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Public participation in the various sections has been stimulated by the Heart Committee of the Newton Community.

THE WINNER . . .

SBL Under the new Extra-Ordinary Life Plan you win by living! Yes, the man who pays the premiums is guaranteed $1,000 CASH if he lives for 20 years; meanwhile his family is protected for several times that amount. Yet this 2-in-1 protection costs very little—using low-cost Savings Bank Life Insurance—with the added savings. Get free folder showing rates at your age.

The examination center will be the Newton Public Library. The examination is very simple and can be made from February 25 through March 8.

Seal Sale Funds Now Exceed Last Year's Total

Christmas Seal money is still being received by the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association. Newton now has a gain of 8 per cent over the amount of money received at this time last year. Newton has moved during the past two weeks from fourth to third place among Massachusetts tuberculosis associations in the percentage gain over last year. Only Salem and Barnstable County have larger increases than Newton.

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association hopes that the enviable gains made so far will not be lost as the Seal Sale progresses, and that residents of Newton will continue their encouraging response to the reminder cards so that the rising cost of the Association can be met. The lead gained so far must be maintained.

During the past week 197 responses have been received. During this period the amount of money received has been $152.52. Newton has raised $147,01.66 for tuberculosis control as of February 4th.

Husbands Can't Say 'No!'

(WHEN YOU PURCHASE A DRESS AS I DID)

Was George ever surprised when I got a new dress without denting our budget. How did I do it? Well most of the credit goes to The Newton Graphic want ads. You see I was cleaning the attic the other day and found our former dinette set we no longer use. I figured instead of having it just gather dust, why not see if it would gather some extra cash. So I offered it for sale with a Newton Graphic want ad, and in no time at all I had some extra cash and a newly married couple had the dinette set.

I never realized the Newton Graphic want ads could give SO MUCH selling service for so little cost. So take a tip from me, if you'd like to get an "extra" new dress (with hubby's consent) sell those unused articles in your attic or garage with a Newton Graphic want ad. It's so easy.

P. S. Don't sell hubby's fishing gear though.

Call LA 7-1402 today and let our competent, courteous classified ad writers show YOU how to turn those unwanted articles into cash. The cost is small . . . the results amazing.

NEW HOPE FOR HEARTS

Dedicated to the Heart Fund

by EDGAR A. GUEST

New Hope for Hearts is promised with every passing year; New hope, new strength and courage for those who live in fear. The menace that is greatest, that cripples hearts today, To new-found skills and wisdom is surely giving way. Our help is all that's needed—nor is it much to give— So one who is afflicted, a normal life may live. A gift of time for study—a month, a week, a day— And hope for hearts will follow as research finds the way.

The ills of hearts are many, yet each must conquered be, And when men of science to seek for truth are free, New Hope for Hearts is promised with these the gifts we ask; The time to search for knowledge, the means to do the task.

Mark Leshevsky Is Co-Winner In Cake Making Contest

Mark Leshevsky, a member of Den 6, Pack 9, of the Angier Cub Packs, Waban, was co-winner with Sandy Chapin, Den 2, Pack 10 of the first prize in the cake-making contest conducted by the organization in conjunction with the recently held annual Blue and Gold Party. The cake was made by the boys without any help from parents and the project, participated in by all the Dens was a great success.

The Blue and Gold Party, held at the Waban Neighborhood Club, was attended by members of both Packs and their parents. Each table was assigned to one den, who was responsible for the decoration and refreshments for that table. In Pack 10, Den 9 was presented with the first prize in table decoration; with Den 13 a close runner-up. Den 8 was the winner in Pack 9, with Den 10 coming in second.

The joint packs presented the charter of Pack 10 to Carl Ray, Technology, Boston.

principal of the Angier School, and cub committee member for many years, on the event of the 15th anniversary of the Pack. With an attendance of over 300 parents and cubs, party-goers were entertained by magician Elwyn Shaw, and members of the Cub Committee. The next meeting of Pack 9 will be held at Angier School March 2, and Pack 10, March 9, with displays of the monthly project, "Things to Grow."

Guy LaRose to Display His Wares In First Newton Appearance Saturday

Towering Guy LaRose, French Canada's most promising wrestler to display his wares south of the Canadian border since the great Yvon Robert, will make his first Garden City appearance at the West Newton Armory Saturday night when he opposes Shiek Clarence of Arabia in the main event of the Burns-Kerr Legion Post's weekly wrestling show.

A native of Montreal, LaRose was a brilliant all-around athlete at Montreal Catholic High School almost a decade ago, starring as a defenseman in hockey, in Canadian football and also showing enough ability as a boxer to attract the attention of Montreal boxing writers.

After graduation from high school, LaRose was sought after by professional hockey and football scouts, but after considerable hesitation, finally cast his ballot in favor of the mat game, a decision he's never regretted. Still in the mid 20's and a Canadian Army veteran, LaRose has proved a smash hit wherever he's wrestled, particularly in such Franco-American communities as Woonsocket, R. I., Holyoke and Lawrence. So fast has the powerful young Montrealer come along that he may rate a shot at the championship belt in a year or two.

For the past month, LaRose has been performing at the Boston Arena and other large arenas in New England. The tall French-Canadian leans heavily on his two main assets, speed and height, and specializes in the airplane whirl, the flying scissors and the drop-kick, a souvenir from his football playing days.

LaRose will meet a worthy foe in the bearded, fezz-wearing Shiek of Araby, who's undefeated in a pair of Army starts. Last Saturday, the 230-pound 6'2 Shiek was awarded a split-fall decision over Wild Bull Curry when the latter was counted out of the ring.

Saturday night's semi-final bout will bring together Clyde Steeves, popular ex-heavyweight boxer from Brockton, and newcomer Ray Zavanza, 205-pounder from Tampico, Mexico. Steeves is well-known locally, but the Mexican will be making his first Newton appearance. Twenty-six years old and a professional matman for five years, Zavanza is known as the "Gentleman Grappler" because of his dislike for unruly tactics. Ray has two brothers who wrestle and has participated in wrestling exhibitions in South and Central America as well as in Mexico. Like Steeves, Zavanza is a former pugilist.

Big George Renninger, human blockhouse from Portland, Me., and Stan Wydra, 265-pounder from Lynn, will collide in a full-fledged bout starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Temple Emanuel To Hold Scout Sabbath

The annual Scout Sabbath will be celebrated at Temple Emanuel with a special Scout program tomorrow evening, Friday, at 8:15 p. m. in Newton.

Participating in the program will be the Boy Scouts of Troop 17 and 25, the Girl Scouts of Troops 41 and 66, and the Cub Scouts of Packs 17 and 25.

An impressive ceremony with the presentation of the Colors and Troop Standards will start the Service. The Service procession will honor many men and women active in Newton Scouting. Among them will be Mr. Richard E. McKown, Council President; Mr. Edward C. Michaud, Past Council President; Mr. George M. Shannon, Council Commissioner; Mr. Dan Mordecai, member of Executive Committee; Mr. Leigh M. Nisbet, Council Executive; Mr. Marvin Luntz, District Commissioner; Mr. Harold Goldstein, Neighborhood Commissioner; Dr. Alexander Levi, Chairman, Troop Committee 17; Dr. Samuel S. Hiron, Chairman, Troop Committee 25; Mrs. Morris Speloffel, Leader, Troop 41; Mrs. Joseph Cohen, Leader, Troop 66; Mr. Roland Deutsch, Scout Master, Troop 17; Mr. Robert Krasner, Scout Master, Troop 25; Mr. Robert Sandman, Advisor, Explorer Post 17; Mr. Saul Gilman, Cub Master, Pack 17; and Mr. Samuel Prince, Cub Master, Pack 25.

The presentation of an Eagle Scout Badge will be made to Scout Donald Mordecai during the service. Kiddush will be chanted by Scout Paul Deutsch. Scouts Richard Larkin and Richard Herman will lead the group in the recitation of the Scout Law and the Scout Oath respectively.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow the service.

Auburndale

Jonathan Y. Ricker of Auburndale will be one of some 33 Bowdoin College seniors to receive Bachelor of Arts Degrees at special Commencement exercises to be held in the College Chapel at noon on Saturday, February 9.

Ricker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice S. Ricker of 107 Grove st., Auburndale, and is a graduate of Newton High School. During the war he served with the U. S. Army and came to Bowdoin in his sophomore year, as a transfer from Brown University. A History major, he has been active in football and is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. Following graduation he will return to active duty in the Army.

But we'll always be together Side by side, whatever comes, And oh, so happy darling, To really be as one.

Other special guests were Mr.
Charles Richter, Dr. Edward Landy, Mr. Sterling Williams of the Newton Schools—Dr. Yeo and Dr. Gallagher, the principal speakers of the conference.
Immediately following the dinner they adjourned to the auditorium for the closing meeting of the conference at which Dr. J.
Roswell Gallagher of Children's Medical Center and Harvard University's School of Public Health was the speaker. Dr. Gallagher believes that young people's most fundamental need is the opportunity to grow up believing that cooperative living is preferable to selfishness. Unfortunately the world they see about them, adults behavior, and a widespread misinterpretation of the "survival of the fittest" idea all combine to lessen the chances that such a belief will be theirs.
Too few, and many of these too late, discover that not only survival but also happy productive living is for those who live cooperatively—for and with each other—not for themselves.
Those who are most fit to survive—and most likely to—are not those who have lived for themselves alone.
That this fundamental need may be theirs, what must be done? First, those young people who have already found this a hostile, selfish world and have begun to fight back, need help and security and freedom from constant new evidence of hostility, opportunity to gain insight into their and others behavior, and encouragement, approval and success.
Secondly, all of them need the help of institutions and organizations dedicated to young people's best interests. Not only from their efforts but by virtue of their unselfish example, young people gain priceless help.
Thirdly, more of us adults must understand young people—their interests, attitudes and needs. We need to learn what makes them tick, to know them as individuals, to understand them, not just their problems.

Fourthly, we need that adults set them a better example. Young people are imitators, hero-worshippers. We need that less of what we find on the front pages and more of what we find in many unnoticed homes and lives be brought to their attention.
And finally, though they badly need better example, more understanding, help and security and affection in their early years and when they come a cropper, they also need, if they are to lead mature self-reliant lives, ever increasing opportunities to venture —they need to become strong and unselfish and confident by practicing living itself—it was that for which all the rest was but a preparation.
The Conference, sponsored by the Newton Teachers Federation, was arranged under the direction of Mr. Harry V. Anderson of the Newton Public Schools, chairman, and Miss Adelaide B. Ball, president of the Governing Board of the Newton Welfare Agencies.

Holliston Dog Training Club in Preparation for The New England Show

The Holliston Dog Training Club will hold one of its periodic and always popular Scoring Contests on Tuesday, February 5 at 8 p. m. in its regular training quarters, the gymnasium of the Wellesley Congregational Church, Wellesley Square (near entrance only). The five regular A.K.C. classes together with Graduate Novice, and Novice Y on leash for beginners, will be offered. The judges selected are Mrs. Charles L. Thiesen of East Braintree and Mrs. Ruth Watson of South Braintree, both well-known members of the South Shore Dog Training Club. Ribbons will be awarded to winners in all classes. Mrs. Curtis Oving-ton of Waban, Chairman of Training Program, and Philip Jacobs of Southborough, the Club's Trainer, are in charge.
This Scoring Contest is timed to help handlers perfect themselves for the New England Show in Boston on February 22 and 23, and it also encourages those not ready for the shows to measure their improvement during the preceding weeks. Handlers from other clubs are welcome.
The usual training session for beginners will take place at 7:30 before the Scoring Contest.
While the Holliston Dog Training Club was founded by Hollis-ton people and at present meets in Wellesley, it has many Newton members. In addition to Mrs.
Ovington, three other Newton residents are on the Board. Mrs.
Adele C. Koopman of Newton Highlands as secretary, Warren
E. MacMath of Newton Highlands, and Harold C. Pollock of Newton Centre.

A Newton to Waverly bus was the target of a boy's snowball last Friday afternoon, shattering the bus's windshield. The operator was covered with broken glass but was not injured.

With the disappearance of the snow, another lad was reported to have thrown an egg at a Newton police officer. The officer spoke to the boy's parents and suggested they hire a hall for the youngster.

To Attend Camping Association

Local residents are among the more than 700 delegates from private and philanthropic children's camps, parents, teachers and others who will attend the 39th annual convention of the New England Section of the American Camping Association, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 8 and 9, at the Hotel Statler, Boston.

To Give Dramatic Presentation of Book Reviews Tomorrow Afternoon

Miss Olive Ensel-Tinder will give a dramatic presentation of book reviews entitled "From Cover to Cover" at the monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Women's Club tomorrow (Friday) at 3:00 p. m. in the clubhouse. Miss Ensel-Tinder was for five years staff artist on WIRE, the NBC station in Indianapolis, and is at present Literary Editor of "Quote Weekly."
Before and after the meeting there will be a food sale, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Orville P. Carter, which will be open to the public. Assisting Mrs. Carter will be Mrs. Roger
B. Brooks, Mrs. Robert F.

Legal Affairs to Be Discussed at Women's Educational Club Meeting

Tomorrow (Friday) the members and guests of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet in the Second Church Parish House, West Newton. Dessert will be served at 1 p. m. in the Ladies' Parlor by hostesses Mrs. Dudley Thornbury and Mrs. John Marsh. Pours-ers will be Mrs. Peter Capodanno, Mrs. Chester MacDowell and Mrs.
Werner Nelson.

C.D. Holds Radiation Monitoring Meeting

Is Fifth in A Series of Training

Fr. John A. Tobin and Dr. Albert E. Navez Brief Men on Duties

A Radiation Monitoring meeting was held last Saturday, at 9:30 a.m. in the Civil Defense Building, 430 Walnut, Newtonville. This meeting was the fifth in the series of training in radiation monitoring, in Civil Defense.

Father John A. Tobin, S. J., briefed the men on the duties of monitoring and reviewed the workings of the Geiger-Muller Counter and ionization chambers, type SU-10. Father Tobin, who is head of the physics department and instructor of Nuclear Physics, at Boston College, Newton, is expert assistant to the Regional consultant in Civil Defense.

Dr. Albert E. Navez, co-ordinator for Region 5, monitoring De-Regional Consultant in Civil Defense of the Newton Team, Fire Department, Lt. Larry Clark,

Memorial Day Chairman Is Named by Mayor

Major William J. Maloney To Be in Charge of Parade, Exercises

At the monthly meeting of the United Veterans' Organizations, held at the War Memorial Building, City Hall, it was announced to the delegates that Mayor Lockwood had appointed Major William Maloney, chairman of the UVON, to take charge of this year's Memorial Day parade and exercises, after which Maloney announced that a meeting of representatives from all Newton veteran organizations will be held at the War Memorial Building Tuesday evening, March 4 at 8 p.m., when final plans will be drawn up for these exercises.

At the Mayor's suggestion, it is planned to invite some of the GI patients from the Murphy General Hospital to be guests of the city Memorial Day.

Chairman Maloney asks that all Newton veteran organizations send representatives to this month's send-off, to be held at Registration headquarters, 430 Walnut street, Newtonville, February 25 at 7 a.m., when about 22 boys will be inducted into the Armed Forces, this being the largest group to be taken in some months.

Dr. Albert I. Gordon of Temple Emanuel will be the principal speaker and Mayor Lockwood will be on hand to express the city's appreciation for what these boys will be setting out to do.

Edmund T. Dungan, Commissioner of Veterans' Services, will present each boy with a pen and pencil set, a gift of the City of Newton and the various commanders will present cards to the boys.

A communication from the Citizenship Council of Newton, was presented to the delegates, asking the UVON's support in their aims to encourage active and intelligent citizenship and to advise other organizations sponsoring civic projects.

This council is made up of various civic, fraternal and veteran units, the UVON being a member.

Bill Would Have Delegates Pledged

Rep. George E. Rawson (R-Newton) last week sought approval of his measure under which candidates for delegate places to the national party conventions must be pledged to a presidential candidate.

Testifying before the Committee on Election Laws, Rep. Rawson said one of the principal reasons for his measure is to spur interest in the election of delegates.

He said a law requiring delegate candidates to be pledged would bring out, by his estimate, about 25 percent of the registered voters "whereas the average turnout for such elections has been in recent years about five percent of the voters eligible."

He said those elections have been costing from $2 to $10 per vote cast because of the small turnout. "Cities and towns," he said, "don't want to spend that much money to set up the election machinery for races that now hold no interest."

Candidates for the two national party conventions would have to have the written consent of the presidential candidate to whom they want to be pledged, he said.

Elected delegates, under the measure, would be bound to vote for their candidate "on the first and succeeding ballots and until

Senator Lee May Seek Seat In Congress

Said To Be Considering Possibility — Herter, Jr. Also Might Seek Post

With the announcement that U. S. Congressman Christian A. Herter will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, State Senator Richard H. Lee of 206 Church street, Newton, may possibly be a candidate for Congressman Herter's post.

At least it is understood that Senator Lee is giving serious consideration to this possibility but that his actual announcement is dependent on several "ifs."

Serving his third term as senator, Mr. Lee is a veteran of World War II, having served as a colonel in the European area. He is a

Mediocracy Is the Cause for New Laws

When Agencies Fail the Public Demands Legal Restraints, Says Muther

When government agencies fail to discipline themselves the people demand further legal restraints on official discretion, stated Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., executive director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, in a talk before the Weston Men's Club Wednesday evening.

Using examples of new laws enacted and being proposed in the fields of taxation, welfare and municipal home rule, Muther declared that a reawakening of a true sense of responsibility to the public by our government services would be the best way public officials could forestall a rash of new restrictions on them. The citizens are getting fed up and are demanding acts of responsibility, not merely language, he said, and they are enforcing their demand by requiring the legislators to abolish, transfer or set up new checks on government authority. More over this trend is not limited to the federal level.

The virtual abolishing of the personal property tax on household goods and effects is one example of how a law, good in theory, is cut down for better or worse by popular demand when it is poorly and unfairly enforced, stated Muther.

The enactment of the lien law in old age assistance last year.

Adult Education Classes Will Be Reopened Feb. 25

New Course in Automobile Driver Education for Adults Being Offered

The Newton Adult Education classes will reopen February 25, and applications may be made through the Newton Trade School office, 40 Elm road, Newtonville.

A new course in automobile driver education for adults is being offered and registration will be limited to 24. Classes in ceramics and oil painting will also be added in order to accommodate a long waiting list. A few openings may occur in other classes and they will be filled as quickly as registrations are made.

For further information, call the Newton Trade School office, DEcatur 2-1880.

All classes will terminate with an exhibition and fashion show to be held in the Newton High School gymnasium Thursday evening, May 15.

Gath Says Voting System Here Archaic and Outmoded

Harry Gath, Jr., speaking at a meeting of the Newton League of Women Voters at the Workshop in Newton Highlands last night (Wednesday) declared that "the Garden City has definitely changed" and that the present system of voting used here is "archaic, outmoded, and non-understandable to both the voters and election officials." Continuing he said:

Mrs. Chairwoman, members of the League of Women Voters and friends:— However small the gathering or however large, tonight's assembly is indicative of what Newton definitely needs, open and free discussion of matters pertaining to our civic progress, a possible guiding influence to our legislative representatives, whether they be at the State House or in City Hall. I congratulate the League upon its sponsorship of this program. I sincerely trust there will be more of its type throughout the city, initiated by civic minded groups such as yours, pertaining to this subject of changing the preferential voting system in Newton.

Back in 1916 when the present preferential voting system was wished upon Newton's citizenry by legislative act there were just 7959 men eligible to vote. That was before woman suffrage was completely granted to so-called "weaker sex" who definitely have shown their ability and intelligence in solving political problems since 1920. These 7959 male voters in Newton never had a chance to decide whether they wanted preferential voting installed here. Those were the days when in the Newton Club, local

Associations Here Need A Closer Bond

Council of Improvement Associations Is Being Considered by Groups

The need for a closer bond between the various improvement associations of the City was emphasized at a meeting held at the Hunnewell Club. Present were representatives of organizations from the following districts: Auburndale, Elliot Hill, Newton Corner, Newtonville, Newton Upper Falls, Nonantum, Oak Hill District, Oak Hill Park and Waban.

As a result of this meeting steps are now being taken to create a Newton Council of Improvement Associations for the purpose of providing a medium for co-ordinating efforts of its member associations in consideration of problems affecting the City as a whole. It is not intended that the Council will concern itself with problems of a purely local nature, but there arise from time to time questions of interest to all which can be handled more efficiently and successfully through a central agency. A good example of this would be the unbalanced situation existing with regard to representation of the various wards in the City, about which some correction should be made in the next two years.

The organization committee has now prepared and distributed to each association a tentative constitution for consideration, and it is expected that about the end of February a meeting will be called to carry out the actual formation of the Council. Members of the committee handling arrangements are Arthur G. Heaney, Chairman, Oak Hill District; E. Sherman Chase, Auburndale; George Freedman, Newton Upper Falls; Wm. M. Powers, Newton; and Warren G. Reed, Waban.

To Hold Test for Motor Equipment Repairman

Chief John E. Corcoran has announced that a practical test will be held for the position of Motor Equipment Repairman for the Newton Fire Department.

Full data on this examination will be released by Chief Corcoran as soon as it is received from the Civil Service Commission.

New Male Aides to Meet Feb. 20

S. S. Pierce Co. to Employ 1000 People at New Warehouse Here

Executive Committee of Oak Hill Improvement Ass'n Takes Action Against Pending Petition

At a meeting of the Newton Lower Falls Improvement Association held at St. Mary's Church, Samuel C. Brown of the S. S. Pierce Company disclosed the plans of his company for its new building in Newton. He indicated that the proposed 300,000 square foot warehouse would be utilized for storing, assembling and distribution functions primarily.

The date for construction could not be given due to government restrictions, but plans are underway to go ahead as quickly as possible.

Perhaps the most interesting disclosure of Mr. Brown's talk was the fact that the new warehouse would employ approximately 1,000 people. In the discussion that followed, it was evident that the concern of the residents of Lower Falls is to find some means of access to the Grove street industrial area which would divert traffic away from the narrow end of the street between the Hamilton school and Washington street. Plans were made to have a special committee investigate and discuss this problem with City and State Highway Departments.

At the next meeting of the Association, it is anticipated that a representative of Jordan Marsh Company and the interested Newton city officials will be present.

Disabled Vet Approached About Matter

Atty. Rich Says He Will Name Names if Probe Of ABC Is Voted

Paul S. Rich, Newton attorney and a member of the Board of Aldermen, this week said that he possessed affidavits that charged a high state official" with offering $10,000 to a disabled veteran of Newton to withdraw an applicant for a liquor license in Newton.

Attorney Rich told the committee on Legal Affairs at the State House, that although he possessed affidavits to that effect he could not divulge the name of the state official.

Rich charged that one of his clients, a 90 percent disabled veteran, was approached by the president of a corporation that was to be formed and told him:

"I'd like to have you make an applicant (for an all purpose package good store) with me. We'll get it if you go in with me although it will be the ABC that grants it to us and not the Newton Licensing Board."

"There will be $10,000 in it for you if you go in with me or withdraw altogether, $5,000 in cash and $5,000 over a period of 10 years."

Rich said the disabled veteran asked where the $10,000 was coming from and the man replied:

"The $10,000 comes from a high state official."

Rich said the disabled veteran refused.

Rich also said he had affidavits concerning the $10,000 offer and was only withdrawing the name of the official because his clients already had their case before the courts. He added that if a special commission was established, he would furnish the commission with the affidavits.

State to Give $30,000 for Project Here

Newton will receive $30,000 State-aid for the Watertown street, Route 16, highway construction project under the provisions of Chapter 90 of the General Laws. State Commissioner William F. Callahan has announced.

The law provides that the state will pay one-half the cost of local highway construction for specified projects while the other half of the cost is shared by the county and city.

The biggest state allotment is for Worcester County with a sum of $1,227,800. Middlesex County was the second highest with a total of $914,800.

Jackson Homestead Announcement Made

The Jackson Homestead, Newton Civic Museum will be closed for 2 days next week, when it would normally be opened to the public. Because the Director, Mrs. Madeline Arnold will be attending conferences, there will be no visiting hours Thursday and Saturday, Feb. 21 and 23. The House will also be closed on Washington's birthday.

All Newton School Well Represented At National Guild Conference

The All Newton Music School was well represented at the Annual Conference of the National Guild of Community Music Schools which was held in New Haven, Connecticut from Friday, February 1, through Sunday February 3.

Those attending from Newton included Mrs. A. Philip Guile, president of the board of trustees, Mrs. George Arnold and Mrs. Henry Balos, chairman and vice-chairman of the Mothers' Auxiliary, Mrs. Mabel A. Worth, Miss Irene Forte, Mrs. Arthur Scipione, Mrs. John Starkweather, Miss Agnes Olson, Miss Marion Whiteley and Mrs. Charles Scipione, Jr., of the Music School Staff and Faculty.

The Neighborhood Music School of New Haven of which Mrs. Emily McCallip Adler is Director, was the hostess school. Delegates were present from Cleveland, Ohio, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Conference meetings with forums and round table discussions were held morning and afternoon on both Friday and Saturday. Between times, those attending the conference were entertained at tea on Friday at Saybrook College, a unit of Yale University, at dinner in the evening at the Lawn Club of New Haven, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Philip English, and at luncheon on Saturday at the Yale Faculty Club. There was also a brief tour of the Yale Campus followed by a seminar on contemporary music and composers in Sprague Hall of Yale Music College. This meeting was conducted by Quincy Porter, Professor of Composition and Theory, Yale School of Music. The annual business meeting and election of officers brought the conference to a close at one o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Officers elected were president: Howard Whitaker, Cleveland Music School, vice-presidents: Nicholas Van Slyk, South End Music Centre, Boston, and Miss Ann Gruen, Neighborhood Music School, New Haven; secretary-treasurer: Miss Marguerite Andrews, Music School Settlement, East Third street, New York City.

Newton Boys and Girls to Help Take Over "State Jobs"

Several boys and girls from Newton will hold ranking positions in the Student Government which will take over the State House March 14. The positions they will hold were determined at a recent glass bowl drawing in the Governor's office.

Nelson I. Crowther of 77 Day street, Auburndale, a student at the River Country Day School, will be the student counterpart of the Attorney General.

Other positions to be filled included Frederick Mahony, 28 Bristol road, Newton, a student at St. Sebastian's Country Day School, president of the Senate; Marjorie Malloy of 1401 Washington street, West Newton, a student at St. Bernard High School, on the committee of Administration and Finance; James E. Murphy, 1561 Washington street, Newtonville, a student at Our Lady's High School, director of Civil Service, while serving as Senators and Representatives will be George B. Sweeney, 9 Wallace street, Newton, a student at Lawrence Academy, 1st Middlesex District; and Anne Poyle, 12 Beechcroft road, Newton, a student at the Sacred Heart High School, Middlesex and Suffolk District.

News Sources Must Never Be Violated

Graphic Editor Says That Is A Cardinal Rule of A Good Newspaperman

John W. Fielding, editor of The Newton Graphic, was the guest speaker at the annual meeting of Kappa Psi, Graduate Chapter of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, which was held last Friday evening at the Simpson House, Newton Centre.

Commissioner Wilfred Chagnon of the State Board of Registration in Pharmacy, and a director of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, presented Mr. Fielding to the meeting.

In his talk on "The Role and Ethics of an Editor," Mr. Fielding stated that one of the cardinal rules of a good newspaperman is never to violate the confidence of his sources of news and never to permit personal feeling to sway a fair presentation of the facts. Only by adhering to these principles can an editor retain the confidence and respect of his reading public, Mr. Fielding emphasized.

He predicted that with the present trend of ever increasing costs of publication, both daily and weekly newspapers will of necessity either have to pool their facilities, combine their resources, or cease to exist.

There are no alternatives; the facts are plainly evident and only the strongest newspapers will be able to survive if costs continue upward, concluded Mr. Fielding.

Missionary Addresses Franklin School P.T.A.

Mrs. Walter Tong, Missionary worker for over ten years, was guest speaker at the Franklin School P. T. A. Tuesday, Feb. 12 at 8:00 p. m. She spoke on the Philippines and of some of her own experiences in a prison camp. She was interned with her children and finally liberated by American troops in 1945.

The Boy Scouts ran a cake sale at this P. T. A. meeting to raise funds for their treasury.

Bowen School P.T.A. Holds Gala Square Dance

Wednesday, February 13, at 8:00 p. m. the Bowen School P.T.A. held a gala square dance in honor of the opening of their new school at the end of the month, and in farewell to the old school. The evening promised to be a merry one, with a genuine square dance caller, gay dancing, light music and refreshments. This was probably the last Bowen School P.T.A. affair in the old school, and the dance committee, with Mrs. Edward Winston as chairman, working overtime to make it a memorable night.

3-Day Parley Held at Sacred Heart College

More than 120 delegates registered at the College of the Sacred Heart, Newton Centre last week for the three day New England regional meeting of the National Federation of Catholic College Students.

Neil Doherty of Merrimack College, N. H., presided at the opening business meeting where it was announced that the Regional Congress would be held at the Hotel Statler, Boston, May 2, 3 and 4.

William McSweeney of Boston College will be chairman of the Congress and the featured speaker will be Louis Budenz, former editor of the Daily Worker and now a teacher at the University of Notre Dame.

Saturday morning the delegates were addressed by Fr. William J. Kelley, O.M.I., a professor at the Catholic University, Washington, D. C., and labor advisor to the Department of Defense. Following Fr. Kelley's talk on "Industrial Relations," there was a Holy Hour followed in the afternoon by a social workshop.

We Owe It to Ourselves

Perhaps to many, Civil Defense preparedness is like the old story of "the boy who cried wolf." A lethargy seems to have thrown its net over the public mind.

"We went through all that preparedness business, during the last war," people say.
"There was immediate danger to our country, then; how can we be expected to be enthusiastic now, when we are not at war?"

Yes, we did drill long hours, we did plan and work, we did prepare—for something that never happened. And we hope that present preparedness will come to naught.
We hope that we will never have to care for war victims, or rebuild our homes, or make active use of rules and regulations established by our Civil Defense. May we never have to face the effects of an attack!

But we must know what to do in an emergency. We owe it to ourselves, our loved ones and our country. We must be prepared!
We are living in an atomic age. Every citizen should know the "atomic terror"— know it, and have a working knowledge of emergency measures. Drag the fear of it out into the open; in the daylight of understanding, let us prepare an intelligent, preventive program.

Newton's Civil Defense organization, directed by William J. Baxter, should have the support and co-operation of every citizen in this locale!

The fact that the public is not rallying to Civil Defense is a manifestation of the attitude that prevails.

Let us help the hand that will direct and aid us, should we ever be faced with an emergency.

Though we are not at war at this time,
the blood that is being spilled in Korea now, is just as important as that of the last war.
The boys who are dying "unofficially" are just as much gone to us, as though an official war had claimed them.

Though there are still some folks who feel "it can't happen here"—let us remember, "it" is happening to some of our boys in Korea. It's happening now!

Here, at home, let us prepare for emergencies, "official" or "off the record."

Herter Certain to Get GOP Nomination . . .

A lively scramble will be staged next fall for the congressional seat Christian A.
Herter will give up to run for Governor.
Democratic politicians believe that with Herter stepping out there is a possibility they may capture the post. The Republicans are determined to hold it against any challenge.

Former State Treasurer Laurence Curtis of the Back Bay, who had announced his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination, made a fast shift to withdraw from the race for the Governorship and enter the fight for Congress when Herter agreed to join with Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., in heading the Republican State ticket next fall.

Both State Senators Philip C. Bowker and Charles J. Innes had been mapping plans to seek promotion to Herter's seat when he relinquished it, but whether they will still do so in view of the hurried manner in which Curtis staked out a claim to the post is uncertain.

A free-for-all fight for the Democratic nomination is almost certain. Prospective candidates include Metropolitan District Commissioner Milton Cook of Roxbury, who served in the 22-man City Council, ex-Councillor Francis P. Tracey of Roxbury, who is now deputy State commissioner of veterans' services, and possibly Councillor-Representative Frederick C. Hailer, Jr., of Roslindale.

A young man who would be an extremely attractive candidate for a place in Congress under different circumstances is Representative Christian A. Herter, Jr., of Newton, one of the brightest prospects in the Republican party, who has commanded a great deal of favorable attention as a freshman legislator.

With his father carrying the Republican banner as the party's candidate for Governor, however, the younger Herter has little choice but to continue in the House of Representatives and bide his time for a more favorable opportunity to see political promotion.

The Republican leaders who waited upon Congressman Christian A. Herter must have advanced some convincing arguments in order to persuade him to run for Governor.
To political observers, the most surprising development behind Herter's entrance into the gubernatorial field was not that the G.O.P. brass sought him out but that he consented to make the fight.

Republican prospects for next fall's State election in Massachusetts unquestionably were brightened tremendously by Herter's announcement that he would accept his party's nomination for Governor.

With the exception of Senators Lodge and Saltonstall, he is probably the strongest Republican vote-getter in Massachusetts and next to Saltonstall he is the most attractive candidate the G.O.P. could have found to team with Lodge in the coming election.

There is little doubt that Herter will get the gubernatorial nomination without a serious struggle. Republican House Leader Charles Gibbons has stated that he will withdraw from the field and seek reelection to the Legislature if he is not endorsed by the G.O.P. State convention in June.

This means that the top Republican leaders will avoid a repetition of the costly primary fight which drained off potential party funds and opened wounds to set the stage for an easy Democratic victory in 1950.

Some criticism is being directed at the G.O.P. brass for blocking out the pattern of their State ticket before the delegates are even selected for their June convention, and there is a measure of grumbling from those who have been passed over.

Actually, however, the party chieftains are doing precisely what they said they would do in order to obtain the strongest Republican combination obtainable and at the same time conserve their strength for the battle with the Democrats.

A Republican slate headed by Senator Lodge standing for reelection, Congressman Herter as the candidate for Governor and State Senator Sumner G. Whittier as the nominee for Lieutenant Governor would be a strong combination.

An attempt will be made to secure a strong geographical balance and distribution, and it is very likely that the choice of the Republican bosses as their candidate for Attorney General will be former Assistant Attorney General George Fingold of Malden, who achieved quite a reputation as a racket-buster under Clarence A. Barnes.

It may be significant that Lodge and Herter are prominent in the Eisenhower camp. Lodge as national manager of the Eisenhower drive and Herter as co-chairman of the campaign for Ike in Massachusetts.
They obviously are hopeful that come next fall they will have the General as their Presidential standard-bearer in the battle to wrest the Bay State from the grasp of the Democrats.

What occasioned the surprise over the selection of Congressman Herter as the candidate for Governor and his willingness to assume that role is that Herter's greatest interest and activity have been in the field of foreign affairs, and his reputation has been largely achieved from his work with international problems.

His ambition normally would extend in the direction either of the U. S. Senate or the State Department rather than to the State House, although Herter made a distinguished record for himself as Speaker of the House of Representatives back in the late 1930's.

Herter already has proved himself an excellent vote-getter in his congressional district which takes in seven Boston wards, comprising about a third of the city, as well as the town of Brookline and the city of Newton. Whether he is well enough known in other sections of the State to stand up to a candidate of the stamp of Governor Paul
A. Dever or Secretary of Labor Maurice J.
Tobin is something that only time will tell.

He has built himself up steadily in his district since he first eked out a narrow victory following the retirement of former Congressman George Holden Tinkham from the public scene a decade ago.

There has been no secret as to the reason for Herter's success in holding his congressional seat even in the Democratic sweeps of 1944, 1948 and 1950.
He has worked hard. He has given his constituents good service, and he has established a reputation not alone for his ability but also his integrity as a public official.

In a year when he was chosen by Collier's Magazine as the outstanding Republican official in the nation, Herter found time to hold clinics in various parts of his district and meet personally with his constituents to listen to their problems and advise and assist them.

Even when his district was being carried by Governor Dever and President Truman in 1948 and again by Mr. Dever in 1950, Herter won election over his Democratic standard-bearer by a decisive margin, running far ahead of every other Republican nominee.

His problem between now and next November will be in selling himself to the voters of the other 13 congressional districts who don't know him as well as the people he has served for the past 10 years.

Manuel Meneses confessed in Lima, Peru, that the reason he had his four-year-old son christened 26 times in four years was that "each new godfather" was good for at least one loan.

After a switch engine rumbled over him while he was sleeping between railroad rails in Brownsville, Texas, Reyes explained to the engineer his reason for picking that spot snakes don't cross railroad tracks," he said.

Spinning Weathervanes

By WINFIELD C. ANDERSON

In a magnificent marble shrine, Daniel Chester French commemorated Abraham Lincoln in a sober, reflective mood. Surely one of America's greatest men, Lincoln lived and was prominent during crisis after crisis which demanded sober reflection.

Strangely enough, in February, 1952, crisis and reflection are closely allied, too.

Not too long ago there was a time when it was possible to look at the weathervane of current events and determine the status of social and political affairs. It seems, however, that today's winds blow from all quarters creating a maelstrom of mystery and muddle. The pilots, the navigators of our common destinies, social and political, are hard put to chart a course because of the weird gyrations of their guiding weathervanes.

The damp rot of political patronage, for example, has spread so extensively and penetrated so deeply that decency blanches in the face of it. Influence peddlers, tax evaders, bribe takers—and givers, sleazy statesmanship at nearly all levels of government—how much can a man's stomach take without churning?

The rearing twenties have long held the spotlights as an era of corruption and degeneration. Will future historians refer to this era as the fraudulent fifties and the futile forties when we won a war and peddled away permanent peace?

Today we know that crime syndicates with their systemized organization on a national basis, make Al Capone and his boys strictly small-time operators. These syndicates have corrupted the morals of our youth with narcotic peddling. They've made collegiate athletics a pawn for their own gambling convenience and profit. Bootlegging is back on a grand scale.

Where does it all lead?

Great empires, like the Roman, toppled when their leaders ignored the spinning weathervanes. Is America at the toppling point? Only the alarmist would say so. Certainly, though, it is time to haul rein on the rampaging runaway.

It's time for every man-jack to take his turn at steadying the spinning weathervane. We must vigorously support the agencies which are working against crime. We must use the precious right to vote judiciously so as to acquire the best possible municipal, state and federal government. We must be sure to instill in our children an incorruptible code of moral values. Divine faith should be renewed and reinvigorated—outwardly manifested at your place of worship.

It's high time we started to steer instead of drifting. Let's start now to stop the spinning weathervanes.

ABC Discussed at Meeting of Improvement Association

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newton Improvement Association was held at the Honeywell Club, Thursday, February 7. The meeting was called to order by President William Powers.

Representative George Rawson discussed the situation in regard to the Alcoholic Beverage Commission which has been over-ruling many of the recommendations made by the local licensing boards in the State.

He referred particularly to House Bill No. 1279, introduced by Representative Bailey, which would provide for a legislative committee to investigate this entire matter and to report back as to suggested legislation, if they find that any new laws are required.

Mr. Rawson said he was in favor of this bill and that he would appear in favor of it at Monday's meeting.

Motion was made by Kenneth Bauckman and passed that the Association go on record as favoring this House Bill and that Representative Rawson be empowered to record the Association as favoring it at the hearing.

There was considerable discussion on the matter of revising ward lines and it was voted to ask President Powers to appoint a committee of five to study this matter and to make such recommendations as they felt advisable. Mr. Powers appointed E. J.
Pease as chairman and William Hopkins as one member of the committee. He will announce the other three members of the committee shortly. Representative George Rawson was also asked to be a consultant to this committee.

In regard to the question of the Reis Association, it was reported that the attorneys have not received a complete digest of the judges' decisions as yet.

President Powers announced that the paving of Newton Corner stores would begin in April.
He also said that the clearing of snow from the sidewalks in front of Newton Corner stores was now being done promptly.

It was voted that the Newton
Corner Improvement Association would become a member of the Newton Council of Improvement Associations. This is a new Council which has just been organized which would help in coordinating the work of all improvement associations on those matters affecting the entire city. Two representatives from the Newton Corner Improvement Association will be appointed.

Preliminary plans were discussed for the next open meeting of the Newton Improvement Association which will be held during March. Details will be announced shortly.

The President appointed Miss

Rhoda White, Frank Wasson and Phillip Harrington as a Nominating Committee to report a slate of new officers and directors to the Annual Meeting in April.

The matter of a spring cleanup and paint-up campaign in Newton Corner was discussed at length and a committee consisting of Mrs. Morris Adler, Chairman, Kenneth Bauckman, Wilfred Chagnon and Miss Frances Chater, was appointed to study this matter and report with suggestions.

There was a lengthy discussion on the question of parking meters proposed for Newton Corner.

School Exchange Experiences Told at Recent Meeting

Miss Edith Rideout, faculty leader for Newton High School's Michigan and Maryland School and School Exchanges, talked to this year's group at a recent meeting. Miss Rideout told of the experiences of the first trips and stressed the lasting values of these memorable weeks. She gave the pupils who are planning their exchange visits many suggestions on travel and hospitality.

The paper drive for the Newton-Glebe Collegiate Exchange was favored by weather and generously supported by the friends of Newton High. Pupils, parents, and faculty leaders shared in the day's work and fun and were made happy by the success of the drive.

At noon, Mrs. Riley J. Hampton and co-workers in the Red Cross provided hospitality and refreshments at the Barn, the Newton Junior Red Cross meeting place.

"The school," says Miss Katherine Curtis, faculty leader, "appreciates the generous commu-ity aid. Unfortunately the day was too short and night had come before we were able to make all the numerous calls we had on our scheduled routes."

Committees for the School and School Exchange are now busy making plans for other activities. Members in these groups are:

Transportation—Nancy Bigelow, Jeannie Toscano, Donald Livingston.
Library—Joyce Dudley, John Parker.
Publicity and Public Relations—Margaret Eighmy, Jane Elkind, Nancy Neagle, Walter Goldstein, Arthur Veinott.

Ottawa—Shirley Conant, Marita Mower, Carol Bram, Andre Come, David deVico, Russell Winslow.

Finance—Joanne Kestle, Edyth Woodroffe, Robert Cooper, George Howland, Ward Wetherell.
Photography—Matthew Budd, Recorder—Martha Van Deman, Visitors' Activities—Sylvia Bond, Carolyn Jones, Beverly Mulock, Robert Danziger, Henry Gaffney, Theodore Johnson.

Money-Making Day To Be Held Here

Once again it is Newton Highlands Girl Scouts' Money-Making Day! This is the day we need your support to help your children!

At 7:30 p.m. tomorrow (Friday) in the Newton Highlands Congregational Church Parish House, there will be a dessert-card party. Home-made cake, made by Scout mothers, and coffee or tea donated by the Quincy branch of the Nestle's Company of Boston, and cream donated by Deerfoot Farms, will be served. Bridge or canasta tables will be made up afterwards. There will be a "Teen-Age" Corner where the teenagers may play canasta, monopoly or clues. All this for just a small fee!

The chairman of this committee are Mrs. Thomas Eayrs Jr., and Mrs. James Dearborn, assisted by Mrs. Nelson Churchill, Mrs. C. C. Bailey, Mrs. Walter Betts, Mrs. Kenneth Moir, Mrs. Charles Parker, Mrs. Douglas MacLean, Mrs. Arthur Wilson, Mrs. William Boyd, Mrs. Clifford Dow, Jr., Mrs. Theodore Paul and Mrs. William Lowrie.

Community Service Club To Meet Next Wednesday
The Community Service Club of West Newton, will meet Wednesday, Feb. 20 at 1:00 p.m., at the Unitarian Parish House. Dessert-coffee will be followed by a business meeting. "The Ministry of Laughter" will be presented by Mrs. Thomas Rudkin.

'Understanding Adolescents' Is Topic of Talk to P.T.A.

Professor J. Roswell Gallagher, Physician-in-charge of the Adolescent Unit of the Children's Medical Center, addressed the Frank A. Day Parent Teachers Association on Wednesday evening, February 13 at the school auditorium, 100 Walnut street, Newtonville. It was announced by Robert Warren Katz, Program Chairman.

Dr. Gallagher, whose recent book "Understanding Your Son's Adolescence," has been unusually well received, is assistant professor of Child Health at Harvard University School of Public Health and is widely known and recognized as an authority in this field.

His subject was "Understanding Adolescents" and was of special interest to parents of teen age and pre-teen age children. President Robert Toher conducted the business meeting at 8 p.m.

Parents Meet to Hear of Plans

Parents of the boys and girls in this year's school and School Exchange met Monday evening at the Red Cross Chapter House. Faculty and Junior Red Cross leaders were present to answer questions from the parents and to help in organizing both the money-earning activities and the program of entertainment for the guests from Glebe Collegiate Institute, Ottawa.

Mrs. Alfred B. Terkelson, chairman of the rummage sale for the Newton-Clarks Summit Exchange, 1951 and Mrs. C. David Gordon, in charge of publicity, spoke of their experiences last year, stressing the excellent cooperation and good times the parents and pupils had while working together. Plans were made for a banner rummage sale to help defray the traveling and entertainment expenses of this year's exchange.

Submarine power plants are similar in capacity and operation to those used by modern diesel-driven trains.

Attends Com'unity Relations Meeting

Larry Anderson, a teacher at Newton High School, went to a meeting at the Edith Baker School in Brookline last Saturday. The conference on the Community Relations Committee of the Town of Brookline was the first of its kind. It was conceived by the Community Relations Committee as a means of focusing public attention on the ways in which Brookline people can improve their relations with each other. The committee encouraged civic organizations, churches and other groups to improve various relations.

Paul Simons, chairman of the committee, presided at the meeting.

Dr. Martin P. Chworowsky, director of the Albert Greenfield Center for Human Relations at the University of Pennsylvania, gave the opening address on "Building Better Community Relations." He supervised nine discussion workshops. There were many other activities. The conference started at 9:30 and concluded at 2:30.

To Present 'Bright Shadows' Feb. 29

"Bright Shadows," a three-act play of detection by J. B. Priestley, will be presented by The Newton Players, Inc., on February 29 and March 1, at the Newton High School auditorium, under the direction of Miss Nancy M. Whitman.

In this, their second production of the current season, The Newton Players, Inc., again present a play not previously given in this part of the country.

Pledge Blood for Brotherhood Week

The American National Red Cross and the Department of Defense have been working closely with the National Conference of Christians and Jews in over-all planning for the promotion of "Brotherhood Week," February 17-23. This campaign sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews will carry as its major theme "Blood for a Brother."

People are urged to pledge donations of blood and will have an opportunity to make a blood donation during the coming visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile in Newton.

This visit will take place on February 26 and 27 at the Newtonville Methodist Church. Hours for donating blood will be 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Please call your Newton Chapter LA 7-6000 or BI 4-9590 to make an appointment.

Newton Centre

Robert Giddings, pianist, son of Mrs. Harold G. Giddings and the late Dr. Giddings, will give a recital at the New England Conservatory Hall Friday evening, February 29 at 8:30 o'clock. The program will include works by Bach, Schubert, Franck, Ronsseel, and Brahms.

Mrs. Matt B. Jones Jr., Elected Head of Newton District Nursing Ass'n

Mrs. Matt B. Jones, Jr., was elected president of the Newton District Nursing Association at their annual meeting held at Newtonville Library Monday, at which representatives of other Newton agencies and neighboring Visiting Nursing Associations, were guests.

"Prevention of Unnecessary Sickness," was the subject of the speaker, Dr. Vlado Getting, Massachusetts Commissioner of Public Health. He stressed the fact that people are living longer today and must be taught to want to keep well and that health cannot be taken for granted. He proved that the public were being educated by reading from many articles in current newspapers. Dr. Getting traced public health to the days of epidemics of yellow fever and smallpox brought in on ships from foreign ports and the fact that Paul Revere was our first health commissioner. He told the necessity of giving children good starts in health by immunizations and vaccinations, of good dental care and the vital part nutrition plays in health. He told how accidents in the home took the greatest toll. Due to longer life more chronic illnesses such as cancer and heart disease required more nursing. The Mass Screening Program for finding disease early, the splendid work done for Alcoholics and work in mental illnesses were ably discussed by Dr. Getting.

The yearly report of the secretary, Mrs. Worthing West and the treasurer, Mrs. Harry N. Guterman were read followed by Chairmen of the following committees: Mrs. Matt Jones, Nursing, Mrs. Edgar Holmes, Well Baby Conferences, Mrs. E. K.

Mentzer, Hospitality, Mrs. Joseph B. Jamieson, Household, Mrs. Stanley Anderson, Comfort Fund, Mrs. Horatio Rogers, Research, Mrs. James Palmer, Education, Mrs. Ralph Keyes, Public Relations, Miss Hilga Nelson, Executive Director, gave an insight into the needs of 1952. A rising vote of thanks and appreciation to the retiring president, Mrs. Thomas Lanman and the secretary, Mrs. Worthing West for their untiring work, was given.

No Place for a Heavy Foot!

You'd find it out, in a mile or so, even if we failed to tell you. But we think it's best if we tell you now——you must treat the accelerator with special respect when you drive the Golden Anniversary Cadillac!

Down under the hood of this gorgeous car is the most powerful engine ever used in standard American production.

So take it easy—wherever you drive.

Don't use that power to bolt away when the light turns green—and other cars have their ways to make in the traffic lanes beside you. And never use it for unnecessary speed, or for dominating the highway.

Use it, instead, for the thing it was put there for——use it to give you that easy, floating, comforting ride, which can come only when your engine is "loafing," and most of its power is in luxurious reserve——use it to give you that "shot ahead" when an opening shows in the traffic line—or when your safety calls for a blast of power—

—use it for a thrilling sense of mastery over car and time and space—

—use it, in short, for happiness and luxury—and for adding satisfaction to every mile you drive.

As you would expect, this amazing performance is but one of the wonderful virtues that have been added to the Golden Anniversary Cadillac.

There is marvelous new beauty—inside and outside. There is a wholly new type of power steering—available as optional equipment at extra cost. And there are literally scores of refinements and improvements of vital importance.

For its "year of years," Cadillac has certainly built its "car of cars."

Come in and see it—whether you feel you are ready for a Cadillac or not. It's an inspiration to inspect it—and an experience to drive it.

But if you do drive it, please remember—it's no place for a heavy foot!

Newton Art Association Announce 2nd Annual Exhibition Feb. 15-March 1

The Newton Art Association is holding its 2nd Annual Exhibition of Paintings at the R. H. Stearns department store in Chestnut Hill from February 15th to March 1st inclusive. A jury of three members of the Boston Guild of Artists chose fifty pictures from all those submitted which include landscapes, marines, still life and portraits in oil, water color, pastel, and ink.

The Newton Art Association was formed about three years ago with about fifteen members and under James K. Bonnar as President, the membership grew to 55. By the end of the 2nd year there were nearly 85 members and under the leadership of Sherwood Blodgett, larger quarters were needed. Now nearing the end of its 3rd year there are 100 active members with a small waiting list. Anyone interested in art may become an associate member, attend all the meetings and take part in nearly all the activities of the Association.

Probably the most interesting activity of the club is its "Artists at Work" night where the members demonstrate to the public how they paint a picture. As a matter of fact, the Association holds the record for attendance for an affair of this kind when last year in one evening over 400 persons attended the event held in the Newtonville Women's Club. This year the demonstration will be at the Newton Centre Women's Club on April 3rd where the auditorium is three times as large. In connection with the event, paintings done by the artists at work will be on exhibition.

At the last meeting the guest artist was George Dinkel of Rockport who lectured and demonstrated in the poster paint method of painting, a medium similar to casein. His subject, "Gloucester Boats," the effectiveness of this type of painting was evident by the resulting picture when placed in its frame. An exhibition of oil paintings depicting landscapes by H. Storey Granger is now being

Also, at the Newton Highlands Library, Mrs. Mattie Whittemore is exhibiting her recent paintings in oil of New England landscapes. Mr. Granger and Mrs. Whittemore are both members of the Newton Art Association.

Final Dance to Be Held Wednesday

The third and last dance of the Normandie Room series will be held Wednesday. The committee has worked hard to make the affair a lift for midwinter doldrums. Harry Marshall's orchestra will furnish the music. There will be novelty dances, prizes and refreshments will be served.

Patronesses for these dances are: Mrs. Ernest G. Angevine, Mrs. Julian D. Anthony, Mrs. Elwood T. Dickinson, Mrs. Thomas H. Peterson, Mrs. Maxwell H. Robson, Mrs. Neil W. Swinton, Mrs. Albert B. Terkelson, Mrs. Walter T. Tower, Mrs. Randall W. Weeks and Mrs. Stafford H. Witte.

Reservations may be made through Mrs. Garfield L. Drew, Bigelow 4-4210.

Hear Interesting Legal Affairs Talk

Members and guests of the West Newton Women's Educational Club heard a very interesting and helpful talk on legal problems of today given last Friday, by Mrs. Norman Alden Downs. Mrs. Downs studied at B.U. and Northeastern Law School and has been lecturing before many organizations since getting her degrees.

The meeting was held in the Second Church Parish House, West Newton and was well attended. Mrs. Donald Moody conducted the business meeting and Mrs. Sidney Williamson program chairman introduced the speaker. Dessert was served at 1 P.M. by the hostesses, Mrs. Dudley Thornbury and Mrs. John Marsh. Pourers at the tea and coffee tables were Mrs. Werner Nelson, Mrs. Chester MacDowell and Mrs. Peter Capodanno.

Dr. Gilkey to Speak At Meeting Mon.

"Managing An Overburdened Life" is the subject on which Dr. James Gordon Gilkey will speak at the regular meeting of the Newton Community Club Monday, at Grace Church, Newton.

Preceding Dr. Gilkey's lecture, dessert will be served at 1:30, followed by a business meeting at 2:00. A Congregational minister, Dr. Gilkey is pastor of the South Congregational Church in Springfield, Massachusetts.

Engagement Announced

The engagement of Miss Darcie Lorraine Rachlin to Sydney Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gordon of Newton, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Rachlin, of Brookline. Her fiancé served for three years with the United States Navy during World War II. A summer wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Spectre Open Home for Musicale, Tea

Last Sunday afternoon from four to six, the Harry S. Spectres opened their home, 143 Monadnock road, to the Needham Junior Music Club, of which their son, David is a member, for a Silver tea and Musicale for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund. Mabel P. Friswell, advisor of the club was mistress of ceremonies and presented each soloist.

The young performers included Lois Worrey, Carole Taylor, Dorothy Horsfield, and Myrna Robinson, sopranos; Wilhelmina Richwagen, contralto; Peter Spectre, violinist; Peter Noonan, baritone; Barry Nickerson, boy soprano; Donna Spectre, pianist; Shirley Kent, pianist; and David Spectre, pianist. Following the delightful hour of music, the hostess was assisted by Miss Friswell, Louise Haskell, and the president of the club, Lois Worrey, in serving tea. Ralph Shannon, Robert Austin and Myrna Robinson served as ushers, for the 50 guests who enjoyed a most delightful afternoon of music by the Juniors.

Nineteenth Annual Show of Newtonville Group, March 14

This Monday tickets for the 19th Annual Show of the Newtonville Group will go on sale under the direction of Mr. Milton P. Young, 999 Washington street, Newtonville. Mr. Young has been connected with scouting for the last three years serving as Chairman for Pack 6, Neighborhood Commissioner, and Vice-President of the Newtonville Group.

Gives Talk on 'The Human Lincoln'

Monday, the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D.A.R., held its monthly meeting in the Chapter House, Newton Lower Falls. Special guests of honor were Mrs. James S. Hepburn, state vice regent, and Mrs. C. Lawrence Hageman, state curator. After the regular meeting, conducted by Regent Mabel Hagen, Prof. Kenneth Bernard of the History Department of Boston University spoke on the subject, "The Human Lincoln."

Prof. Bernard has charge of the University's Lincoln Collection and is an authority on Lincolniana. Although we are familiar with the qualities which made Lincoln the man he was, and which contributed so largely to the preservation of our country and its ideals, Prof. Bernard chose his facts so well and presented them so sympathetically that it was an hour of real inspiration.

During the social hour which followed the meeting a most attractive Valentine tea was served by the hostesses: Mrs. James G. Patterson, Mrs. Herbert F. Hatch, Mrs. Harris C. Shelley, Mrs. J. Walter Allen, Mrs. Ellis J. Robinson, Mrs. William D. McKeller, Jr., Mrs. Henry Johnson, Mrs. Charles Kepner, Mrs. Theodore Nixon, Mrs. William B. Arnold, Mrs. J. E. Masters, with Mrs. Alton Miller and Mrs. Harold W. Knowlton as co-chairmen.

Savings Bank Tax A Levy on Thrift

Repeal of the one half of one per cent tax on savings bank deposits was urged last Friday by spokesmen for the institutions, but State Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long suggested that if that were done, the tax exemptions on investment of deposits should also be repealed. The tax yields approximately $400,000 a year.

Rep. George E. Rawson (R-Newton) denounced the tax as a levy on "thrift" and pointed out that the tax is not assessed on cooperative banks and federal savings and loan associations.

1951 and 1952. His son, John A. Young, who is a cub, is a member of Pack 6, Den I, of Newtonville.

The 19th Annual Show of the Newtonville Group will take place at the Newton High School Auditorium, March 14, at 8 p. m. It will consist of four professional vaudeville acts; a guest speaker, Chief of Police Philip Purcell; a sport celebrity; and a parade of Scouting Units. All the money received from this show is used to give financial assistance to the Cub Packs and Scout Troops in Newtonville, for the maintenance of their cabins at Nobscot Reservation in Sudbury, the camping area owned by the Norumbega Council, B. S. A.

All tickets are sold by cubs and scouts of Newtonville who vie with each other for top honors in salesmanship. At the end of the show the scout and cub who has sold the greatest number of tickets in his troop or pack is presented a prize by the sport celebrity of the show.

The young and inexperienced cub or scout will ring a doorbell and greet you with a timorous "Wanna Buy A Ticket?" He is too shy to explain the show and its purpose but it is his way of telling you how anxious he is to sell as many tickets as possible so that he can participate in the prizes that will be offered to top salesman in each unit.

Spotlight on the Newtons

By RALPH AND TUNNI COOLIDGE

Last Saturday morning, in the Civil Defense Building, Newtonville, the Radiation Monitoring division of Civil Defense held its fifth meeting. It was significant that in these times, a group of community-minded citizens should gather to heed the call of danger to the atom bomb and its effects.

Men had gathered from Newton and five surrounding towns for this series of meetings, to prepare for any emergency that the atom age may bring. They were briefed on the use of ionization chambers, named the "Cutie Pie" SU 10 or 1, the much publicized Geiger Muller Counter, and Isodose Rate Curves, which were drawn.

Dr. Albert E. Navez, co-ordinator for Region 5, presented a problem in discovering radioactive material. He placed a platinum needle with radium in a glass cylinder, which in turn was placed in a tumbler and placed on the grounds of the Civil Defense Building. Using the Geiger Muller Counter and "Cutie Pie," the men were able to seek out the radioactive needle. Seemingly a modern version of "finding the needle in the haystack," problems such as these enable monitoring teams to become adept in the handling of situations pertaining to radioactivity and its dangers.

Why are radiation monitoring teams extremely important to Civil Defense? These teams are trained to determine boundaries of areas that are contaminated. They also keep a record of radioactive decay. In case of an atomic blast, they will set up safety lines, place signs (determining period of contamination), notify headquarters of need for rescue crews, police, fire, water, departments, etc., of particular needs in the area.

Regional monitoring consultants in each of the nine Civilian Defense Regions are responsible for area monitoring and the training of the teams, and the training of the instructors of Service Monitoring. This is done under the direction of the Chief of the Monitoring Section of the Medical and Health Division.

Newton is the headquarters of sector-5 (Brookline, Dover, Needham, Waltham, Watertown, Wellesley, and Weston) which is in Region 5. Region 5 includes Boston and 42 cities and towns. Strategically situated, Newton is the focal point of defense for this area and the state.

New Course to Be Offered on Jewish Living

Will Be Held at Temple Emanuel Beginning on Wednesday, Feb. 20

A new course, entitled "Meet the Experts," a blueprint for Jewish living today, will be offered to all adults and young people who register at the second semester of the Temple Emanuel School of Jewish Studies, Newton Centre, which begins Wednesday, February 20.

This course, which meets from 9 to 10 p.m., in the Temple building, will offer as the first lecture and discussion leader, Robert E. Segal, Director of the Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan.

He will discuss, "What the MacIvor Report Means to You." On successive Wednesday evenings, experts will include Dr. Ben Zion Bokser, spiritual leader of the Forest Hills Jewish Center, New York; Sol Kolack, director of the Anti-Defamation League, New England Region; Dr. Abraham G. Duker, noted sociologist and editor; Dr. Talcott Parsons, chairman of the Department of Social Relations, Harvard University; and Dr. Maurice L. Zigmund, director, Hillel Foundation, Harvard University.

Three courses in Hebrew, for beginner, intermediate and advanced students, will be offered from 8 to 9 p.m. The instructors, respectively, for these three classes are Cantor Gabriel Hochberg, Dr. Martin Goldstein and Mr. Carl Cohen.

Dr. Albert I. Gordon will continue his lectures on "The Romance of a People," a survey of Jewish history from 586 B.C.E. to the year 70 C.E. This course, will also be offered at 8 p.m. Those desiring to register for these courses are invited to do so on the night of February 20. The semester will continue for a period of six weeks and a coffee hour will conclude each session.

Heads Bachrach Associates

Edmund Jaskulski, printer, was elected president of the Bachrach Associates at their 24th Annual meeting held last night at the Bachrach Finishing Laboratory, 44 Hunt street, Newton. Mr. Jaskulski succeeds James Purcell, head of the Candy Department, who has been in office three years.

Joseph Merrill, head of proof retouching, was chosen vice-president; Angeline Cedrone, adjustment, is the new secretary; and Anthony Antonellis, accounting, was re-elected treasurer.

The four new directors chosen include Alton P. Davis, assistant superintendent in charge of finishing; Ingrid Forsberg, printer; Marion Hall, inspector; and Russell Lowell, head of the printing department. Mr. Lowell has been in the employ of Bachrach since 1915, and has served almost continuously on the Associates' Board since its inception in 1927.

New A&P Super Market Is Enthusiastically Welcomed

The new A&P Super Market at Walnut and Beacon streets is receiving an enthusiastic welcome from local residents since its opening last weekend. Hundreds of shoppers visited the ultra-modern food center designed for the maximum in shopping convenience.

A battery of news photographers were on hand for the formal opening last Thursday morning, formerly at the old A&P in Newton Highlands, received congratulations from a host of friends and company officials.

Vice-president Joseph W. Kelly of the company's Boston unit and General Superintendent Charles A. Whipple were on hand to observe opening activities. Lawrence M. Cazaayous, president of the New England Division of A&P also visited the new outlet.

Almost without exception, store visitors commented on the various merchandising innovations featured by the A&P. Most shoppers were amazed at the efficiency of the self-service operation with the long row of check-out stands, the novel bundle conveyor and departments for cosmetics, housewares and magazines being widely acclaimed.

From now through March 1 a total of 90 valuable prizes including a television set, bicycles, toasters and scores of other gifts will be awarded to visitors. Company officials announced that everyone is eligible to participate in the drawings and winners need not be present when their names are called. There are no purchase requirements in order to share in the awards.

With the opening on Thursday, Louise Morgan, popular WNAC-TV star, visited the store. Miss Morgan obligingly signed autographs requested by many of her viewers and chatted amiably with scores of women.

Bill Would Remove Judges Disbarred As Lawyer

Senator Lee Says Courts Can't Avoid Disrepute Unless Standards High

Senator Richard H. Lee (R-Newton) stated Monday he had filed a bill calling for the removal of any Bay State judge who is disbarred as a lawyer. Said Lee: "It is a shocking thing that a man who is disbarred as unfit to be an attorney could under our laws nevertheless sit in judgment on other people as a judge. A blind spot in our law permits a judge to remain in office even though he has been disbarred as an attorney after a hearing in the Supreme Court."

"Our courts cannot avoid disrepute at least as high as those of other states unless their standards are at least as high as those of the lawyers who practice before them. To correct this situation, I have filed a bill which would automatically remove any judge who was disbarred from practice as an attorney."

Things you'd like to know about your Railroad

THE CENTRAL IDEA

Reading time: 700 tons

NEW YORK CENTRAL SYSTEM

- THAT'S RIGHT! While you are reading this brief advertisement, an average of 700 tons of freight will start moving on New York Central. And those tons add up fast. They total more than fifteen million tons a month. And they travel an average of about 500 miles.
- 332 TRAINS A DAY move this mountain of freight. Solid, mile-long trains of hopper cars taking coal from mines to Great Lakes docks... or box cars hauling grain from elevators to mills. Mile-a-minute merchandise trains. Mixed freight trains carrying almost everything you buy, sell or use.
- ANYTHING, ANY TIME! Food for your table or fuel for your furnace... heavy machinery for your factory or tubes for your TV. The mass shipments that big trucks won't touch... the winter freight that frozen waterways can't move. Your Railroad is your ONLY all-purpose, all-year carrier!
- TRY TO IMAGINE America's huge mass production savings without railroads to move raw materials and deliver finished goods. Of an average dollar you spend, rail freight takes only a few cents... and saves you far more than it costs. Yes, carrying things at a bargain is the CENTRAL IDEA!

Now is the time to modernize your bathroom... to add a powder room... to streamline your kitchen... to fix up your laundry. "HIGHWAY 5" SAFETY DRIVE

Stop Sign—These have a distinctive shape (octagon) and the color of a warning sign (yellow). The Stop Sign not only notifies the motorist of a regulation that must be observed, but warns him of a potential hazard as well.

This fellow is named "OCTY."

Regulatory Sign—These signs are used to aid the enforcement of laws and regulations. They are white and rectangular. Information such as speed limits, parking regulations and traffic directions are given.

Warning Sign—These, as the name implies, are used for the purpose of warning traffic of hazardous conditions either on or adjacent to the road. Warning signs require caution and call for the reduction of speed on the part of the motorist. These signs are yellow and diamond shaped.

This fellow is named "DIMEY."

Railroad Advanced Warning Sign—Because railroad grade crossings present an extreme hazard, a circular, yellow warning sign is used. It is normally placed 300 to 500 feet in advance of the grade crossing.

Railroad Crossbuck Sign—The crossbuck sign is white with the words RAILROAD CROSSING in black lettering. This sign is erected on the right-hand side of the roadway on each approach to the crossing.

REGISTRAR KING ENDORSES SAFETY DRIVE

EDITOR, NEWTON GRAPHIC:

The dedication January 18, 1952 of the first in a series of Traffic Signs, erected for the purpose of acquainting the motoring public with the shape and meaning of Traffic Signs and thereby helping to reduce accidents, is but another worthwhile activity of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

As Registrar of Motor Vehicles for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, may I say that this latest interest on the part of the Jaycees is but a continuance of the complete cooperation the Jaycees have extended the Registry and me. The cooperation extended by this worthwhile organization to Chief Purcell and the Newton Police Department in their efforts to reduce death and injury to the highway users of Newton has made the department's task that much easier.

Cooperation is the keynote of success in Accident Prevention; cooperation by the motoring and walking public, cooperation of firms and organizations with the officials charged with Highway

Accident Prevention make for success of the whole program.

The dedication last week showed without question that such cooperation is a fact in Newton. The press, radio, civic organizations in the person of the Jaycees, plus representatives of the City Government, Safety Council, Police Department and Registry of Motor Vehicles dedicated this sign together, thereby setting an example of interest in the common problem of Highway Safety for others to follow.

This five-week campaign of acquainting all with the shape and meaning of traffic signs will do an inestimable amount of good.

My sincere thanks to the Jaycees, the Newton Graphic, the city officials and Chief Purcell and his department for this worthwhile project.

Sincerely,

Rudolph J. King

Police Blotter

Officer Sullivan reported finding two boys, aged nine and ten, wandering around Newton Centre square at 2 a.m. The nocturnal travelers were clad in pajamas and slippers. A Newton police car returned the lads to their parents.

The secretary of the Newton YMCA reported that two globes, 12 inches in diameter, that adorn the ornamental columns in front of the building were removed from their moorings last Tuesday night. The same incident occurred on Jan. 15 of this year.

A new home under construction on Garrison street was broken into on Jan. 26. Discovered missing were two electric light fixtures, valued at $55; one keg of nails, valued at $15; and a carpenter's $20 plane.

Mt. Ida School students were treated to an expose last Wednesday when a man described as 40, 5-10, stocky, dark hair, round soft face, and wearing a slouch hat and camel hair coat, showed depraved tendencies. He was driving an old blue convertible car.

A set of concrete antlers, measuring 18 inches across, were taken from a concrete deer at the rear of a home last Friday night. Stray deers were ruled out when neighbors reported they heard footsteps in the back yard around 11 p.m. Friday night.

The Oak Hill School was broken into between the hours of 4 p.m. on Sunday and 8 a.m. Monday. Damage was done to some chemistry equipment, 16 windows smashed and the supply room ransacked and supplies thrown about. Entrance was forced through a second story window, reached by climbing onto a one story adjoining section. Nothing was reported taken.

Exeter street woman complained that at 4 p.m. Sunday she received a telephone call from a Chinese restaurant in Boston that it was sending her five pounds of chop suey she said she had ordered. Officers called the restaurant to verify the call and found that no such order had been placed. Sgt.

Bell assigned Officer Ganley to watch the property because the lady reported that the Communists were bothering her. (She's not alone in that respect.)

Police broke up a petting party on Russell road Sunday night on the complaint of a resident.

Preventive Maintenance Dept.—Police have been asked to watch for excessive speeding between Newtonville and West Newton in the morning and early evening.

Asked what he was up to at 1:30 Friday morning, a 16-year-old adventurer said he was running away from home. The lad's father was called in to take the boy home.

After asking for an appraisal on two vases at a Newton Corner antique shop two weeks ago, a woman described as in her 30's left the shop and has not been heard from since. Vases are at the shop for the woman or the money due her.

Sgt. Bell, Yanco and Foley, with the assistance of Officers Longbottom, Maflola, Marino, Casavant and Duffy were called in to subdue an 18-year-old youth that was running amok with a knife. He had already attacked his younger brother and his mother said this had happened before. The youth was taken to Westboro State Hospital on a 10-day commitment.

Hunnewell Club Announces Sunday Musicales Feb. 17

Members of the Hunnewell Club and their friends are invited to a Musicales, Sunday, Feb. 17, at 4:00 p. m. The program will consist of piano selections, played by Miss Hazel Hallett and groups of songs by Mrs. Eunice L. Corfman, contralto. Miss Hallett is a well known Boston pianist and teacher and has given pleasure to former audiences at the Hunnewell Club.

Mrs. Leo E. Davison will act as hostess at the tea following the music. Mrs. Harry D. Lord and Mrs. Mason H. Stone, Jr., wives of the vice-president and treasurer of the Club, respectively, will pour.

Mission-

Having flown with the Far East Air Force's pioneer jet combat group of the war since June of 1951 he has been ravaging enemy rail lines and truck convoys with 500 and 1000 pound bombs and 50 caliber ammunition. In addition he worked in close tactical support of United Nations ground forces by strafing and napalming enemy troops and installations.

Lieutenant Williams can remember, "as if it were yesterday" sighting five locomotives in a rail marshalling yard at Suncheon. One or two locomotives are considered a rare find by Shooting Star pilots, but five — a made to order target.

"I guess the Reds knew they were offering us a perfect setup," said Williams, "because the moment they saw us, anything that could shoot was aimed at us and firing."

The flight peeled off one by one — came screaming down through the intense flak at the rail yard, dropping its bombs at both ends. "We cut the rails so the engines couldn't get out while we worked them over," said Lieutenant Williams.

With the five locomotives trapped, the flight took one engine each, and emptied their 50 caliber ammunition into them.

"Flak was so thick," said Williams, "we figured if we stayed around any longer our luck would run out. We gave the engines one last riddling and got out of there fast — and without a scratch. Looking back, I could hardly see the five locomotives which were covered by clouds of steam from the punctured boilers."

Lieutenant Williams has been with the United States Air Force for two years. He attended Boston University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Williams of 11712 Montana avenue, Los Angeles, California.

License-

Rich said the Newton Licensing Board awarded the package goods license to his two clients but that the AB overruled the local board, and granted it to another organization.

Earlier, Rich had told the committee that one applicant for a liquor license in the West Newton section had been turned down every year starting with 1945 through 1949. The applicant, Rich said, proposed to set up his place of business three doors away from an existing liquor store. In all these cases, Rich said, the ABC upheld the local licensing board's decision.

However, Rich added, in 1950 the man again applied. He was turned down by the local board but the AB overruled and awarded him the license. His store was still only three doors away from an existing liquor store, Rich said.

Rich said the applicant never even appeared before the Newton Licensing Board in 1950. But when his petition was turned down, he appealed, Rich declared. When the Newton Board asked the ABC for an explanation of their ruling they were told the license had been awarded to the man "to better serve public convenience."

and police safety officer Charles E. Feeley, together with Father Tobin, composed an informal panel to answer questions and clarify the duties of radiation monitors. Warning signs, which would be set up in danger areas, problems of the fire department, police and water departments, were discussed.

Those who attended were key men from Newton and surrounding towns. After completing their course with Civil Defense, they in turn will compose radiation monitoring teams and conduct efficiency drills. They are active in Civil Defense in their own local areas; namely, Newton, Everett, Needham, Waltham, Watertown and Dover.

Dr. Navez conducted practice in detection of radio active material through use of instruments. He presented the group with several problems which they worked out themselves.

William J. Baxter, director of Civil Defense, expressed projected plans for the defense of Newton, which will be announced at a later date.

For further information on radiation monitoring and civil defense, see "Spotlight on the Newtons," this issue.

and this year's movement to place further checks on the unlimited discretion of the welfare services reflects the same growing popular distrust of governmental activities as they are carried on at present, he said.

Whether it be the right to limited public inspection of welfare records—or the growing sentiment for municipal home rule, this popular distrust of remote official action is being translated into demands that the people themselves take over direct checks and control of local governmental acts affecting them at home.

It is by organizing into informal and vigorous groups such as responsible Taxpayers' Associations that well-considered laws and administrative procedures can be developed to correct governmental abuses, and to make good men not so hard to find, in the citizens' opinion of official life, Muther concluded.

Foreign Missions, will speak tonight (Thursday), at a parish supper to be held in the Eliot Congregational Church, Newton. Dr. McKeith has made two administrative tours, including the Philippines, Japan, Africa, Turkey and other parts of the Near East since he became Executive Vice President of the American Board in 1948.

"The liberation of men's minds and the rise of their self-esteem around the world has been due in no small degree to the work of Christian missions," says Dr. McKeith after seeing first-hand the results of this work and the necessity of continuing to help train Christian nationals in leadership and aid them financially until they are able to assume full responsibility.

former member of the local Board of Aldermen. He is serving on several committees in the Senate including Departmental Rules and Regulations, Judiciary, Legal Affairs, Public Service, and Taxation.

An attorney, Senator Lee was graduated from Bowdoin College and Harvard Law School and was a teacher at Colby Junior College and Northeastern University. He has been active here in Boy Scouts, Community Club and the Y.M.C.A. He is married and has two children.

There is also talk in political circles that State Representative Christian A. Herter Jr., son of the Congressman, might be induced to seek the nomination to succeed his father as 10th District Congressman but to date he has given no indication of his intentions.

sition of solving the ills of the existent preferential system.

It is archaic, outmoded, non-understandable in its operation, both to the voters and election officials alike. In fact, it never served the purpose for which its installation was originally intended back in 1916.

It was forced—and I repeat forced—upon a gullible citizenry of Newton by legislative act to establish a system of voting in Newton to allow a minority candidate, one of the chosen few, by way of second and third choices to possibly defeat the late ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs. His continued re-election to office proved the fallacy of the "thinkers" who invented it. In 1924, sensing their inability to perform their act or to give false proof to the electorate of their liberal, progressive attitude, they engineered a city-wide referendum, again by legislative act. The "inventors" were handsomely defeated. Said citizens a quarter of a century ago, "You invented it. It's yours. Keep it." Newton was beginning even then to have its political life lifted and the beloved Eddie Childs continued to be elected Mayor, not by second and third choice selection but by first choice.

Since that time no effort has been made to change our preferential system of one, two, three count. In last year's municipal election, a long 27 years later, it took a Ward 2 election to prove the falsity of its acceptance and operation, due to a recount I instituted before the full board of registrars. I wish that all of you could have been there to see with your own eyes the type of ballots cast by a so-called intelligent electorate and the original tallies submitted by the city election officials.

Instead of a problematical and theoretical tally of 300 votes as outlined by the League in the public press the city's own Board of Registrars recounted some 4000 ballots which due to misunderstanding of how to count a single Ward election contest with five candidates, arrived at city hall at 2:30 o'clock the morning after election.

This ballot is only typical of many more of a similar kind. At the close of the recount, in which every candidate gained votes, the Board of Registrars, two Republicans and two Democrats—Messrs. Mitchell, Grant, Donnelly and Doherty—unanimously agreed that the Newton system of preferential voting should be discarded. They were definitely in favor of the elimination of the second and third choice system of voting. I abide by their judgment.

Now to give the League ready answer to their county proposal. I am definitely against a primary run-off. It is absolutely unnecessary. Further, I think their estimation of a $5000 expenditure is too low. I can see further involvement in election confusion. Consider the printing cost; payment of election officials twice, at the primaries and election day; police coverage, etc. What proof is there that Newton citizens will participate more actively in municipal elections with two election days when approximately only a third now use their voting privilege? What proof can the League offer that their primary run-off system is not as fallacious as the present preferential system?

Under my House Bill No. 207 the voting in Newton would be as simple as ABC. The single change is the elimination of the second and third choice counts. It means no extra cost to the city. It establishes Newton with the other cities of the Commonwealth—28 of them—as being in step with modern voting systems. Why should Newton be the only city in the state to hold to this antiquated system? It in no way reflects upon the stability of our present city government but rather establishes an up-to-date method of voting understandable to voters and election officials alike. Under our preferential system even if ten candidates are on the ballot, the tenth man can win. What becomes of the first preference votes given to the other nine. They just are not recognized and hundreds, possibly thousands of voters are practically disfranchised. My plan is no

Newton Out of GBI Race Loses to Belmont, 2-1

Newton High wrote finish to any aspirations for honors in the G.B.I. League last Saturday when it fell before a scrappy Belmont sextet, 2 to 1, at the Boston Garden, and also lost a chance to battle league-leading Stoneham, which lost its first ice encounter of the year, for the league's top spot.

The Jack Hall-coached club, holding on to second place, would have been in a good position to meet Stoneham in a last ditch try if it settled the Belmont issue. Arlington handed the G.B.I. pacer its first loss, 3-1, last week, thus setting Stoneham up for the Orange skaters this Saturday at the Arena. But Belmont had other plans and knocked Newton out of the running. As a matter of fact, Newton will have to go some to remain in second place when it meets Stoneham Saturday. A loss would drop the Hall-men in third place, unless the Belmont-Arlington game ends in a tie.

A last minute goal finished the locals last week when Bob Wardwell rifled a long air-borne shot at goalie Dan Coffey's clairol from inside the blue line. Coffey made an attempt to haul in the sailing puck, but deflected it downward into the Newton cage.

part and parcel of a Plan A, B, C, D or E plan. It is exactly what Melrose, a very similar "bedroom city" has installed. Let us go modern for the benefit of five times our 1916 voting strength.

I have a positive suggestion for a change in my bill now before the Committee on Cities in the legislature. I want it on the ballot this November when the true voting strength of Newton will likely be registered in a Presidential, Senatorial, gubernatorial and otherwise a general election. That will represent a real, democratic way of life in Newton's elections.

If it is deferred until the next municipal election and in case of adoption it would not become operative until 1955. It should not be delayed that long.

Temple Emanuel Service

And Luncheon Feb. 16

The fourth monthly Parent-
Children's Sabbath Morning Service and Luncheon of Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre, will take place Saturday, February 16. The service, which commences at 9:45 a. m., will include selections by the Junior Choir.
Birthday blessings for those children whose birthdays occur during the month of February will be offered by Rabbi Gordon. The synopsis of the Sidrah will be read by Joan Marcus, and the Sermonette will be delivered by Marilyn Masters.

At the conclusion of the Service, a Sabbath luncheon under the supervision of Mrs.
Frank Metcalf and her committee will take place in the Vestry.
Following the luncheon, a program will be presented by the pupils of Class Beth Beth of the Hebrew School, under the direction of Miss Tamar Katz. The theme of the program will deal with the Festival of Tu B'She-vat.

Present Choral Reading

Program on Air Waves

On February 13, twenty children from the fifth grades of the Oak Hill School at Newton Centre presented a program of choral reading during a broadcast over Station WCRB. The program included an introduction to choral reading with several selections by the boys and girls. There followed a discussion in which teachers and guest parents considered the relative merits of choral reading as an out-growth of individual needs. Among the children who participated were:
Harriet Hoffman, Cynthia Ward,
Linda Cohen, Mary Hudson,
Carolyn Lyen, Vincent Mazzola, Stanley Wallace, Joseph Gorman, Mildred Ordlin, Michael Coleman, Wendy Hyman, Howard Levine, Toni Kadetsky, Joel Myersen, Ronney Cohen, Lawrence Sullivan,
Linda Appleyard, Jane
Buckley, Kristin Senff and Robert Agnababian.

Miss Jean Ford and Miss Martha Rayder, fifth grade teachers at the Oak Hill school, supervised.

Searching for Candidate

For 4-Year Scholarship

Hamilton College alumni with $4,000 to give away are still searching for the best Eastern Massachusetts candidate for a four-year scholarship to that upstate New York college.

According to Leslie E. Moore of Worcester, chairman of the alumni committee making the search, the deadline for applications is March 1, less than four weeks away.

Candidates must be attending a public, private or parochial school in one of five counties:
Essex, Worcester, Middlesex, Suffolk and Norfolk. The grant is for annual tuition and $400 a year toward expenses.

This is the first scholarship awarded under a new regional aid plan by Hamilton College, whose hilltop campus and liberal arts course a century ago earned it the nickname "the first New England college in New York."

Others on the alumni committee are: William W. Morrow, Boston sales representative; Dr.
George A. Marks, Winchester surgeon; Benjamin J. Stone, South Byfield educator; and Lorrel B.
Nichols, Walpole plant manager.

Constitutionality Of Mayor's Tax Plan Unlikely Says Muther

Personal Tax Exemption Plan Debated

Cites Recent Attempt to Levy Tax on a State Wide Base as Example

Mayor Lockwood's recent proposal, that legislation be introduced permitting those cities and towns which so desire to revert to the $1000 dollar exemption instead of using the recently enacted $5000 exemption on household goods and effects when levying the personal property tax, is of dubious constitutionality, stated Lorenz E. Muther, Jr., Executive Director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association this week.

To Be Observed Tonight With Guest Speakers Of All Denominations

Brotherhood night will be observed at the February meeting of Newton Post 48, American Legion, to be held in the cafeteria of the War Memorial, Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, tonight at 6:30 o'clock.

A famed baked ham supper will be served by Arthur Lee and his committee followed by four guest speakers who will take "Brotherhood" as the theme of their remarks.

Past Commander E. Elmer Ross is chairman for this meeting. Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood has announced his intention to attend the meeting.

The four guests who will represent the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths are Rev. Wilbur Kingwill, St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville; Dr. Albert I. Gordon of Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre; Rev. Louis

Jewish Community Name Is Changed to Temple Reyim

Change Culminates Three Years of Growth and Expansion of Organization and Membership

At the regular monthly meeting of the Newton Jewish Community Centre held at 321 Chestnut street, West Newton, the membership voted to change its name to Temple Reyim. This change culminated a three year growth and expansion of the organization.

In 1948, a group of eight couples decided that there was a need for a Jewish Community Centre in West Newton and before long the eight couples increased to over 70 families. With the increase in membership came the expansion of its program to include religious activity as well as social. Charles Kaufman of the original eight couples was elected president and remained in office for the first two years.

By popular demand the membership was extended to include families from all parts of the city and by June of last year the facilities of Oddfellows Hall were no longer adequate to meet the increasing number and broadened program. Through the efforts of Abraham Markir and a building committee, the Day estate on 321 Chestnut street, West Newton, was purchased to house the organization. The summer was spent in making suitable alterations and by September the building was ready for occupancy.

Committees were also set up during the summer to plan the program for 1951-52. With the help of their new spiritual leader Rabbi Harold D. Kastle, a religious program was instituted to include High holiday services, Friday evening services, Hebrew and Sunday schools in addition to Adult Educational Groups, the latter consisting of Hebrew instructions, Bible and Literary classes. Many social activities were inaugurated such as a monthly men's breakfast, functions for children of all ages, meetings featuring guest speakers, and other varied affairs.

The decision to change the name came after it was seen that the organization had grown to supply all the needs of a Temple. The name itself was chosen because of the deep significance of Reyim, a Hebrew word meaning "friends."

Herter Heads Up Eisenhower Delegate Slate

Representative Irene K. Thresher to Serve as An Alternate Member

Congressman Christian A. Herter will head an Eisenhower slate of candidates for election as delegates in his congressional district, it has been announced. Teaming with him as the other candidate for delegate will be Mrs. Abraham E. Pinanski of Brookline, widow of the late judge.

Alternates on the ticket will be Representative Irene K. Thresher of Newton and Joseph F. Nolan of Roslindale.

Herter, who is expected to be the Republican candidate for Governor next fall, is co-chairman of the Eisenhower campaign in Massachusetts. He is now serving his 10th year in Congress, is a member of the House Committee on foreign affairs, was a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives for 12 years and its speaker for four years.

Mrs. Thresher is serving her first term in the State Legislature. She has been vice-chairman of the Ward 5 Republican Committee in Newton since 1941 and is active in the Newton League of Women Voters, the Girl Scouts, Red Cross and Community Chest Drive.

In a joint statement, the group headed by Herter said:

"General Eisenhower has demonstrated both in the way that he has handled administrative responsibility and in his statements of principle he is outstandingly qualified to carry out the difficult responsibilities of leadership in this country."

"The likelihood of his being elected President on the Republican ticket is far greater than the chances of any other person who might be nominated."

Bank Resources Now Total Nearly $60,000,000

New High Reached by the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company

The annual meeting of stockholders of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Co. was held Feb. 13, and substantial gains in business over the preceding year were reported by William M. Cahill, president. Resources increased by more than $1,200,000, bringing the bank's total resources to a new high of nearly $60,000,000. Commercial deposits totaled $37,400,000 as compared with $35,000,000, reflecting the growth of business activity in the communities served by the bank. A gain of $300,000 was shown in resources of the Trust Department, bringing its year-end total to $11,350,000.

All officers of the bank were re-elected, including: Chairman of the Board, Frank L. Richardson; President and Treasurer, William M. Cahill; vice-president, William J. Bannan; vice-president and Trust Officer, George L. White; Assistant Treasurers, Ruth Burns, John J. Cahill, Mary A. Clarke, Marguerite D. Collins, Laurence A. Crane, Charles B. Cutter, Clarence J. Fitzpatrick, Mary E. Hickey.

Auburndale Blaze Gives Firemen Stiff Battle

BUSINESS SECTION of Auburndale was scene last Friday morning of stubborn fire which caused an estimated damage of about $200,000. A temperature of 10 above zero hampered the firemen in subduing the fire which took four hours to put out. The Salvation Army and Red Cross canteen served the weary firefighters hot coffee and doughnuts which aided the men to combat the cold.

Dr. Stanley F. Teele Discusses Investments at Finance Forum

Says Objectives Are Security of the Principle, Amount of Return and Appreciation

Dr. Stanley F. Teele, Associate Dean of the Graduate School of Business Administration, Harvard University, and a Trustee of the Newton Savings Bank, was the final speaker last week at the Forum on Finance for Women held at the Williams School in Auburndale. Dr. Teele's topic was "Investments."

In his opening remarks to the large gathering, Dr. Teele stressed the importance of remembering that in every investment program three major objectives must be kept in mind — these three objectives are Security of Principal, Amount of Return, and Appreciation, or Increase in Value. Every investment, he stated, represents a compromise of one or more of these objectives depending on what is the prime purpose of the investment. In Savings Banks and other thrift institutions, he pointed out, the major emphasis is on the first, Security of Principal, hence the investments of these institutions are keyed in this classification, whereas a private investor might be more interested in obtaining higher yields or even increase in values, at the expense of conservative Security of Principal.

Touching lightly on the various types of investments that are possible, the speaker mentioned Mutual Investment Trusts, which he stated, are becoming more popular since they are now regulated by Federal Act. He also mentioned that they were an excellent means of obtaining diversification, which is also important to consider in an investment program. Diversification, he pointed out, is important because unless one can put all his eggs in one big basket and carefully

Housing Census Lists Total of 22,149 Dwelling Units Here

21,692 Units Occupied of Which 15,338 or 70.7 Per Cent Were Occupied By Owners

22,149 dwelling units in Newton were enumerated during the 1950 Census of Housing, according to final figures announced by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce, in Washington.

This is an increase of 3,811 dwelling units from the 1940 Census total of 18,338. Of the 1950 count of dwelling units, 21,692 were occupied at the time of the census. The figures announced are from Newton only.

Of the 21,692 occupied dwelling units, enumerated in the 1950 Census, 15,338, or 70.7 per cent, were occupied by owners and 6,354, or 29.3 per cent, were occupied by renters. Of the 457 vacant dwelling units, 235 were classified as available; i. e., they are for year-round use, not dilapidated, and offered for rent or for sale; and 22 were withheld from occupancy by nonresident owners, or were vacant for other reasons.

Of the 22,149 dwelling units enumerated, 1,230, had no private bath or were dilapidated; and of these, 415 had no running water or were in a dilapidated condition.

The average value of 12,091 single-dwelling unit structures occupied by owners, was $16,800. The average monthly rent paid by renters was $52.

A final report for Newton, now in publication at the Government Printing Office, will present these housing statistics by blocks in the city.

Dr. Palmer to Lead Panel Discussion

Council of PTA Arranges Meeting for Feb. 28

The Newton Council of Parent Teacher Associations will present a Panel Discussion, led by Dr. James B. Palmer, Chairman of the Newton School Committee, at the new Peirce School Auditorium, 170 Temple street, West Newton, Thursday, Feb. 28, at 8:00 p. m.

Do you know that there is a critical shortage of teachers, that it may be impossible to maintain the high qualification standards for selecting teachers; and that the school without a teacher may be yours?

A nation-wide survey by the New York Times shows that school systems cannot get enough elementary school teachers — periodic warnings have been sounded by educators, but nothing happens, the shortage continues. Although a minimum of 105,000 new elementary teachers is needed annually, only 35,000 are being trained. With elementary school enrollment rising 1,000,000 a year the teacher shortage will grow increasingly acute. The Newton system will require 28 additional teachers for 1952 to fill the needs of 500 additional school pupils. Throughout Massachusetts 1400 new teachers will be required and the State Teachers Colleges are

License Case Is Postponed To March 3

Continuance Granted by Judge Hanify on Plea of the Commonwealth

A hearing in the case of Merrill vs. Baker, relative to the recent action of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission, took place Monday before Judge Hanify in the Superior Court at which time Attorney Paul S. Rich expressed a desire to proceed with the hearing but on objection by the Attorney-General's office, the hearing was postponed to Tuesday.

After a preliminary hearing Tuesday, on petition of the Commonwealth through Assistant Attorney-General, a demurrer was entered asking that the case be continued to March, which Judge Hanify concurred in and set March 3 as the date when the matter will again come before the court. Attorney Rich was not permitted to argue the matter Tuesday but stated he will make every effort March 3 to have the case proceed, so that the issue can be settled.

An increase of $894,035.43 is recommended in Mayor Lockwood's $11,764,988.71 budget over the department expenditures last year according to figures presented to the Board of Aldermen at its meeting Monday night. The mayor, however, trimmed $248,443.26 off the estimates submitted by the departments. The total asked for by the departments was $12,013,431.97.

The largest item in the budget, as is the rule, was the figure of the School department which this year asked for $3,790,798.00 as compared with expenditures last year of $3,309,896.42, or an increase this year of $480,901.58. The school department budget represents slightly in excess of 32 percent of the entire $11,764,988.71 budget as submitted by the mayor.

The second highest item in the budget is that of the street department which amounts to $2,388,740.72 followed by that of the treasurer's department of $1,188,399.46 and the fire department of $993,733.17.

Compared to department expenditures in 1950 of $9,802,759.64, the 1952 budget of $11,764,988.71 represents an increased cost to the taxpayers in two years of almost two million dollars or $1,962,229.07.

watch that one basket, it is better to put your eggs, as the saying goes, in many baskets.

Another method of investing, Dr. Teele stated, was through regular purchases continuing through a business cycle, but, he cautioned, nothing takes the place of good judgment. It is because of this that an individual should exercise great care in his choice of an Investment Counselor, being just as particular as in his choice of a doctor, lawyer, or bank.

In the question period, when asked what securities he would suggest as a hedge against inflation, Dr. Teele was emphatic in stating that there was no absolute hedge against inflation except to constantly guard against it and fight it in every possible way. When asked for his opinion in what field he thought the greatest opportunity for future appreciation could be found, he replied, "Probably in the Chemical and Petroleum industries."

Dr. Teele was introduced by Joseph Earl Perry, President of the Newton Savings Bank, who also closed the series of meetings by again thanking the officers of the Federated Women's Clubs for their cooperation in co-sponsoring this educational Forum on Finance for Women, which he hoped might again be presented if continuing interest is shown by the women of Newton.

The series in previous meetings had presented Miss Dorcas Campbell, Woman Banker of New York, speaking on Women and their Money; Mrs. Eleanor March Moody, Boston Attorney, discussing Wills, Trusts and Estates; and Mr. Clyde S. Casady, Executive Vice President Savings Bank Life Insurance Council, who spoke on Life Insurance. Dr. Teele's talk on Investments rounded out the program.

Tax Plan—

tor stated that although the requirement of proportional assessment could be satisfied as far as rates were concerned if they were equal within a given taxing district, it was extremely doubtful that the legislature could allow geographical variances with regard to assessments or with regard to exemptions based merely on public policy.

Noting that prior to the adoption of the income tax amendment, an attempt to levy the personal property tax at a state wide rate while continuing to levy on real estate under local assessing and levying law had been held to be unconstitutional. Mufner asserted that those who wished to return to the $1000 exemption would have, in his opinion, a better chance of success if they attacked the 1951 legislation itself as being a subterfuge to avoid the principles expressed in the constitution.

Such a movement is already underway, he said, and it has the support of those who do not find any wisdom in narrowing the tax base at this time. "For myself," he concluded, "although some municipalities did their best to collect this tax fairly, the general effect across the state has been so inequitable that I believe that, failing true enforcement as it has, the tax should be abolished entirely even though it should require a further constitutional amendment to do it properly."

Public Schools Here Inspected By 125 Visiting Educators

The Newton Public Schools recently played host to one hundred and twenty five of the visiting educators in convention in Boston. Four schools, representing all levels, participated in a program of school visitation arranged for members of The Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development.

Raymond A. Green, principal of Newton High School, greeted the secondary school visitors and guided them on a tour of the High School, Trade School and Junior College. Members of the home economics classes served tea. Lively informal discussion and the sharing of problems over the tea cups proved of mutual benefit.

The John W. Weeks Junior High School opened its doors to a large group of visitors interested in core curriculum. After a greeting and briefing by Raymond W. Blaisdell, principal, the guests were invited to attend core classes and seventh period meetings. The group were privileged to see the School Council, consisting of pupils, parents, and teachers, in regular weekly meeting.

The Newtonville Group and What It Supports From Proceeds of Show

The Newtonville Group is presenting its 19th annual show at the Newton High School auditorium March 14 at eight p.m. It will consist of four vaudeville acts, Happy Tom and Jerry, a roller skating act, Arnold's Dogs, Musical Hollanders, Ralston featuring radium pictures, a sports celebrity, a tableaux, guest speaker Chief of Police Philip Purcell, and a parade of scout units.

The purpose of this annual show of the Newtonville Group is to raise funds for the support of Cub and Scout activities in Newtonville such as financial aid in building cabins, support and maintenance of same, payment of scout meeting places each week other than those supplied by churches, materials used in each den meetings etc.

Each troop must raise the initial sum of money for their cabin, after this has been accomplished The Newtonville Group donates a large sum of money toward the completion of each cabin varying in amounts depending upon the need. There are five scouting units in Newtonville troop 1, troop 6, troop 16, troop 49 and troop 100. Four of these units have completed their cabins at Nobscot in Sudbury, the camping area owned by the Norumbega Council B.S.A. the fifth, troop 100, hopes to start their in the spring. Cabins are an essential part of scouting life, for it is here that many of their tests are passed such as outdoor activities, path finding, cooking, bird lore, over night camping, hiking and tracking.

Scout meetings are held once a week. On cases where they take place in schools the cost for the use of the meeting place is absorbed by the Newtonville Group. The weekly meeting usually consists of an opening ceremony, instruction period on scouting requirements and scouting games.

In most cases the weekly den meetings are held in the homes of Den Mothers consisting of six boys to den. Here the pattern

ing. Faculty discussion groups in guidance and curriculum development were also observed as well as pupil and teacher planning of an assembly program. All these activities indicated the rich, live program under way.

Representing the elementary schools, the John Ward and the Peirce Schools held afternoon classes. Visiting informally through these buildings, the visitors saw group processes in action, pupil-teacher planning and pupil-directed activities. Members of the supervisory staff also participated, functioning in their usual role as resource people to both children and staff. Parent participation at both schools gave evidence of the deep interest and involvement of parents in their school's activities and problems. Refreshment Hours, served by P.T.A. members, were followed by discussions in which visitors, parents, and staff took part. Miss Mildred March of the Ward School and Miss Ann L. Caldwell of Peirce School received many appreciative comments to be shared with their "school families."

What Next?

And now the taxpayers of America are being asked to shoulder another staggering tax burden. They are being asked to subsidize farm land in Arizona to the tune of $1,838 an acre in order that a few Arizona landowners may secure Colorado River water to grow more field crops.

A bill known as S. 75 now pending in Congress would authorize an irrigation project for 226,000 acres of Arizona farm land. The project promoters are attempting to sell their scheme under the guise of a tax "benefit" but the Secretary of the Interior shows in an official report that the interest alone on the proposed Federal expenditure would cost the nation's taxpayers $2,075,729,000.

Taxpayers in Massachusetts would pay $70,575,000 as their contribution to the costly undertaking.

New lands brought under cultivation in Central Arizona during the past 10 years have overextended the state's underground water supplies at present pumping levels. Sinking deeper wells would solve the problem but as wells go deeper, costs go up. So, the Arizona irrigators have hit upon the idea of having their operations subsidized by taxpayers generally in all the states. The beneficiaries would pay only 37/100 of 1% of the two billion tax cost, that being the percentage Arizona contributes to the nation's coffers, according to a tabulation of the Council of State Chambers of Commerce.

The $2,075,729,000 tax cost figure is an official estimate of Secretary of Interior Oscar L. Chapman, contained in a report he made to the House Interior Committee. The bill is before that Committee now, having already passed the Senate. It remains to be seen if the Arizona proponents can succeed in their grandiose plan in the face of rising national opposition to higher taxes and needless spending. The National Grange and the American Federation of Labor are among the organizations that have gone on record against S. 75.

Current Comment

Sen. Whittier Asset to Republican Ticket . . . President Enjoys the Guessing Contest . . .

In the political excitement which followed the announcement by Congressman Christian A. Herter that he is willing to accept the Republican nomination for Governor, it has generally been overlooked that the G.O.P. will have a very formidable contender for the Lieutenant Governorship in the person of State Senator Sumner G. Whittier of Everett.

A colorful young man who should be quite an asset to the State ticket the Republican party puts on the road against the Democrats next fall, Whittier was the choice of a good many G.O.P. members as their candidate for Governor, but he promptly revised his political aim one notch downward when Herter made his pronouncement.

Whittier has achieved an excellent record in the State Senate. He is an exceptional speaker, makes a fine appearance on the public platform and should prove a strong vote-getter. He also has a good grasp of State affairs that should come in extremely handy at campaign time.

One factor which may trouble G.O.P. leaders before the next election is that they are likely to experience difficulty in finding candidates of the calibre of Herter and Whittier to seek election to the seats these two men now hold in Congress and the State Senate.

Political observers are disposed to doubt whether any Republican other than the ebullient Whittier can win election to his present place in the upper legislative chamber. Governor Dever carried the Herter district in both 1950 and 1948, and President Truman carried it in 1948.

Both elections, of course, saw Democratic trends across the State, and the margin by which Mr. Truman topped Governor Dewey in 1948 was a very narrow one. But it was great enough to make it evident that a Democrat under certain circumstances can carry the Herter district and that the sector no longer can be counted a rock-ribbed Republican stronghold.

Lively contests are likely in both the Republican and Democratic primaries for party nominations for the seat Congressman Herter will relinquish. Former State Treasurer Laurence Curtis already has tossed his hat into the ring, and there is a possibility that General Daniel Needham and Representative Howard Whitmore, Jr., both of Newton, may challenge him for the G.O.P. endorsement.

A number of Democrats are pouring over the returns from the Herter district for the last two elections, and for the first time since the district was formed there may be a real battle between prominent Democrats for the privilege of carrying their party's banner in it.

The problem of how to hold the Herter and Whittier seats, with those two sturdy vote-getters assuming places on the G.O.P. State ticket, is likely to cause some real headaches for the Republican high command.

President Truman has contradicted himself so many times, when reporters have quizzed him as to whether he will run for another term, that most political observers have decided there is not much point in trying to analyze his statements and that they might just as well wait for an official statement from him.

Mr. Truman's statements are so often in conflict with each other that it's risky to attach too much significance to any of them, but one possible explanation for this is that the President may have made up his mind not to run and now may be changing it.

At several of his press conferences he declared that he had reached his decision and that when the right time came, he would make it known. More recently, however, he said that deciding whether to run or not was "a very difficult decision." That observation was completely out of tune with his earlier assertions.

Washington newsmen have been jumping at all sorts of clues in their efforts to read Mr. Truman's mind. Last week, for example, the President told Congressman Muley Doughton of North Carolina, who is going to retire at the end of this year, that he will miss him.

The newshawks immediately put two and two together and concluded that President Truman wouldn't expect to miss Muley very much unless he, Truman, planned to run again.

One thing that does seem apparent is that President Truman not only has been enjoying the guessing contest about his political plans but to no small extent has helped to stimulate it. "We don't want to make this thing ridiculous," he told reporters the other day in referring to the speculation concerning his political intentions. One way he could stop it from becoming ridiculous is to make a forthright statement of whether he is or isn't going to run.

When his wife was arraigned in court on a charge of drunken driving in Baltimore, Loring Stevenson testified that the reason he was following her at 3 a.m. in another car without headlights was: "I had some mail I wanted to give her."

Mrs. Edna Fenton walked into police headquarters in Chilliwick, British Columbia, and asked how she should go about getting herself jailed in order to escape her angry husband. Advised to try hitting a police officer, she did so and promptly found a safe haven in a cell.

Spotlight on the Newtons

By RALPH AND TUNNI COOLIDGE

"Mommy, my throat hurts and I'm tired. Do I have to go to school today?" You suspect Janie is trying to escape school, but you've noticed she's been losing weight lately. You've been reading about the danger signals of rheumatic fever. "Isn't this the peak of the infection season?" You phone your family physician. Thus a lifetime of heart ailments may be prevented from plaguing your loved one, thanks to the enlightening information of the heart program, headed by Dr. Ernest M. Morris, Director of Public Health.

Dr. Mary Alice Smith is in charge of the Newton Heart

Demonstration Program which stimulated development of the rheumatic fever preventative program.

The Newton Heart Demonstration program is a public health service demonstration under the Newton Health Department.

The rheumatic fever prevention program, which began in December, 1949, is now in its third year of operation. The executive board of the Massachusetts Heart Association has granted funds to help extend the program through this year. The grant was made to the Newton Health Department for administration by the Newton Children's Fund.

Letters to the Editor

A PROGRESSIVE MOVE

Editor, Newton Graphic: Most praiseworthy is the announcement of the various Improvement Associations in Newton to form a central council of the various civic minded groups to consider and take definite action upon matters pertaining to the general good and benefit of all the Newtons, avoiding those which may be of only local interest. It is a most progressive move, and I, as a member of the executive committee of the Horace Mann Improvement Association, with city-wide membership, heartily approve the movement.

However, I am mindful of the fact that our organization, possibly the youngest of improvement associations chartered and registered at city hall, due to our intensive agitation for the building of a swimming, diving and wading pool at Auburmarle playground, have been ignored in the formulation of plans and adoption of a constitution by this "new" centralized group.

According to plan this centralized group will consider and support such activities as they deem fit and proper for the benefit of all the citizenry of Newton. The Horace Mann project at Albemarle is exactly that even though it may be built in the most populous north side of the city.

Every improvement association in the city by personal invitation and through the public press was invited to participate in our "town meeting," Oct. 11, 1951, at the Horace Mann school. No representative appeared from any of them. Again, at the Horace Mann instigated public hearing at city hall before the board of aldermen, Dec. 3, 1951, they were invited to be present. A zero attendance can be registered in that regard.

According to city hall file records the Newtonville Improvement Association in Oct. 1947 fostered a plan for the improvement of conditions at Albemarle playground. It did not include swimming, diving and wading pools but did include many other recreational benefits that are still unacted upon. For the Newtonville area that need is still there which they possibly consider a local issue.

But the swimming, diving and wading pool has definite interests for all the Newtons.

Definitely, it is high-time that the improvement associations became cognizant of that fact, instead of being so self-centered and self-satisfied within the confines of their own "area."

Possibly the Horace Mann Improvement Association membership and officers could be of assistance in the development of this most deserving civic minded effort? Just asking a question, that's all!

HARRY GATH, JR.

"OUR LEGISLATORS"

Editor, Newton Graphic: With 50 percent of the qualified voters remaining at home on election day it has been possible in scraping the bottom of the political aspirant barrel to bring up the last dregs and place them in a position of trust on our appropriating governmental bodies as complete masters of our financial destinies. The voters who voted them into power and the absentee voters by whose absence their election was made possible should feel proud of the result.

Quite recently Mass. House Bill 276 granting City Councilors of the State the right to raise their salaries at will without referring the matter back to the electorate was initiated and is now due for a third reading by the members of that august body. If this bill should pass both the House and Senate and receive the Governor's endorsement, it would then become a State law. This enactment would make it possible for these employees to raise their own salaries from time to time without facing the possible embarrassment of having to obtain this permission from their employers, the Taxpayers. As a still further example of animalistic cunning on the part of the proponents of this Bill, if indeed any were needed, this proposed law as written would not become effective until "after the next election."

Our State Representatives have, from time to time, voted themselves salary increases until at the present time, the remuneration paid its members should be sufficient to attract real men of a caliber who would, at least, be honest with their constituents. Attempted enactment of laws such as the above by some of our Legislators designed to circumvent the electorate, should be sufficient to create in the minds of all thinking voters the desire to make a reappraisal of the fitness of those individuals to hold any office where the interests of the general public is concerned.

The virulent disease of chronic absenteeism to which some House Members in the past have been particularly allergic, has been virtually stamped out by the startling discovery on their part, that while unfortunately, there is no law to prevent these chiseling grafters from being absent their entire term in office, it is equally true that an outraged electorate has the opportunity at the next election to retire any member suffering from this dreadful malady, to permanent political oblivion.

Your government is as good as you are, but no better.

JAMES E. SEVERY,
114 So. Central avenue,
Wollaston, Mass.

WORTHY OF RECOGNITION

Editor, Newton Graphic: In the recent distribution of literature for the Civil Defense of this city, two troops of Girl Scouts in Newton Highlands contributed a great deal of time and effort and I, as chairman for this district, would appreciate it very much if they could receive some public recognition for their service through the means of your newspaper. Their names are as follows:

Troop 42, Senior Service, Leader, Mrs. Howard G. Hobbs; Beverly Snow, Janice Walsh, Jane Winchester, Ruth Herring, Nancy Tilton and Eleanor Hobbs. Another troop of younger girls whose leader is Miss Jean Gordon, consisted of Esta Lee Berger, Virginia Gleim, Ada Vazarro, Melinda Robart, Barbara Powers, Thelma Deal, Sandra Macnair, Carol Mozier and Jean McCullough.

By preventing recurring attacks, the patient may be saved from future heart ailments and extend his span of life."

Rheumatic fever sometimes causes pain in the joints and may be accompanied by fever. It may affect the body in other ways, as, inflammation of the heart, development of a rash, or may appear as chorea (St. Vitus' dance). The most important consequences of the disease is the effect on the heart! What are the danger signals?

1. Pains in the joints.

5. Certain skin rashes.

6. Loss of weight.

7. Tiredness.

It is important to remember that these signs do not necessarily mean that your child is infected. Don't be alarmed needlessly. Have your child examined by your family physician.

What is the treatment? Penicillin is one of the drugs used as a preventive of rheumatic fever attacks. Penicillin for prevention may now be obtained at a minimum cost through your physician. Regular medical check-ups will benefit the whole family.

Free heart screening examinations will be given to all residents of Newton Corner, beginning Monday, Feb. 25, through Saturday, March 8, in the basement of the Main Library.

Dr. Morris, Director of Public Health, who has been so active in this preventative program, states: "Second to accident, rheumatic fever is the greatest enemy of children today and a threat to the heart in later life. One attack of rheumatic fever would ordinarily cost $800 to $900. This amount would adequately cover the cost of prophylactic penicillin for 15 patients for a one-year period, under our prevention program. This is a long-range program that will not only save the citizens of our community thousands of dollars, but years of good health!"

Mosher-Schorer Rites Recently

QUEEN of Colby's winter carnival which was held February 15 through 17, is Miss Barbara Hills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fisher Hills of 351 Otis street, West Newton.

Miss Mary Patricia Mosher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Giles E. Mosher, 34 Byrd ave., West Newton, became the bride of Roy E. Schorer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schorer, 28 Olde Field Rd., Newton Centre, at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, Dec. 29. Rev. John Saunders officiated. A reception followed at the Hotel Beaconsfield.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, carried a prayer book of satin, with white orchid and cascade of stephanotis. Her gown was candlelight satin, with bodice, train and skirt applied with chantilly lace. Her veil was silk illusion, fingertip length. Her maid of honor was Miss Mary Ann Favey, of West Newton, who wore a white brocade, long sleeved dress, a green velvet poke bonnet. She carried a green velvet muf with double white carnations with streamers.

Bridesmaids were: Dorothy Jane Braffitt, Watertown; Barbara Dacey, Newtonville; Ruth Ann Gooley, W. Newton; Ruth Esther Hurley, West Newton; June Gray Taylor, West Newton, and Janet Abbott Schorer, Natick. They wore ling sleeved white brocade gowns with red velvet old fashioned poke bon-nets. The bridesmaids carried red velvet muffs with double white carnations and streamers.

Giles E. Mosher, Jr., was best man. Ushers were: Peter Schorer, N. Centre; Martin Schorer, Natick; Donald Vahey, Cambridge; George Holmes, Newton Highlands; Donald Smith, Wayland, and Robert Taylor, West Newton.

The bride is a graduate of Newton High School and Lasell Junior College. The groom graduated from Newton High School and Northeastern University.

Engagements Announced

Miss Joan Kathryn Salvucci's engagement to Charles Jackson Hoover, son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter B. Hoover of Boston, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Salvucci of Newton. Miss Salvucci graduated from Katharine Gibbs School and her fiancé is a graduate of Wesleyan University.

The engagement of Miss Patricia Joan Crane to Merrill Carpenter Nutting, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Nutting of Newton Centre and Pocasset, was announced at a tea at Simpson House. She is the daughter of Mrs. William A. Hammond of Newton Highlands and a graduate of Boston University. Her fiancé served with the United States Navy overseas during World War II and attended Boston University.

Mrs. Louis P. Feinberg of Mattapan announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Marcia Marilyn Feinberg, to Leon B. Scheinin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boris Scheinin of Newton. Miss Feinberg is a graduate of Boston University, College of Practical Arts and Letters. Her fiancé is studying at Northeastern University, College of Business Administration.

MRS. VITO L. SOPRANO, the former C. Helene Matthews, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John J. Matthews of West Newton, who was recently married at Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre. The couple are now living at Sneads Ferry, North Carolina. (Photo by Ralph S. Coolidge.)

Celebrity Auction to Be Held By Auburndale Women's Club

More than fifty famous celebrities have contributed personal articles and signatures to the Celebrity Auction to be held by the Auburndale Woman's Club Saturday, March 1 at 8 p. m. At 9 p. m. the auction will be interrupted for the well known "Tuckers" who will entertain the audience with their clever and amusing mental telepathy act, after which the auction will continue until all items are sold. Come prepared to bid for the unknown. You may win Arthur Godfrey's shoe lace or a recipe from Marjorie Mills. Refreshments will be served at the close of the auction.

The Auburndale Woman's Club wants to take this opportunity to express their gratitude and thanks to all these famous people who took time from their busy schedules to respond so generously.

Couples Club Plans Rummage Sale

Preparations are under way for the fourth annual Rummage Sale sponsored by the Couples Club of the West Newton Unitarian Church. This year's rummage sale will be held from 10 to 4 o'clock, Wednesday, February 27, in the West Newton Unitarian parish house. Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Townsend, Couples Club presidents, are in charge, assisted by a large committee.

The Jaynes League, AUY group, will again assist and share in the proceeds of the rummage sale, according to Mr. and Mrs. John F. Carroll, sponsors. Rudolf Amann is president of the Jaynes League. Mothers of the Jaynes League group will assist both at the rummage sale and in serving sandwiches and coffee to the volunteer workers.

The committee who will help in gathering clothing, bric-a-brac, household odds and ends, books and white elephants, for the rummage sale, includes Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whitmore Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Cobb and Mr. and Mrs. William L. Tisdell.

In addition, there will be numerous others working as sales clerks, checkers, etc., on the day of the rummage sale, Wednesday, Feb. 27. Among these are Mrs. Rudolf Amann, Mrs. George C. Thompson, Mrs. Merrill E. Bush, Mrs. Hans Waine, Mrs. John Ogden Fisher, Mrs. Morris H. Adler, Mrs. William A. Wood, Mrs. Warren E. Dutton.

Mrs. A. Phillip Guiles, President of the Board of Trustees of the All Newton Music School, has announced that the Fifth Annual Pop Concert will be given Friday evening, March 28, at the Newton High School.

Mrs. Guiles, general chairman of the concert, will be assisted by Mrs. Hopewell Underhill. Mrs. Ralph Hall will obtain the ushers and Mrs. George Arnold, Chairman of the Mothers Auxiliary will arrange the refreshments and appoint the "Pop" girls.

Typical "Pops" music will be presented by the Newton High School Orchestra with students and faculty members of the All Newton Music School. Donald March, director of instrumental music of the Newton public schools will be the director. The featured soloist will be Carolyn Jobs, a student in the piano department of the music school.

A large group of interested Newton residents have accepted the invitation of the Board of Trustees to sponsor this event. The All Newton Music School, a Red Feather Agency, will use the proceeds of this concert to support the school on Walnut street in Newtonville.

Reservations for tables may be made by calling Mrs. Wm. C. Worth, exec. director at the All Newton Music School.

Miss Joan Potter, of Newton, enjoyed winter sports during a week-end at Intervale Inn, at Intervale, New Hampshire, after mid-year exams at Simmons College.

To Wed in June

The engagement of Miss Joan Minot Wetherbee to Melvin C. Van de Worken of Worcester, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wetherbee of Auburndale.

Miss Wetherbee is a graduate of Jackson College. Her fiancé was graduated from Clark University and Tufts Theological School. He is now attending Harvard University while serving a sabbatical minister of the First Parish Church of Taunton. A June wedding is planned.

To Marry in April

April is the month chosen by Miss Phyllis Marion Bower for her marriage to Dr. James Francis Peirce, son of Mrs. Patrick T. Peirce of Worcester. Miss Bower is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy C. Bower of Newton. She graduated from Faulkner Hospital, School of Nursing, and her fiancé studied at Holy Cross and Georgetown Medical School.

Police Blotter

Arriving home after a trip to Italy, a homeowner found that the cellar of his house contained five feet of water. The home had been closed during his absence and the water was the result of a leak in one of the pipes in the wall. The Newton Water Department was notified and pumped out the water.

Sgt. Yanco and Officers Power, Kiley, Walker and Treddin recovered a stolen cab last Sunday night on the Hammond Pond Parkway. The operator was not apprehended and the car was turned over to the Metropolitan District Police who reported that the cab may have been involved in a hit-and-run accident.

Finally reaching the limit of his patience, a resident of Vernon street reported that to this date a total of 55 panes of glass have been smashed out of the window of his barn that borders on Tremont street. He complained when someone broke three windows last Thursday afternoon. Usually occurs between the hours of three and five in the afternoon.

A home on Manning street was broken into and ransacked last Wednesday while occupants were away and the house closed. Glass over the kitchen door was smashed and all the rooms were given a good going over. Sgt. Bannon reported the case and Inspector Lyons took fingerprints.

A Crescent street housewife reported that someone attempted to enter her home last Friday night at 8:30. Officer Whelan investigated and found a man delivering wood at the wrong address.

Present at the fire at the corner of Lexington street and Commonwealth avenue last Friday morning to direct traffic and assist were: Sgt. Foley, Officers Bell, Dargen, Cornish, Roche, Cooper, Calnan, Casavant Duffy and Devlin. Chief Purcell headed the detail.

Mrs. James W. Boggs, Chairman, entertained the committee at a coffee hour, at her home in Newton Highlands.

Among those present were: Mrs. John P. Quinn, Jr., Co-chairman, in charge of prizes; Kitchen Cupboard, Mrs. Brendan J. Whittaker, and Mrs. William J. Moran; Refreshments, Mrs. Charles L. MacLinn, Jr., and Mrs. Edward A. Miller; and Publicity, Mrs. Walter T. Piotti. Mrs. John R. Horgan is Guild President.

N. B. Hartnett, National Service Officer, DAV, Addresses Kiwanis

At the Newton Kiwanis Club meeting, held at Hammond's Restaurant, Chestnut Hill, Thomas L. Delaney, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Norman B. Hartnett, Chief National Service Officer of the Disabled American Veterans, Charles L. Hildred, president of Kiwanis, presided.

Mr. Hartnett's speech was as follows: Gentlemen: As a National Service Officer of the Disabled American Veterans—a Congressionally chartered organization composed exclusively of veterans who were wounded, gassed, injured, or disabled during war service—I am in a most unique position. Most unique because we one day hope to exist no longer. However, so long as wars are waged and men become disabled during a period of war service, then so long will we, and must we, continue to function as an organization, because we believe, and I know that you must believe, that the cost of rehabilitating disabled veterans is just as much a cost of waging war as are bullets, guns, and munitions.

The Disabled American Veterans of the World War was originally formed in 1920-21 by wounded and disabled veterans of the first World War who were in hospitals or in vocational training institutions. These men felt that such an organization was needed to protect their interests and future security and because they wished to continue the ties of friendship and understanding based on mutual experience had in the camps and battlefields while members of the armed forces of the United States. Many believed, and rightfully so, that if their difficulties were to be overcome, and government red tape in which they were entangled was to be eliminated, they would have to speak up for themselves and remain organized to protect their own interests.

The Disabled American Veterans became a National organization in 1921 and from the beginning its member was restricted to those veterans who were wounded, gassed, injured or disabled in line of duty during time of war and while serving in the military or naval forces of the United States.

The need of the organization has been proven by its outstanding record of service down through the years. In 1942, and by action of the National Convention, the constitution was amended to extend membership eligibility to any veteran who was wounded, gassed, injured or disabled while serving in the armed forces of the United States during time of war. At this time the name of the organization was changed to the Disabled American Veterans. We were the first of the three major organizations to extend membership to World War II disabled.

National Headquarters of the organization is located at 1423 E. McMillan Street, Cincinnati, Ohio. The National Adjutant, Vivian D. Corby, serves as Executive Secretary and business manager of the national organization and has the general direction and control of its corporate affairs. In this capacity, he is charged with the direction and supervision of all administrative and business details relating to the management of the corporate body.

All Service activities of the DAV are under direction of the National Director of Claims; the National Director of Legislation; and the National Director of Employment, with offices at National Service Headquarters, 1701 18th street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Our major activity, and one which calls for the greatest expenditure of funds, is the maintenance of National Service Officers assigned as field Service Officers, who have offices in all the 68 Regional Offices and the 13 District Offices of the Veterans Administration. To date we have some 240 National Service Officers recognized as such by the Veterans Administration and under the sole jurisdiction of the national organization. These National Service Officers advise the ex-serviceman of his rights under all laws and regulations, assist him in the preparation and execution of forms required in the filing of any claim for pension, compensation, or other benefits; instruct him as to the evidence necessary to substantiate a claim for benefits and help him in securing this evidence, if necessary, as well as securing for the veteran public documents such as birth, marriage, death or divorce certificates required for submission to the Veterans Administration. Where the Disabled American Veterans holds the power of attorney, the Service Officer represents the claimant before the authorized rating agency of the Veterans Administration if and when the case is up for consideration. When required, he assists the widow or dependent of any veterans of America's wars in obtaining such benefits to which they may be entitled under the law. It is important to know that all such services are rendered without cost to the veteran or his dependents as no remuneration may be accepted, directly or indirectly, under the law.

The National Service Officers are also trained to aid and assist the veterans in all problems involving vocational training, hospitalization or out-patient treatment, National Service Life Insurance, and employment. Our services are freely extended to dependent parents and widows and orphan children of all deceased veterans of America's wars.

In other words, the National Service Officer of the Disabled American Veterans acts as a "Friend of the court" between the government and the veteran or his dependents. His appointment as such must be approved by the Veterans Administration and his recognition as a National Service Officer requires that he comply with certain regulations

The National Service Office in this area is located within the Veterans Administration Regional Office at 1 Beacon street, Boston, and is staffed by 7 National Service Officers and 4 clerical help. I have been designated by the National Commander and the National Director of Claims to act as Administrative head of this office. In addition to the duties and responsibilities of all National Service Officers, as previously mentioned, we of the Boston Office visit on a weekly or semi-monthly basis the following hospitals: Veterans Administration Hospital, West Roxbury, Massachusetts; Veterans Administration Hospital, Rutland Heights, Massachusetts; and Cushing Veterans Administration Hospital, Framingham, Mass. In addition, periodic visits are made by National Service Officers to Military and State Hospitals within the Commonwealth. When visiting these hospitals, personal contact is made with the disabled veteran and/or his dependents, in order that they might be counseled and advised as to their rights and benefits under the Laws administered by the Veterans Administration. These claimants are also assisted in the preparation and presentation of their claims against the Veterans Administration.

The organization has enjoyed the closest cooperation with the United States Veterans Administration and all other public and private agencies. It is distinctly a patriotic and American institution. Thousands of sons of members of our organization served with credit in the armed forces of the United States during World War II. Many of these lads are now members of the DAV while their younger brothers are in active service in the Korean Campaign.

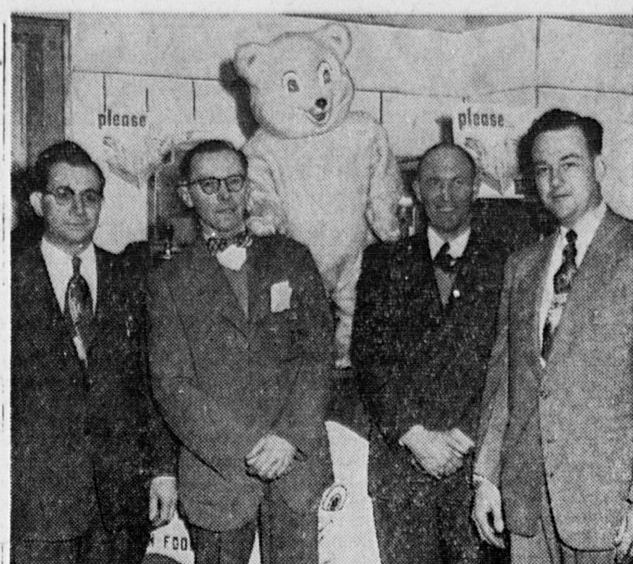

We are constantly striving to improve and to extend our service. We stand ready and willing to assist any wartime veteran and his dependents in securing all benefits to which they may be entitled under the law. No fee is charged and active membership in the organization is not a requirement. New problems arise as the list of our wartime disabled increases. The ravages of war are at this moment creating new Gold Star mothers and widows, and orphaned children and these dependents often know not where to turn. Even if he wants to help, the average business or professional man is too busy making a living to spend the time and effort required to make a study of the laws and regulations affecting the war veteran and his dependents.

The DAV National Service Officer is the answer.

Our service is maintained because of the support given us by the American people and the response to our annual Identity Tag solicitation as well as the generous donations and requests to the DAV Service Foundation—our incorporated trustee.

For all of this we are deeply grateful. In our hearts we know each contribution is an investment in human kindness. May its return be a thousand fold.

The DAV National Service Officer is the answer.

League of Women Voters Back Forum

"Newton's Business in the General Court" was discussed in a forum sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Newton last February 13, at the Newton Highlands Workshop, 72 Columbus street. Planned as a public service to demonstrate the functioning of the State Legislature with special reference to current Newton problems, the forum was open to the public as well as to League members.

Representative Irene Thresher served as Chairman and Moderator, and Representative Christian A. Herter, Jr., explained how a bill goes through the legislature, using the recent bill to abolish Preferential Voting in Newton as an example. Representative George E. Rawson discussed "Home Rule," bringing up the question of why Newton has to go to the State Legislature with such a local problem as changing its voting system.

A panel discussion followed, featuring Mr. Harry N. Gath, Jr., who spoke on "Why Abolish Preferential Voting?" and discussed his own bill to substitute a simple plurality voting system. Mrs. Earl B. Millard, former League President, who described the alternatives to preferential voting, and Alderman Ernest G. Angevine who spoke on the question of a City Manager Plan of government for Newton. There was also a question period. The forum was planned by Mrs. George Alberts, State Legislation Chairman and Mrs. Louis Winokur, Local Affairs Chairman.

Friendship Guild To Meet Tuesday

The Friendship Guild of the Second Church in Newton, West Newton, will meet next Tuesday evening in the Parish House. Supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. by Mrs. Donald C. Moody, Mrs. Ralph A. Nutter and their committee.

An enjoyable evening of sociability and a novelty whist game is being planned by Mrs. Christian Hagelstein. There will be refreshments and prizes.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. C. David Gordon and Mrs. Norman Butterfield.

Mended Hearts Club Featured On "Domestic Diary"

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Otto of West Yarmouth, Massachusetts, will be the guests of Polly Huse, genial hostess of the WBZ-TV "Domestic Diary" program Wednesday, February 27 at 1:00 P.M. Mr. Otto has recently undergone one of the most dramatic achievements in heart surgery — the operation for Mitral Stenosis, and is now Secretary-Treasurer of the Mended Hearts Club.

This operation allows the surgeon to operate within the heart to relieve obstruction of the mitral valve. The condition known as mitral stenosis is always an aftermath of rheumatic fever. The valve between the left auricle of the heart and the left ventricle (or pump) becomes diseased and its two leaves fuse in a core or funnel. This blocking of the valve causes the blood to back up through the lungs, bringing about various unpleasant symptoms. In operating the surgeon uses his finger to restore the leaves of the valve by tearing the soft tissues back of the calcified areas. The results of this technique have been described as startlingly successful.

A group of patients recently recovered from this operation in a Boston hospital, and now able to live normally again, have formed the Mended Hearts Club to tell the world of this delicate operation and to encourage support of research in this field.

Mr. Keith Otto will tell Polly Huse about this newly formed philanthropic club and will explain to her viewers what the aims and purposes of the club are.

75 YEARS AGO
February 24, 1877

The Sixth annual reunion of the Newton High School Association took place at City Hall, Wednesday evening February 21, and the alumni who have attended previous reunions stated that the sixth was the most successful and enjoyable of all. The attendance of graduates was rather larger than usual and the interest felt in the High School, justly the pride of the "Garden City," was sufficient to attract quite a number who cannot claim it as their alma mater. Officers elected for 1877 were: President, E. W. Cate; vice-presidents, D. W. Farquhar, Edw. Mason, and T. Nickerson; treasurer, Henry D. Billings; corresponding secretary, J. E. Hill; and, recording secretary, W. F. Smith.

The new organ at the Universalist Church, Newtonville, which was dedicated last week, is pronounced by competent judges to be one of the best in the city. Rev. J. Coleman Adams now has a worthy assistant in his ministrations in the beautiful instrument, for prayer and praise are each essential to the other's success and that of the work of the church.

Those favorites of Newton, the Clafin Guards, were inspected this week and passed muster creditably, of course. This was their first turn out under the new Captain, Mr. Cousins. The company still holds its own.

There are some splendid voices among the Newton Odd Fellows, judging from the sounds that issued from their Hall Thursday evening. America never sounded better.

All those who calmly viewed the highly pleasing spring-like weather conditions of last Sunday and rejoiced that the backbone of winter had been broken, hastily concluded that they had another guess coming on Monday. Thurs., Feb. 21, 1952 THE NEWTON GRAPHIC Page 9 Ends Series of Book Reviews

Valentine's Day completed a series of five book reviews sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Newton Lower Falls.

Margaret Bailey Tims, with an eye for captivating detail, has taken the highlights from the best of the fall and winter crop of fiction, biography and humor in her presentations. Children's books were not neglected and in her pre-Christmas program, included suggestions for gifts and winter reading, which, if followed, provided the reader with the wheat and eliminated the chaff.

With aa Morning Coffee at 10 a. m., Thursday, February 14, Mrs. Tims opened the lid on a new treasure chest and has prepared a group of books for spring and summer enjoyment. First on the list is "Rufus Jones Speaks to Our Time," a work edited by Harry Emerson Fosdick, eminent clergyman and philosopher. This is a book especially recommended for Lenten reading.

In the fiction bracket, Mrs. Tims chose "The Catherine Wheel" by Jean Stafford, whose first book "Boston Adventure" had a flavor that appealed to many, and this, her third effort has been called a gem of literature. Listeners had a word picture of "My Son and Poe" by Josephine Pinckney who wrote "Three O'Clock Dinner." The New York Times has said of Pinckney's newest novel "Bewitching . . . to be recommended for sheer enjoyment." Author Norman Collins' widely acclaimed "Children of the Archbishop" rounds out the trio. All three best sellers furnish a conversation piece among book lovers.

In the biography field, Mrs. Tims covered Agnes DeMille's own life story of her career as dancer and choreographer in "Dance to the Piper." This book in itself was worth a hearing, since it has been described as absorbing, colorful and a fine piece of writing.

Miss Betsey Cutler, a member of the senior class at Lesley College, Cambridge, is spending the mid-winter holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cutler, 31 Sargent Park, Newton.

The engagement of Miss Kathleen A. Sexton to George B. Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Collins of Kirkwood, Mo., is announced by her father, Rear Admiral Floyd J. Sexton, USCG (ret.), of West Newton. Miss Sexton attended Lasell Junior College and was graduated from Hickox Secretarial School. Her fiancé was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and served with the Navy during World War II.

How smart can a Wife get?

" . . . I don't know . . . but my wife can sure spot a bargain. She knows most people earn nearly twice as much today as they did in 1940. But she also says all her costs are up. Most things she buys for the family cost 2 or 3 times as much as they did then . . . but not our telephone. Telephone rates in Massachusetts are up on an average of only 17% (less than 1/5). So she figures — the telephone bill takes a smaller proportion of my paycheck than it did in 1940. And she's right!"

IT'S A BARGAIN THAT'S GROWING BIGGER

There are twice as many telephones today as there were in 1940 and more are being installed every day. There are a lot of new stores and businesses that you can reach by telephone — probably more of your friends have telephones now. And service is faster, better and more dependable.

Your telephone is truly Big in Value — Little in Cost.

Red Cross Annual Fund Drive Opens Saturday

Quota 4 P.C. Greater Than Last Year

$95,465 Total Realistic Budget - States Donald L. Gibbs, Chairman

The Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross will make its appeal for operating funds starting Saturday. "The quota of $95,465.00," states Donald L. Gibbs, fund campaign chairman, "is a realistic budget that comprises only the funds so desperately needed to continue the humanitarian work of Red Cross during the next fiscal year. In face of rising costs, the expansion of the various programs caused by armed conflict, the training of many more volunteers, the amount required is approximately 4 percent above the funds raised a year ago. I am sure you will agree that operate."

Discussion on Teacher Plans This Evening

Panel to Consider All Program Phases for the Immediate Future

Who will teach our children in the 1950's?

That will be the subject of a panel discussion presented by the Newton Council of Parent Teacher Associations tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock in the new Peirce School auditorium, 170 Temple street, West Newton.

Dr. Wendell Yeo, Dean of Education at Boston University, will speak on the trends in teacher education, and what the personal qualifications and training of teachers in the 1950's should be.

Dr. John Bowler, registrar at the State Teachers College in Framingham, will explain the outlook for the supply and demand of our teachers, what may be expected from the Teachers Colleges and what the Liberal Arts Colleges are doing to prepare teachers.

Mrs. Irene Thresher, State Representative from Newton, will show what the status of legislation relative to stepping up the supply of qualified teachers is and what is being done about state certification.

Graham T. Winslow, a member of the Massachusetts Council for Public Schools, will explain what citizens can do to help solve the problem of the shortage of qualified teachers.

Dr. James B. Palmer, chairman of the Newton School Committee, will act as moderator.

All interested citizens are urged to attend. Come, and see the modern schools Newton is building and learn what to do to keep these schools staffed with competent teachers. The public schools are Newton's second largest industry. The quality of the schools depend on your interest.

Cash Receipts Almost Double

Treasurer Archie Whitman Also Reports $343,000 In Borrowing Capacity.

During January, cash receipts of the city were almost double those of the corresponding month in 1951, according to the monthly report of Archie R. Whitman, treasurer and collector.

Mr. Whitman also reported an increase of $343,000 in the city's borrowing capacity during the month, resulting from an increase of $14,000,000 in valuations.

Collected by the city last month was $652,377.22, compared with $354,495.80 during January 1951. The revenue cash balance on January 31 was $1,763,463.12, compared with $1,788,767.31 January 31, 1951. Largest increase was shown in personal property tax collection which totaled $252,644 last month, compared with $43,138 a year ago.

The increase was largely the result of the later mailing of bills, so that collections were delayed until January of this year, whereas in previous years the tax was largely collected before the end of the year.

The Motor Vehicles Excise Tax also showed an increase with $88,196 collected last month as against $33,315 in January of last year. School Cafeteria receipts increased from $12,000 to $30,100.

Queen of Hearts To Be Selected At Dance March 15

Monday, March 15, the Tri-Hi-Y Club of Newton Senior High School will hold a dance at the Normandy Room of the Totem Pole at Norumbega Park in Auburndale. The dance is being run for the benefit of the Newton Heart Fund. All profits from the dance will go towards the Newton Heart Fund goal of $15,000.

The dance will be held from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight. Adults are urged to attend.

At the dance, the high point of the evening will be the crowning of the Queen of Hearts. She will be selected in a novel fashion. A committee was chosen from the Newton Y.M.C.A. They then selected the pictures of four girls from the Newton High year book. These girls are the Misses Jacqueline Ewer of Waban, Trudy Beaulac of Waban, Marsha Waters of West Newton and Betty LeFevre of Newton Highlands. The pictures of these attractive young ladies have been placed in six Newton stores: Brigham's in Newtonville and Newton Highlands, Hubbard's Drug in Newton Corner, Parke Snow in Newton Centre, Bar-on's in West Newton, and Rhode's Drug in Waban. Beneath each picture is a plastic heart collection box. The girl who collects the largest amount of money through her picture will be crowned Queen of Hearts.

The management of the Totem Pole has generously donated the use of the Normandy Room for the evening. Dance tickets are being sold at the high school and will also be sold at the door on the night of the dance.

Mayor, City of Newton

Mayor's Proclamation 1952

WHEREAS: March has been proclaimed Red Cross month by Harry S. Truman, Honorary President of the American Red Cross; and

WHEREAS: The Newton Chapter, with over 2500 volunteers, exists to serve the daily needs of the people of Newton, and stands ready to help them should disaster strike our city; and

WHEREAS: The Red Cross acts in your behalf, when it acts, anywhere, doing what you should do if you were at the scene of disaster or at a soldier's side in Korea and Europe; and

WHEREAS: Red Cross service is available to all, freely and without question, on the simple human basis of need alone; and

WHEREAS: The humanitarian aims of this voluntary organization can be met only if people everywhere heed the call of their less fortunate neighbors; I hereby proclaim the month of March as Red Cross month in the city of Newton, and urge the people of the city to "Answer the Call" of humanity.

Hope to Finish Budget Hearings This Week

The Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen expects to complete hearings on the 1952 budget this week. Last Saturday nine department heads met with the committee.

This morning (Thursday) the chairman of the Board of Assessors is scheduled to meet with the Finance Committee at 9 o'clock, and the following department heads will be heard this coming Saturday: Public Works, 8 a.m.; Engineering, 8:30 a.m.; Street, 11 a.m.; Water, 4 p.m.; and Schools 8 p.m.

The departments heard last Saturday consisted of the Police, Fire, City Physician, Sealer, Library, Clerk, Law, Civil Defense and Recreation.

The Public Works Committee of the Aldermen met with the Public Works director, City Engineer and Water Commissioner at 4 o'clock Tuesday and with the Street Commissioner at 8 p.m., following dinner at 6:30.

The Public Buildings meeting will start at 9:30 today (Thursday) and will continue until 6:30 p.m.

Dr. Jennings Is Speaker at Temple Emanuel

Dr. Frank Jennings, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, was the speaker at Temple Emanuel of Newton's Friday Evening Service last Friday.

Honoring National Brotherhood Sabbath, Dr. Jennings spoke on the theme, "How Good Is Good Will?"

Dr. Jennings has held his present post with the Massachusetts Council of Churches since 1935. He is a member of the General Board of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

At this service, the Bas Mitzvah ceremony of Marion Angoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Angoff, took place. Requirements for the individual Bas Mitzvah ceremony are: a minimum of three years of attendance in the Temple's Hebrew School and the pupil must be 13 years of age or over.

Bowen School Opened Monday With 298 Pupils in Attendance

Principal Edward Clark Announces That an Open House Will Be Held at a Later Date

When the new Bowen School at 280 Cypress street, Newton Centre, opened on schedule Monday, 298 pupils reported, according to Principal Edward Clark.

For the first time, Bowen School pupils Monday had the use of a dining hall where lunch was served to 120 of the children by student teachers and by volunteer parents, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Joseph DiCarlo and Mrs. Parker Smith.

Nine classrooms in the new, modern school were opened and Principal Clark stated that an open house will be held at a later date when parents and relatives will be invited to inspect the new building.

The pupils include those from the old Bowen School and 168 transfers from the Mason-Rice district. Six classrooms and a kindergarten will be held in reserve to accommodate pupils from the Hyde School district and from the area south of the Worcester turnpike, where schools in those districts are filled to capacity.

Assisting the new principal will be Herbert Callahan, head teacher at the old Bowen School. Pupils of all other schools in the public school system reported back to classes Monday following the mid-winter vacation.

"People helping People thru Red Cross" is the slogan adopted for this year's fund drive. The implication of these words is starting when one considers them thoughtfully," says Mr. Gibbs. "Actually Red Cross is the means by which you and I may reach out to assist a friend or neighbor whether he be in Newton or Korea. The volunteer workers who are legion, contribute many hours of hard work in representing. It is not easy to push a cart of books for an afternoon through a ward of a veterans hospital trying to find the book which will make the hours pass more quickly for the patients. It is not an easy task to be routed out of bed in the early hours of the morning to find blood donors for an emergency case who needs blood quickly in order to survive, or to serve coffee and doughnuts at fires when the temperatures are hovering around the freezing level. Other services are just as important in their help to people through Red Cross.

"The American Red Cross, chartered by the Congress of the United States," he explains, "has obligations which are binding in peace as well as in war for it cannot conjure overnight the trained staff, the funds, the volunteers, the techniques and the machinery for an organization specifically designed for swift action in all emergencies. With this organization intact and ready to go, it becomes only a question of expanding to meet the occasion. Relaxation is a fatal luxury when we are considering the welfare of people in trouble.

"As citizens of Newton we know that volunteer agencies are an essential element in a democratic society. We know that service to others as an exercise of free will be fundamental to the concept of democracy. "Please put your shoulder to the wheel and give the little bit more that will enable the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross to fulfill all of the slogan—Newton People Helping People Through Red Cross."

Gregory G. Castano, 19 Lill avenue, Auburndale; and from Board 117, Charles W. Tenney, Jr., 19 Bonwood street, Newtonville.

The city was represented by Hugh S. Boyd, a member of Board 115, replacing Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood, who was unable to attend due to illness. Pierce Gaddis, Command of Newton Post 42, American Legion, and Fred Pagnato, Commander of Nonantum Post 440, American Legion, both expressed to the group their appreciation and understanding for what they were setting out to do.

Also introduced were Elmer H. King, P.C. of Thomas Burnett Camp, UCWV; Charles Duke, member of Newton Post, American Legion; Edward Fahey, chairman of Board 115, and Jack Keane, a member of Newton Post, American Legion, whose brother was in the induction group.

The principal speaker was Dr. Albert I. Gordon, Rabbi of Temple Emanuel, who also gave the blessing.

Coffee and doughnuts were served by Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross, under the supervision of Miss Mary Furlong, Mrs. Walter A. Hood and Mrs. Frank G. Fisher.

Elmer King presented each boy with a pen and pencil set, a gift from the city, and Charles Duke presented a card from the commanders of the various member organizations of the UVON to each man.

Following the exercises the group entrained at Newtonville for the Boston Army Base from where they will be sent to Fort Devens for assignment.

James A. Walker, one of the group, is the son of Capt. Charles E. Walker of the Newton Police department.

Meters—

business in a store need only insert one cent for the privilege of parking 12 minutes.

It is believed that the installation of parking meters in the various business areas of the city will do much to facilitate the parking problem and will prove of considerable benefit to local merchants as the meters will prevent persons from parking more than one hour without penalty for a violation.

Although angle parking will in all probability be eliminated throughout the business areas, the installation and use of parking meters will afford many more people an opportunity to shop than is now the case, and should do much to aid local merchants to do a larger volume of business in a given time due to the additional number of people who will be able to secure parking space while doing their shopping in these areas.

tion. And a Civilian Aid Team, which includes the Feeding Unit, under Emory C. Mower, will register bomb victims and perform other aids.

Newton will have six communication cars, with both receiving and sending radio, in constant touch with the control center in the cellar of the Civilian Defense Building at 430 Walnut st., Newtonville. It is from here that Mr. Baxter and his staff, who have almost complete power in such emergencies, will direct local operations. If this center is knocked out, emergency headquarters can be established in fire or police stations, city hall, the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, or on Waban hill. Radio, telephone, and car, bicycle, or foot messenger are the forms of transportation used, Mr. Baxter said.

All Newton residents are expected to follow the instructions of the wardens. If you are driving, park, lock your car, and seek shelter. If at home, stay in an inside room and keep the radio on for possible announcements. Do not stand in doorways or near windows, and do not use your telephone.

All roads will be closed from 1:15 to 1:30, and selected highways may be closed to all but civilian defense workers for as long as the drill lasts.

The 42 cities and towns participating in the drill, plus Boston, make up Region Number Five in the Massachusetts Civil Defense Agency. Sector Four of this region includes Newton, Brookline, Dover, Needham, Waltham, Watertown, Wellesley, and Weston. Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood of Newton heads this sector, and has appointed Benjamin P. Bullman of 51 Plainfield st., the Sector Director, and Joseph J. Ward of 80 Jewett st., Deputy-Director. Under them come the local directors, including Mr. Baxter of this city.

WEST NEWTON theatre presents check to March of Dimes. Left to right: Miss Ann Rufo, in charge of collectors; Jackie Ahearn, Newtonville; Joseph Callahan, manager of the West Newton Theatre; and Thomas W. Leydon, Newton Chairman of the March of Dimes. Leydon extends his thanks to all Newton people for their generous help. He announced total contributions were over $17,500. "Donations are still coming in," he said, "and if any person or organization still plans to contribute, gifts should be sent to the Newton National Bank. Girls who assisted at the theatre collection were: Frances Ann Burke, Patricia Judson, Helen Kirwon, Carol Ann Burke, Nancy Quinn, Jennie Moagni, Patricia Foley, Edith Proia, Ann Gentile, Barbara Marini, Martha Kelly, Janet Marshall, Ursula Moran, Carol Van Wart, Jane Gallagher, Josephine Coletti, Pauline Lochiatio, Helen Varian, Joanne Hycoppilas, Mary Ellen Cummings, Ruth Wigod, and Joan Perry.

tional Churchman, Dr. Walter W. Van Kirk, will talk on the World Mission of The Church.

Last year Second Church sent substantial help to its own medical missionaries, Dr. and Mrs. Hale H. Cook, in Wai, India, and to the tremendous Relief and Reconstruction program in Western Europe.

Dr. Van Kirk's extensive International Church experience makes him the ideal speaker for this occasion. His duties have taken him all over the world from Stockholm to Lima, Peru, and to the Far East. He has studied religious conditions inside of Russia. In 1945 he made an important trip to Japan, visiting the principal cities and conferring with General MacArthur and with the Emperor.

Since then he has been on missions to England, Holland, and France, and last year attended the great conference on Arab Refugee Problems in Beirut, Lebanon. Dr. Van Kirk has been closely associated with United Nations' activities, representing the Federal Council of Churches on numerous occasions; and has been actively connected with radio for many years as a commentator on "Religion in the News."

In 1944 the National Conference of Christians and Jews presented Dr. Van Kirk with "An Award of Distinguished Merit for Outstanding Service by an Individual in Radio." At present Dr. Van Kirk is the Executive Director of the Department of International Justice and Goodwill of the National Council of Churches.

to pray for peace. Churchmen of both Christian and Jewish faiths have indicated their wholehearted support and endorsement of the plan which will continue through the approaching seasons which are sacred to all faiths.

In each of the sections where there are church bells, people will be reminded of the power of prayer and moved to pause for a moment in whatever they may be doing to seek peace on earth.

To Hold Communion Breakfast

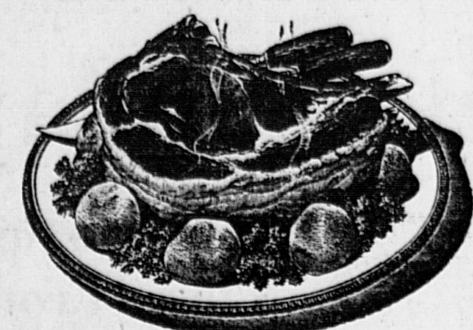

St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville, will be host this year at the annual Washington Birthday Corporate Communion for the men of the Charles River district of the Men's Division of the Church Service League of the diocese of Massachusetts. Celebrant at the 8:30 communion service will be the Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwill, rector of St. John's, assisted by the Rev. Richard Schoolmaster of St. Paul's Church, Newton Highlands, and the Rev. Richard Strong of St. Paul's Church, Natick. At the breakfast following the service the speaker will be Canon Vesper O. Ward, editor-in-chief of the new curriculum of the Episcopal Church and a member of the National Council.

Mr. Charles E. Billings, secretary-treasurer of the Men's Division, is chairman of arrangements assisted by Mrs. Albert L. Marshall. Churches represented at the services will be: St. John's, Newtonville; Grace Church, Newton; Church of the Messiah, Auburndale; St. Paul's, Newton Highlands; Trinity, Newton Centre; Church of the Redeemer, Chestnut Hill; Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban; St. Mary's, Newton Lower Falls; St. Paul's, Natick; St. Andrew's, Wellesley; Christ Church, Needham; St. Paul's, Dedham; and the Church of the Good Shepherd, East Dedham.

Educational Club To Meet Tomorrow

Mrs. Homer Lucas, 5 Adella avenue, West Newton, will be hostess to the Hobby Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club at her home Friday, Feb. 29. Mrs. John Boyle will be co-hostess and with Mrs. Lucas will serve dessert to members and guests at 1:30 p. m. Mrs. Percival Waters class leader will conduct a business meeting after the social hour. The afternoon will be spent sewing layettes for veterans' families and making serapbooks for crippled children.

Donald R. Cadman, seaman, USN, formerly of 408 California street, Newtonville, recently visited Trieste, Venice, Italy and Athens, Greece, along with other Mediterranean ports while serving aboard the destroyer USS

By RALPH and TUNNI COOLIDGE

SAMBO AND WILLY (formal name, Wilhelmmina, if you please) reluctantly pose for the photographer.

Usually, when one tip-toes to the kitchen every two hours during the night to warm a bottle of formula, glowing thoughts for the future of the repeat recipient, earning honors in scholastic fields, attending proms and football games, ease the tedious task. Such thoughts were not the case during the recent experience of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Billings, 23 Oxford road, Newton Centre.

Their "two-hour terrors" will probably never get nearer to a class room than a school-yard, and are sure to look with scorn upon scholarships. They may, however, carry away certain types of prizes; for they are pedigreed Cocker Spaniels.

The Billings had had Susie, their dog, only three months and were novice dog owners, when they brought her to Biggs Kennels for breeding. And so were unaware of the adventure that was to invade their household. Charged Rocket, a prize winning pedigreed, sired the puppies. "We thought Susie should have some pups, but we got more than we bargained for," the Billings told us.

And so they did. Susie had a litter of nine pups. The usual litter is four or five. Of the five that survived, "Nonny Panonny" has the most

The next morning, Dr. Beck performed a Cesarean operation on Susie at his office. A one-pound pup which had died, had obstructed the birth of five live pups. With the doctor's excellent care, Susie survived the operation, but wasn't able to nurse her pups.

Unable to find a foster mother for the pups, the Billings tackled the problem of feeding the pups with an eye dropper. Next, they tried dolls' nursing bottles. Two days later, they bought regular nursing bottles; this seemed to solve the feeding problem.

A soft knitted dress and towels (some of them collected from interested neighbors) lined the basket that served as "bed" for the little ones.

At feeding time, the pups "cried" like babies. Mrs. Billings made the formula, heated it to body temperature and sterilized bottles. She and her husband passed the alarm clock from one to another as they took turns in "shifts" feeding the pups at two hour intervals.

Although Mrs. Billings is an active clubwoman and president of the Women's International League, she found she had to curtail some activities in order to care for the pups. "We didn't live in Newton on the Charles, those days," says Mr. Billings, "but on pabulum on the puss." Feeling like proud owners of a unique "nursery," after the pups had received their shots, the Billings opened their home to many people who were surprised to find five healthy pups.

Brownies Hear Talk on Realities Of Atomic Danger at CD Building

A simplified talk on the realities of atomic dangers, and a tour of the Civilian Defense Building at 430 Walnut street, featured Monday's meeting of Troop 138, Brownies.

Major E. J. Ovington, of the radiological monitoring team, told the children that they shouldn't get overly excited about the dangers of the atomic bomb. "Since the world was first formed atomic rays have existed, yet we survive with them," he said. But he warned them to cover skin and lay aside exposed clothing until inspection in the event of an atomic blast.

William J. Baxter, director of Civilian Defense in Newton, led the tour of the control center in the cellar of the Defense Building. He described simply the use of wall maps, direct telephone lines, radio transmitters, and others. He pointed out the gasoline-driven power plant capable of producing full power for lights, radio and telephones 4 1/2 minutes after being started.

Officials of the troop are: Mrs. Walter Betts, 16 Hyde street, the leader; Mrs. Thomas Eayrs, Jr., 22 Hyde street, assistant leader; Mrs. Arthur Wilson, 242 Lake avenue, troop commander, and Miss Judy Shedd, 28 Charlemont street, program aid.

Representative G. Rawson in Support of Tax Exemption Bill

Representative George E. Rawson appeared before the Committee on Taxation Friday, Feb. 15, in support of his bill (House 763) to exempt Savings Banks from the 1-2 per cent excise tax which they now pay upon all deposits not indicated in mortgages on Mass. real estate, bonds of the Federal government, the Commonwealth and its political subdivisions, and foreclosed real estate held less than five years. He told the Committee that if this bill were passed, the banks could invest in high grade corporate bonds paying much larger interest, and would thus be able to pay larger dividends to their depositors.

This would cause more of our people to rely upon the savings banks to build up a "nest egg" for the inevitable "rainy day." The long-term result would be a lightening of the welfare and old-age assistance costs, which are a grievous public burden today. In support of that claim he called attention to the fact that during the depression of the '30's large numbers of people who were unemployed bridged the gap to employment by living on their savings accounts and the cash and loan values of their life insurance policies instead of seeking public relief.

He also maintained, as he has always done, that government has no right to tax thrift, but should assist and encourage it instead. The only opposition to the bill was from the Tax Commissioner, Henry F. Long. It was supported by other members of the General Court, including Rep. Irene Thresher and by representatives of the Savings Banks.

Rep. Rawson at the same hearing opposed House 1615 — Com-

Prizes in the Home-made Valentine Contest conducted on radio station WCRB's popular children's program, "Story Time." The First Prize winner is Kenneth Stonemetz, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Stonemetz, 96 Shorncliffe rd., Newton. The Second Prize winner is Judith Doucette, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rene Doucette, 16 Hale street, Newton Upper Falls; and the Fourth Prize winner is Patricia Slaven, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Slaven, 20 Wade street, Newton Highlands.

These three winners, along with other winners, will be guests of Miss Elaine Reed of Newton, the Story Time Lady, on the show next Saturday morning at 9:30. The other contest winners, there are ten in all, include youngsters from Waltham, Roslindale, and Somerville. "Story Time" with Elaine Reed, heard at 1330 on your radio dial, gives local children the chance not only to actually participate on the radio but to enter and win recognition in

To Be Leader at Group Sessions at Wheaton College

Miss Katherine Curtis, guidance counsellor of Newton High School, was one of the 28 leaders of group sessions at the Wheaton College Vocational Conference held last Tuesday and Wednesday on the campus. She discussed the Armed Services. Miss Curtis held the rank of Lieutenant Commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve in the last war and during the summer of 1951 was the director of the Reserve School of Naval Officers.

Answer The Call

Our hearts go out to those in need. We hurry to answer a neighbor's call. We help a stranger at our door.

Our hearts go out to human need everywhere. But how can we answer a call from the other side of the country—or the world?

We answer promptly, with all our hearts, when we answer the call of our Red Cross.

For the Red Cross is people everywhere, ready to help—trained, capable people at the scene where need is greatest—ready to do what you would do if you were there. The Red Cross is humanity in action.

Here are a few of the basic human needs the Red Cross will fill this year, as in the past, with your wholehearted help:

- The need of servicemen, veterans, and their families for sympathetic aid with their problems;
- The need of disaster victims for shelter, for food, for a return to normal living.
- The need of a wounded soldier, or a mother in childbirth, for life-giving blood;
- The urgent need of Americans everywhere to be trained for the protection of themselves and their families.

Answer their call — answer with your heart!

Eisenhower Must Become Active Campaigner State Democrats Await Gov. Dever's Plans

Massachusetts supporters of General Eisenhower are becoming increasingly worried over the manner in which Senator Taft is methodically building up his lead in the race for the Republican Presidential nomination and over the absence of the anticipated surge of public sentiment for the General.

Ike's backers now recognize that the load probably will be too heavy for them to carry unless their man comes home from Europe to help them with it and that the odds against their winning the endorsement with a candidate who is an ocean away.

The Eisenhower drum-beaters have concentrated almost entirely on the political theme that the General would have a much better chance of winning election than would any other candidate the Republicans could nominate. But the Ike men have been repeatedly thrown back by the argument from the Taft camp that the General's views are unknown on many of the great issues confronting the nation.

Now Eisenhower's top lieutenants have sent an S.O.S. to him to come home and tell the people where he stands. Congressman Christian A. Herter expressed the conviction the other day that the General should and will return to this country before the Republican national convention which opens July 7.

If he doesn't, Herter and Senator Lodge, who presumably will be heading the Republican State ticket in Massachusetts next fall, are likely to find themselves far out on the wrong end of a limb. Both appear to be gambling heavily on the nomination of Eisenhower as their party's candidate for President. Right now it doesn't stand out as a sound gamble if Ike remains in Europe.

Massachusetts and New Hampshire are counted as two of Eisenhower's strongholds. The top Republican leaders in both States are riding on Ike's bandwagon. Yet the popular vote in New Hampshire and the write-in vote here in Massachusetts are likely to be very close, and it appears certain that Eisenhower will have no walkaway in either State.

What some of the G.O.P. chieftains backing Ike are discovering is that Taft is a good deal stronger than he was four years ago. They believe the Ohio Senator has been on the wrong side of the argument on Korea, and possibly he has, but if so a lot of people are wrong along with him.

The Ike men, who assume the fight would be all over once the General said he was willing to accept the nomination, now are finding out that isn't quite the fact, and the politicians who declared that no man could be elected to the Presidency unless he went out and fought for the office are gradually being proved right.

Whether Ike could pull the nomination out of the fires, if he came home and spearheaded the drive being made on his behalf, is uncertain. Most political observers, however, can't see how he can do much campaigning in the face of his own pronounced some weeks ago.

Governor Paul A. Dever has become the new question mark in the Massachusetts political picture, and a number of Democratic politicians are forced to hold their own plans in abeyance until they determine what the Governor intends to do.

The Democratic figure who may be thrown off stride by the Governor's announcement that he doesn't know what he's going to do and that he won't make any statement on the matter until after the Legislature prorogues in June, is Congressman John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy has been conducting a speaking tour across the State, addressing groups in cities and towns scattered from one end of Massachusetts to the other, usually discussing international problems and outlining both his own observations made during an around-the-world trip and his ideas as to the mistakes we have made in our foreign policies.

He has created the definite impression that his intention is to challenge Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. The reasons for that conviction are: 1. Kennedy would not be spending as much time in other parts of the State if he planned to run for reelection in his own district. 2. He has devoted himself almost entirely to international matters which would be the concern of a U. S. Senator and not a Governor.

One thing Kennedy has made clear, however, is that he would not contest with Governor Dever in a Democratic primary and that he will revise his political aims in any manner necessary so that they would not conflict with Dever's.

Now, however, Mr. Dever has said that he may stand for reelection to a third term, oppose Lodge for a seat in the Senate or retire from office and return to the "happy practice of law," and that he probably will not make known his intentions until after the Legislature prorogues in June.

Political observers surmise that Dever is personally disposed to go back to the "happy practice of law" but that the people around him are trying to persuade him to run again for the Governorship. They don't think there is much likelihood of Dever challenging Lodge, although it must be considered a possibility since the Governor listed it as one.

Kennedy is left in something of a predicament. He must realize that he would be an underdog in a fight against Lodge, and if he is to make it he presumably would like to launch his campaign before the end of June. On the other hand, he wouldn't want to declare himself for the Senate and then have Dever decide to bid for that office.

There will be political chain reactions to whatever moves Dever and Kennedy make. If Kennedy runs for the Senate, several office-holders, including Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., would bid for his congressional seat.

Some of the political pundits believe Dever is thinking in terms of retiring from office because they can see no other reason for waiting until the Legislature prorogues in June before revealing what he is going to do.

It would make sense for the Governor to withhold an announcement of his coming retirement from office because it would weaken the grip he holds on the Legislature and would lessen the likelihood of his obtaining the passage of his program. As Dever himself pointed out, the old adage, "The King is dead, long live the King," holds true in politics.

But if Governor Dever is going to run for reelection, there would be little to be gained by keeping the voters and his party in doubt as to his plans and hampering the activity of men who would be on the ticket with him.

Our own opinion is that Mr. Dever is telling the truth when he says he doesn't know yet what he will do, but we suspect that he also may feel that four tough years in the Governor's office are enough and that he would like to go back to what he calls the "happy practice of law."

Dever is a skilled and outstanding lawyer. He undoubtedly makes far more money from the practice of law than the $20,000 a year he gets for his services as Governor, and it is not unlikely that he is now anxious to pick up the threads of his practice.

On the other hand the people around Dever understandably want him to run again and will undertake to persuade him to do so. A lot of Democratic politicians also believe that their own chances of winning election next November will be better with Dever at the head of their ticket than with anyone else there. Whether Dever ultimately will yield to the pressure to stand for a third term or follow his own personal desires and retire from office, is a question that only time will answer. But until it is answered, the plans of a good many Democrats will remain unsettled.

The Democratic State ticket in Massachusetts might be headed by Dever and Kennedy as the candidates for Governor and Senator, if Dever agrees to run again, or by Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin and Kennedy, if Dever decides to withdraw from office.

What the combination would be in the unlikely event that Dever chooses to oppose Senator Lodge, is anyone's guess.

A CAUSE FOR ALARM

Editor, Newton Graphic:

To keep the inhabitants of our Nation physically fit, there is one thing certain. A halt must be called on the sale and use of cigarettes. They are a health destroyer and our Country can never prosper for long, with the cigarette habit growing among our boys and girls of today.

Thousands of our young men were not physically fit, and rejected for government service after the doctors' examination or check up, on account of heart disease. Cigarette boys and girls are like wormy apples, they drop long before harvest time.

The heart associations are spending thousands of dollars to find causes of heart disease, and pleading for more and more money from the public. If cigarette smoking were discontinued their problem would be more than half solved. If the truth were known, cigarettes would be used by those who desire to commit slow suicide.

I wonder why the American press will seldom mention the scientific truth, that tobacco impairs the life span. People who smoke many cigarettes each day, not only die sooner than non-smokers, but throughout their lifetime, from age 30, they make themselves much more liable to all ills to which flesh is heir. This fact is enough "to scare the life out of the cigarette manufacturers, and make the cigarette users, "flesh creep." Smokers spend three billion dollars annually and cause a fifty million dollar fire loss, and hundreds of deaths.

It should be the duty of clergymen to call attention to this horrible scourge impending, the cigarette habit, which is doing more than any other vice to deteriorate the race. Lady Nicotine is debasing our nation and corrupting the young people.

A law ought to be enacted prohibiting the sale of cigarettes and tobacco to persons under 21 years of age, also a law to prohibit placing such goods for sale in a conspicuous place.

At present cigarettes are displayed prominently in grocery stores, butter stores, drug stores, news stands, doughnut shops, waiting stations, etc., even waitresses in restaurants display round bright saucers, pinned on their breasts, neatly lettered, saying we recommend a certain brand of cigarette. It is no uncommon sight to see high school girls by the score, perched on lunch stools, smoking, blowing their cigarette smoke in every direction.

Advertising cigarettes by radio and television should immediately be discontinued.

All authorities agree that tobacco is a heart poison. A fight against the cigarette is a fight for civilization.

"Died of Heart Disease." We read this notice in every daily newspaper. ? ? The heart is a wonderful durable pump. It does the work required of it day after day, year after year. Keep it that way. Give up the smoking habit today, and with God's help you will win.

In Explanation

Editor, Newton Graphic: Since the recent publication of an article by the League of Women Voters of Newton on the subject of "The Newton Citizen—And His Vote" an impression has been given the public that the League has taken a stand in favor of a primary run-off election as an alternative to our present preferential voting system.

This, of course, is a misinterpretation of our article for the League repeatedly stressed the importance of Newton's citizens considering the advantages and disadvantages of abolishing the current voting system and discussed possible alternatives to preferential voting. The purpose of the article was to help the individual citizen understand his form of Government and the voting system of his city to better equip him as a voter. In addition, the League pointed out in its article that "there should be the fullest possible citizen discussion of all the issues involved pertaining to a change in Newton's government structure and its voting system." The League also pointed out that it is "in favor of a system which would encourage fuller citizen participation in government and which would reflect the majority vote." The League took no stand whatsoever.

It seems to me, therefore, that it would be to the interest of your readers that they not only understand fully the position of the League but also that they be stimulated into becoming more keenly aware of their responsibility of citizenship.

Thank you for your public-spiritedness in publishing our article.

On the Matter of Dogs

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I have sent the following letter to Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood:

Two related events occurred Saturday which caused me to express a protest and the wish that something could be done about the control of dogs allowed to roam at will—especially large dogs. Often, on return from shopping in Newtonville Square with my two-year-old son and bundles, I am jolted by one, sometimes three, large dogs, who accompany us for blocks jumping around, sniffing the bundles, nearly knocking my son over. Saturday was a large shaggy uncollared specimen, with a very wet coat, who would brush against us, chase an automobile up the middle of Walnut street, turn and go through the sniffing and brushing process, all the way around to Otis street.

Saturday afternoon I had to spend an unpleasant 10 minutes or so cleaning dog dung off the boot of my son, which he had stepped in while playing in his own back yard. This is not the first or second evidence of such offense in our back yard.

There is an article in the current Woman's Day magazine from which I quote the following: "In most other countries, a polite and obedient dog is considered to be an asset to, as well as a fixture in, the household. Any dog allowed to roam an English suburb at will, for instance, taking playful nips out of passers-by or risking his neck under the wheels of a car, would be regarded as a public nuisance and a first-rate example of his owner's ineptitude."

I have always liked dogs, but I am gradually growing to dislike the bad manners condoned by the owners of many Newton specimens. There are many dog owners who are considerate of neighbors. Why can not all be so? I shall appreciate your referring this to the proper department.

What About the Pool?

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Will you kindly publish the enclosed letter which I have sent to Kenneth Prior, chairman of the Public Works Committee of the Board of Aldermen. The letter is as follows:

Following the public hearing held at City Hall, sponsored by the Horace Mann Improvement Association in re: the formulation of plans for the building of a swimming, diving and wading pool at Albemarle play ground, it is my understanding that the matter was referred to your committee for further study, consideration and action.

To date, with the new installation of the Board of Aldermen, I have not been advised of any further consideration of action being taken upon this matter. As of last year, and continuing this year, you have been made Chairman of the Public Works committee. Apparently thoroughly familiar with the proposed project for the benefit of the more heavily populated north side of the city and need there of.

The facts and figures before your committee should be sufficient to merit consideration and a report to the full Board of Aldermen.

Accusations have been made by responsible city authorities and others that I have only agitated this project in an election year. In Newton's municipal affairs and elections this is NOT an election year.

Therefore, I am not a candidate for office BUT I am definitely in favor of plans being made, even for submission to the National Production Authority for consideration. Further, I think it is most timely for your committee to give weighty consideration to the registered endorsements of such a project by such organizations as the Horace Mann Improvement Association, the various veterans' organizations, the Newton YMCA, the Newton Kiwanis Club and other civic minded organizations and individuals including your own city administrator and appointed Recreation Commission, ALL in favor of the building of the Albemarle pools.

You and your committee may be interested to know that Mr. Frederick J. Fessenden, a chief abettor to the proposed project is 100 per cent in favor of the Albemarle pools. Civic minded as he is, with the Fessenden pool available to their students, he appreciates the value and worthiness of the project for the benefit of the WHOLE city.

In open meeting of the Board of Aldermen, I request that your committee make report for a full and complete discussion of the matter, allowing sufficient time notice so that the sponsors of the Albemarle pools may be advised of your committee's action and reply.

Persons Planning To Retire Should Notify S. S. Office

Wage earners and self-employed persons planning to retire this year under the new Social Security Act should promptly get in touch with the local Social Security Administration field office, James T. Phelan, manager of the Cambridge Field Office, has announced. Because of the nature of certain changes in the law, it is important that these persons know just how they may be affected by them before actually retiring.

"Those who retire before July 1, 1952, will not qualify for the maximum benefit — except in rare cases," he declared. "And only in a few instances can the $80 monthly benefit be paid before January 1953. This is the main reason why those planning retirement this year should ask us where they stand."

The maximum retirement payment under the new formula is $80 a month and the minimum is $20 monthly — depending on the average monthly earnings.

"Beginning April 1952, two new factors enter the old-age and survivors insurance picture," Mr. Phelan said. "One, the new formula for figuring benefits may be used for the first time. And secondly, those aged persons whose work came under social security for the first time beginning January 1951, may, by April, have enough credits to qualify them for benefits."

The manager pointed out that beginning January 1951 regularly employed domestic and farm workers, many self-employed persons, and others were brought under the provisions of this Federal insurance system for the first time in its history.

The Cambridge office is open from 8:30 to 5:00 p. m., Monday through Fridays.

Booklets explaining the new law are available upon request, the manager said.

Ma Si Hon, Violinist, to Be Guest Artist At Concert Mar. 11

Tuesday, March 11, at 8:15 p.m. in the Newton High School Auditorium, the Highland Glee Club of Newton will present its second local concert of the 1951-1952 season. Under the direction of D. Ralph Maclean and with James Gray as accompanist, this men's chorus will be heard in the 96th home offering to its wide following and sponsoring membership.

Again, the club will present a guest artist of distinction. Assisting in the Spring concert will be Ma Si Hon, violinist, a native of China, who has been receiving acclaim for his powerful talent, expressive style, and technical capacity. He will come to Newton with an interesting background of education and experience.

At the age of eight he began violin studies with his older brother, Ma Sitson, a graduate of the Paris Conservatory, who had then just returned to China from France. His first public recital was given in Shanghai when he was 13 years old, and he has since appeared as soloist with the Shanghai Municipal Symphony Orchestra and with other symphony orchestras. Many of his concerts were given during an extensive tour to the prominent cities of China and the Malay States in 1946-47.

Mr. Ma came to the United States in 1948. Since his arrival here, he has been working under the direction of Mr. Richard Burgin, concertmaster and associate conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. He has been heard as soloist with the New England Conservatory Orchestra, the Boston Pops Orchestra, and the New England Philharmonic Symphony. In the summer of 1950, he appeared as soloist at Esplanade concerts in Boston. For the past two years he has been concertmaster of the New England Philharmonic. Richard Burgin, conductor, and in the summer of 1951, concertmaster in the orchestra of the Berkshire Music Center at Lenox. He also appeared as soloist with the latter orchestra, and was recently the winner of the Heifetz award.

The choristers, on their part, will endeavor to equal or even surpass the standard of the Winter concert of December last which received such warm praise. The program has been well selected for variety and contrast to bring out the balance of the ensemble in singing beautiful music.

Their daddy is the well known water color artist who specializes in the portrayal of homes.

Newton Centre Woman's Club To Celebrate Presidents' Day

Members and guests of the Newton Centre Woman's Club are looking forward to President's Day on March 14. The meeting will open with a reception at 11 a.m., when the celebrities brought together from all parts of the country by Mrs. Francis J. Flagg, mistress of ceremonies and the presidents of the 12th District of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs, guests of club president Mrs. R. Raymond Gorton, will meet the club members and their friends. The Fourth Celebrity Breakfast at noon will be followed by speeches from the guests of honor, who will present highlights from careers which represent the five facets of life—home, church, state, arts and industry.

Hostesses for the celebrities and the presidents have been announced by the chairmen, Mrs. John F. Capron, Mrs. Chester Perrine and Mrs. Victor H. Vaughan, and are as follows: Hostesses for Celebrities—Mesdames C. Hassler Capron, F. Earle Conn, Benjamin T. Fawcett, Herbert J. Ham, Melville D. Liming, S. J. TenBroeck, Oscar G. Wheeler. Police Blotter

A Newtonville avenue resident reported that a man knocked on his door last Wednesday night and tried to claim taxi fare. He left when the resident decided to call the police. Officers answered the call but failed to find the fare collector.

A hit and run accident occurred on Austin street in Newtonville last Wednesday morning, the car being described as a blue Cadillac driven by a woman. The victim was a 42-year-old man, married and identified as a truck driver. Officers Madden and Kerrivan took him to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital for treatment for a leg injury.

Newton police received a postcard last week which registered a number of complaints. First, that Parker street should be patrolled from Newton Centre square to the turnpike between 3 p. m. and 6 p. m. to stop speeding cars. Second, Rindge avenue to the pike is the worst spot for speeding. Third, the breaking of street light bulbs by school children in that vicinity every afternoon around 3.

A woman driver, traveling along Crafts street in Newtonville, reported that she lost her pocketbook when the car door accidentally opened and the bag fell out. It is described as made of black plastic with two straps. Contained within is a black wallet with $80 and personal papers.

Since early in February a house on Coolidge road has had 15 windows broken. The home is unoccupied and the owner has requested that some attention be given the property by police.

Officer Quinn reported that there was a No Parking sign on the lawn of the court house last Thursday. The Newton Street Dept. was notified.

Inspector Halloran investigated a case of bad check passing at the First National Stores in Newton Centre last Friday.

Windshields of a bus and truck were broken last week at almost the same place, Parker street and Boylston, by boys throwing snowballs at the passing vehicles. No serious accidents occurred to the drivers or passengers.

Police received an anonymous complaint concerning two shadowing characters coming out of a real estate office on Washington street.

Plans Progressing for 19th Annual Show to Aid Newtonville Group

The 19th annual show of the Newtonville Group, a citizen organization which each year raises money to help the Boy Scout Troops and Cub Packs in Newtonville, is to be held March 14 at 8 p. m. in the Newton High School Auditorium.

Sponsors are being solicited by a committee headed by F. Hopewell Underhill with Earl Schwartz assisting him. The committee consists of the chairman of each of the 12 scouting units of Newtonville together with committee members and former members of the Group who are still interested in the scouting movement. Anyone interested in becoming a sponsor may do so by calling Mr. Underhill at Bigelow 4-3727. A list of sponsors is printed in the program of the show and the Newtonville Group would be pleased to add new names to the list if interested persons will contact Mr. Underhill or any committee member of any of the Newtonville scouting units.

The general sale of tickets started this week with the Cubs and Scouts competing for the prizes to be awarded the top salesmen in each unit as well as the top three in total sales. The answer to the question, "Wanna buy a ticket?" is "yes," if you want to help scouting in the Newtonville area. Milton Young has charge of tickets.

The show is well worth while and will include a parade of scouting units, a scouting tableau, Chief of Police Purcell as guest speaker.

Miss Gerber Opens Piano Studio Here

"Keep up with the times, but don't neglect the classics" is the advice offered by the noted pianist and teacher, Arlyne Gerber, who recently has become a Newton resident.

With the opening of her studio at 75 Ripley street, Newton Centre, Miss Gerber brings to this district, her unique method of teaching popular music, together with classical instructions. Miss Gerber believes that the demand of young people should be met for music to understand and enjoy. At the same time, the lasting values of a thorough acquaintance with the classics, should not be neglected. Important also, she states, is continued study technique, which is stressed in her method.

Herself a pianist of distinction, Miss Gerber has appeared frequently in public. She has studied popular music, with the famous Sam Saxe, now of Hollywood. She is at present coaching for a recital appearance, with the distinguished Boston pianist, Jules Wolfers.

Miss Gerber also maintains studios in Mattapan and Quincy.

Laureate's Lines

"This routine sound familiar"
In darkest night my bedside clock Sets up an awful din Though half asleep I yet reach out And push the lever in.

What an ungodly hour is this
I mutter, knowing well
That he who hesitates is lost.
T'was so that Adam fell.

Procrastination is the thief
Of time, the poet said—
To all unwillingly at last
I raise my heavy head

What says the clock? I am betrayed

And lost and all undone!
Alas! No time at all to eat
I must just dress and run.

The bus is late, the boss on time
As I come hurrying in
And innocently take my seat,
I dast give him a grin.

And hope he'll overlook this lapse
With just another warning.
If I promise I'll be on time
First thing tomorrow morning.

I swear tonight I'll go to bed Early if I'm able.
But wait! Tonight I have a date
Down town, with my friend Mable.

Joint Concert Program to Be Held March 12

Wednesday, March 12, the third concert in this season's fascinating Wellesley Concert Series will bring Francis Poulenec, composer and pianist, and Pierre Bernac, baritone, to Alumnæ Hall, Wellesley College, for their first Wellesley appearance.

Francis Poulenec, one of the foremost of living composers and a member of the famous group called "The Six," has been represented on a great many concert programs of famous artists in the last 25 years. His compositions have been performed by such artists as Wanda Landowska, Vladimir Horowitz, Gladys Swarthout, Lily Pons and many others, and their performance of these works have brought greater acclaim both to themselves and Mr. Poulenec.

Unlike many composers, who are not willing or able to keep up the exacting schedule needed for concert performance on an instrument, Mr. Poulenec is a virtuoso pianist of stature and in his joint concert with Mr. Bernac plays not only his own works but those of Schumann, Debussy, Ravel and others. He has included in his Wellesley program his justly popular "Pastourelle" and "Mouvements Perpetuels."

Mr. Bernac has long been noted for his exquisite lieder singing and will perform songs of Schumann, Duparc and Mompou as well as those of Poulenec.

For an evening of great musical and cultural felicity, the joint program of Francis Poulenec and Pierre Bernac at Alumnæ Hall on March 12 will exceed your greatest expectations.

Miss Mary McCarty, a sophomore at Lesley College, Cambridge, is spending the mid-winter holidays at the home of her parent, Mrs. E. J. McCarty, 63 Cabot st., Newton.

To Participate In Piano Fair

The third annual Boston Piano Fair which will take place at Symphony Hall on March 14 and 15 will have as its highlight an orchestra of 50 pianos conducted by Arthur Fiedler, world-famed conductor of the Boston "Pops" orchestra. Approximately 300 boys and girls, piano students from all parts of New England, will play at this festival of the keyboards which attracted more than 14,000 persons last year and turned away an estimated 10,000 at the evening performances.

Local youngsters who have auditioned and been accepted to take part in the Piano Fair include: Herbert R. Kaplan, 16, 25 Avondale road; Cynthia Brown, 22, 801 Chestnut street; Sandrav Ullian, 15, 117 Baldpate Hill road; Helen Dane, 33, 15 Hancock avenue; Peter Brush, 14, 36 Stony Brae road, and Pamela Cook, 16, 5 Irving road.

Miss Martha Stickney is spending the mid-winter holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stickney, 41 Lombard st., Newton. Miss Stickney is a junior at Lesley College, Cambridge.

Heated Discussion Marks Snow Removal Work at Upper Falls

Improvement Association Members State Side Streets Neglected Following Severe Storm

A heated discussion held at the Emerson School Monday night charging that inadequate snow removal work was done in Upper Falls following last week's snow storm were answered by Director of Public Works Willard S. Pratt. The meeting which was attended by about 150 members of the Newton Upper Falls Improvement Association ended without action although the meeting was assured by Mr. Pratt that he would continue to investigate complaints.

Wendal R. Bauckman, president of the Board of Aldermen, joined with Mr. Pratt in stating that the handicaps encountered in removing snow from Newton's 300 miles of streets after the severe storm were many.

Kenneth Newcomb, charged that side streets in Newton Upper Falls were not plowed until removal were unable to get to the transportation tie-ups. He also informed the gathering that the number of men who apply for snow removal work today is far less than in the 1930's.

In reply to a complaint about the lack of space for two-way traffic, Mr. Pratt stated that the first attempt in snow removal is to get every street open with at least a single path for emergency transportation and fire and police protection. After a single line has been plowed in all streets, the plows return to widen the lane, concentrating on bus routes first, he explained.

Members who objected to seeing plows driven through the streets not in operation, were told by Mr. Pratt that the driver is not supposed to begin plowing until he reaches the area to which he has been assigned. Mr. Pratt also explained that the Department of Public Works keeps in constant contact with the weather service bureau as to the advisability of when to begin plowing operations.

Newton Residents Head Committee For "Schmidt-Dumart" Night March 18

Four Newton residents head a committee of loyal Boston Bruin fans who will honor Capt. Milt Schmidt and Woody Dumart in a special "Schmidt-Dumart Night", March 18 at the Boston Garden. Originator of the idea is chairman Wilfred Chagnon, president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

Vice-chairmen are: Dwight Arnold, Jr., 10 Dartmouth street, West Newton; William R. Tower, 275 Mill street, Newtonville; and John J. Cahill, 772 Washington street, Newton.

The "Appreciation Night" will also bring together the famous Kraut Line of Schmidt-Dumart and Bobby Bauer who came into the League as youngsters back in 1937-38 and sparked the Bruins to National honors. Schmidt lives at 5 Charlesbank road, Newton, while Dumart, a former Auburndale resident, who married Phyllis Johnson, also of Auburndale, now resides at Hancock Village.

Other local boosters on the committee are Don Gibbs, 37 Claremont street, Newton; Stephen Hopkins, 81 Wabash avenue, Newton; Joe O'Meara, 843 Washington street, Newton; John W. Whittemore, 43 Otis street, Newton; Tom Lyons, 1881 Commonwealth avenue, West Newton; George Delaney and Bernie Burke, also of Newton.

Tickets may be obtained at Hubbard's Drug Store, 425 Centre street, Newton, or writing direct to Schmidt-Dumart Committee, Boston Garden.

JOHN BENCE

John Bence to Go Against Clyde Steeves Saturday

Having disposed of Tiger Tasker in a "grudge" match last Saturday, John Bence, Springfield College's wrestling grad student, will pair with Clyde Steeves, the blond bomber from Brockton, in a tag match final in the Burns-Kern Legion Post's weekly wrestling show at the West Newton Armory Saturday night.

Bence and Steeves, both very clean, fast and talented grapplers, will take on Jack Marshall of Colorado and Frank James, Negro star from New York.

While both James and Marshall are well able to take care of themselves inside the squared circle and have been doing so with excellent results for years, neither has ever been accused of wrestling in a manner reminiscent of Casper Milquetoast.

The fact that tag matches have proved very popular with his local clientele has prompted Matchmaker Fred Bruno to arrange as many of them as possible. Since Bruno started operations in the Garden City early last November, tag matches have been his best attractions, with the exception of the girl grapplers and the midgests, and Saturday night's star-studded main event is expected to lure a good crowd to the Armory.

Along with his very promising main event, Bruno has paired Manuel Enos of New Bedford and Charlie Diamond, the "pride of Cape Cod," in a one-fall semi-final match and former H. C. grad star Jim Wallis and Chris Andrews of Montreal in a one-fall special bout. Enos is the only newcomer in the four-man supporting cast.

Andrews, who has wrestled in various sections of Europe and hails from Greece, birthplace of wrestling, made a decided hit in his Armory debut last Saturday when he bested Stan Wydra, the leaning tower of Salem, in a fast semi-final clash. The Andrews-Wallis set to will pry the lid off the evening's activities at 8:30 o'clock.

be the subject of Mr. Fisher's sermon next Sunday, Feb. 17. Other timely topics this month have included "Curfew in Cairo" and "Lessons from Lincoln and Edison." For Feb. 24, Mr. Fisher has announced "International Religious Freedom" as his theme.

David T. Rich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Rich, 269 Franklin st., Newton, was recently initiated into Delta Tau Delta Fraternity at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Connecticut. Dave has been active in freshman soccer and squash and is a member of the campus Dixieland Band.

"Driverometer" Now at Chestnut Hill To Test Driving Skill of Motorist

The famous "Driverometer" of the Aetna Life Insurance Co., formerly on display in the lobbies of the Registry of Motor Vehicles, 100 Nashua street, Boston, and the Herald-Traveler Building, Boston, is in operation for driver testing purposes on the lower floor of Filene's, Chestnut Hill through Saturday, March 1.

The "Driverometer" officially came to Chestnut Hill on Feb. 14 when a special ceremony was held. Present were Registrar of Motor Vehicles Rudolph F. King; William Reardon, chief supervisor of special services, Registry of Motor Vehicles; Alfred Little, Registry of Motor Vehicles; Chief Philip Purcell, Newton Police Department; Chief James Tonra, Brookline Police Department; Lieut. MacMillan, Brookline Police Department; Traffic Safety Officers Charles Feeley of Newton and John Neary of Brookline; Stewart Spaulding, president, Newton Jr.

Chamber of Commerce; William Morton, manager of Filene's Chestnut Hill. The ceremonies were recorded for rebroadcast on Radio Station WCRB at a future date.

The "Driverometer" tests motorists' reactions through the use of motion picture film and a dummy automobile. The device measures driver reaction time to common highway hazards such as red lights, pedestrians, and railroad crossings. All results are automatically recorded and the person taking the test is the only one who sees them. No records are kept by the Registry. All scores are for the individual's use only. The "Driverometer" will be at Filene's through March 1. All motorists are invited by the Registry of Motor Vehicles, the Newton and Brookline Police Departments and the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsoring organizations, to come in and test your driving skill.

Dr. Ben Bokser Is Speaker At Temple Emanuel

Dr. Ben Zion Bokser, Rabbi of the Forest Hills Jewish Center, New York, spoke at Temple Emanuel's School of Jewish Studies, 385 Ward street, Newton Centre, last evening (Wednesday) on the subject: "What's Happening to Religion in Israel?" This lecture, one of a series in a course entitled, "Meet the Experts," a blueprint for Jewish Living, which brings to the community outstanding personalities, is intended to provide a forum for the discussion of pertinent problems.

Dr. Bokser, who recently headed the Rabbinical Assembly of America's Commission on Israel, reported his observations concerning the religious life of the people of Israel.

Dr. Bokser, a noted writer, is author of such books as "The Legacy of Maimonides," "Introduction to the Talmud," and "Pharisaic Judaism in Transition." He is a contributor to numerous publications and is a lecturer in the Institute for Religious Studies.

Other courses being offered by the School of Jewish Studies include three courses in Hebrew for beginner, intermediate and advanced students and "The Romance of a People," a survey of Jewish history from 586 BCE to the year 70 CE. The latter course is taught by Dr. Albert I. Gordon.

Mathew A. Bolburgh, 458 Lowell ave., Newtonville has been appointed as a Notary Public, it was announced today by Edward J. Cronin, Secretary of the Commonwealth. The appointment, made by Gov. Paul A. Dever, was confirmed at a meeting of the Executive Council. The commission was signed by Secretary Cronin.

To Hold Services Temple Emanuel Tomorrow Eve.

Various members of the Brotherhood of Temple Emanuel, Newton, will join Rabbi Albert I. Gordon and Cantor Gabriel Hochberg in conducting the late Friday evening Service tomorrow (Friday) night at 8:15 o'clock.

Meyer Armet, Brotherhood Ritual chairman, announces that the following members will participate in the Service: Lou Bergart, Ralph Feldman, Harry Fisher, Frank Landy, Frank Metcalf and Dr. Lawrence Perlmutter. George Cashman and Edgar Grossman will take part in a Symposium entitled, "Tasks Confronting American Jewry."

Lou Marcus, first vice-president, will extend Brotherhood greetings. Following the Service, the Brotherhood will serve as host at the Oneg Shabbat which will be held in the Temple Vestry.

20 Newton Trackmen In Finals

A total of 20 boys from Newton High qualified in the Met Track League trials held at the East Newton Street Armory last Saturday afternoon, and they will compete in the finals of the freshman-sophomore, junior and senior classes which will take place at the same location tonight.

High pointers in the qualifying round were Bob Morrison in the senior 600 and shot put. Paul Gould hitting a time of 5.8 in the 50-yard dash. Rowland Pollard made good in the high jump and the dash, and sophomore Ed LeFevre qualified in the high jump and the hurdles. Morrison's time for the 600 was 1:23.1.

Other senior members who qualified were Evan Spelfogel and Tom Newell for the mile and Don French in the 1000-yarder. A small field in the senior and junior division automatically qualified juniors Bob Simmons and Sten Wallace. Other junior members are hurdlers Dick Farragher and Phil Wolfe. Dashman Ray Nazzaro. Stan Godes in the shot put event. 300-yard runner George Howland and Vin Meade in the 1000-yarder.

Sophomore qualifiers included Walter Holmes in the dash, shot-putter Bob Cedergren, milers Paul and Bob Johnson and Normie Kattwinkle for the 600.
